

Dr. Ramona Houston

Scholar | Speaker | Strategist

“Inspiring Minds, Connecting Communities, Realizing Visions and Impacting the World”

When asked to describe herself in one word, Ramona Houston, PhD, PMP, referenced “POWERHOUSE!”

Ramona specializes in 20th century American history, civil rights and race relations, specifically its African American and Mexican American dimensions. Valued for her expertise, Ramona speaks all over the country, teaching audiences how to strategically address socially constructed barriers that have prevented diverse groups from working together. Through her work, Ramona seeks to create synergy among diverse groups in order to increase their capacity and effectiveness in producing positive social change.

Ramona is on a mission to advance and strengthen multiracial/multicultural work. She advocates for the African American and Latino communities to work together to address common social issues. She teaches community organizations how to build and sustain coalitions and alliances. She also conducts trainings on diversity. Ultimately, through her presentations audiences learn how to successfully produce initiatives that engage, serve and impact diverse communities.

Ramona earned her PhD degree in History from The University of Texas at Austin and her BA degrees in Spanish and History from Clark Atlanta University.
