

All things great and small...

It's easy to think of God when we look at a gorgeous sunset, majestic mountain ranges, the birth of a baby, and a million other miraculous creations. Instead, for just a moment, let's think of the small, everyday things we are thankful for.

Maybe you took a walk on the beach today or played a round of golf yesterday, spent a quiet morning on your porch listening to the birds and the children next door or sat in a recliner holding a kitten, listening to its purr.

Without mentioning it, you probably also said a silent prayer thanking God that your knees didn't hurt so much this morning. Or you thanked Him for the good fortune that landed you on an island golf course or in the captain's seat of a Boston Whaler.

This Thanksgiving season, it might do all of us some good to think of all the small things God has created just for us. Did you ever think of it that way? Just for us. This natural world and everything in it was created just for us.

Amazing isn't it?

Prayer, whether silent or spoken, has a way of calming our spirit and lifting our hearts. And whether we pray in thanksgiving or in helplessness for mercy, we know that the Merciful God who created all things great and small, hears our prayers.

So many congregations are still waiting for in-person worship, and If you're longing for the sounds of earnest, heartfelt prayer, there is a welcoming group here on Edisto that just loves to pray-- Redeemer Fellowship Church.

There's a whole lot of prayer going on every Sunday at 10:00 a.m. in the Edisto Civic Center when Redeemer Fellowship folks get together. Join us, any Sunday, safely in person or on Facebook, Redeemer Fellowship Edisto Island.
