those being competitive teams. Star Center also offers students an introduction to gymnastics. These students usually have little experience in gymnastics/cheer class participation. Our staff will introduce the students to gymnastics/cheer lessons and in becoming accustomed to the workouts each day. Competitive team groups train five days per week, two hours per day. Their lesson plans vary based on time of year and skills being worked.

The building is divided into areas designated for practices and for the after school area. With these schedules we provide different activities to keep the kids active and engaged. The goal of work is to get students interested in any of the sports and eventually compete for Star Center. The benefit of this is to introduce a lifestyle that includes physical activity in the daily lives of students.

 Kids come year after year and they love it!

Development throughout the year.

We at Star Center know that the physical, mental, emotional and social benefits of a gymnastics/cheer education are tremendous. We see the benefits in our gym every day. We watch our students grow up loving the way they feel about themselves as a result of their gymnastics experience. Once our clients are exposed to gymnastics, they often stay for years, advance and many become participants in the 'SPORT.'

Making the children successful is completely within our ability as educators if we teach them with a "PERSONAL BEST" definition of success. Development of these students does require at least one year to become accustomed to the gym atmosphere. With proper allotment of time for recreational workouts we find that these students quickly become athletes.

Benefits of Activity

This program prepares our athletes for progressive learning in the fundamentals of body movement.
