NASHVILLE

Those who call the Nashville region home know it is an influential and energetic center of creativity, a place of growth and business, and a place for community leaders. National and international media coverage touting our progressive arts, food, sports, fashion and music scenes have come as no surprise. We recognize the caliber of industry, intelligence and creativity that define our community. We work it and live it every day.

However, a resounding, "I didn't realize that!" echoes through Middle Tennessee as newcomers learn more and engage fully. And those still on the outside have yet to discover all that our city and region have to offer.

This guidebook is for them. For you. For anyone who is considering a move to Nashville, answering the question, "Why Nashville?"

The Livelt Nashville guidebook and liveitnash.com provide summary information that discerning prospects often seek when considering a new career opportunity and a new home.

Arranged by category, this guidebook features main points of interest, facts and figures, anecdotes, rankings, testimonials and the faces of real people from Nashville's community, all united around a mission to bring the best of the best to work and live here.

Use this as your guide. Get to know the information. Share any and all relevant points with those considering a Nashville move. And spread the word: A life full of meaningful—and perhaps unexpected—opportunity awaits in Nashville.

Visit liveitnash.com to learn more.

JOB GROWTH ADDICTED TO TALENT.

Nashville continues to draw talented professionals as career opportunities grow.

The 10-county Nashville region is home to more than two million people and 50,000 businesses with the city attracting thousands of new businesses and people every day. Nashville is a hub for healthcare, finance, manufacturing, music and technology. Many corporate headquarter giants call Nashville home including Nissan North America, Bridgestone Americas, Dollar General, HCA Healthcare, AllianceBernstein, iHeartMedia, Mitsubishi Motors, The ICEE Company, and Amazon.

WHY NASHVILLE:
"For work. I had been with AB for 12+ years but it was all in the Tokyo office until I took the new position and moved to Nashville last year. This is my first experience to live outside of Japan in my entire life. Very exciting!"

FAVORITE THING ABOUT NASHVILLE:
"A great place to live with family and a dog – more space, rich nature, beautiful scenery. And I love the food culture – steaks, BBQ, hot chicken."

FAVORITE SPOTS:
"Currey Tennis Center at Vanderbilt where I play tennis every weekend. Schermerhorn Symphony Center, a nice place to go and listen to classical music with my wife."

INCLUSION TENNESSEE (IN | TN)

HOMETOWN:

New Jersey | New York

WHY NASHVILLE:

"After college, I worked at a major record label in NYC. Then during the recession, my entire department was laid off. I moved to Nashville to work in the music industry. The universe had other plans and I took on clients to support their new social media marketing initiatives and began a business in Nashville. Eleven years later, I have built a business, had many opportunities to engage in community activities, learned from unbelievable talent, and grew my love for people and this place in ways I would have never expected."

FAVORITE THING ABOUT NASHVILLE:

"I moved to Nashville before it was the 'It City' and I have seen it change dramatically before my eyes. The change is an amazing thing to see but what I love most is the beautiful and diverse community that is being created here in the region with hundreds of people arriving here monthly."

COST OF LIVING ABOVE AND BEYOND.

Your money goes further in Nashville than in most cities in America and throughout the world.

3 MAJOR FACTS WORKING IN YOUR FAVOR WHEN IT COMES TO HOW FAR YOUR DOLLAR GOES

1 NO PERSONAL INCOME TAX ON EARNINGS IN TENNESSEE

This saves the average relocating family between 3% and 10% of their income – or a savings of $3,000 to $10,000 more for every $100,000 you earn.

2 COST OF LIVING IS BELOW THE U.S. AVERAGE, 96.9 ON A SCALE OF 100

3 PER CAPITA INCOME IN NASHVILLE IS 5% HIGHER THAN THE U.S. AVERAGE

WHY NASHVILLE:

"I relocated to Nashville in 2013 for a new job in economic development. I knew very little about the city when I moved, but I'm so glad I took the leap of faith!"

FAVORITE THING ABOUT NASHVILLE:

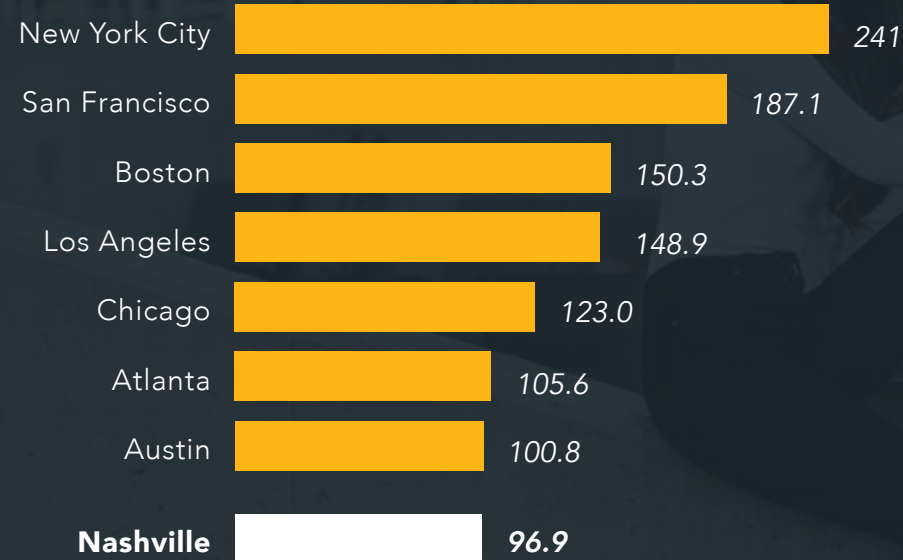

"The passion of people who live here. Their energy is contagious. Whether they are music lovers, sports fans, foodies, volunteers or love to be outdoors—Nashville goes all in. People here live large and love our city. It's a vibrant community that I'm proud to be a part of."

FAVORITE SPOTS:

"I have so many favorite spots around Nashville, but as a music lover, my number one choice would always be the Ryman Auditorium. Artists are so excited to finally be playing the Ryman stage, so their shows always bring a little extra."

HOMETOWN:
“This is always a tricky question for migrants - one that cannot be answered without pausing and thinking about our migration journey. Some of us have deep ties to our place of birth, to the culture that shaped our upbringing, but I am a firm believer home is wherever your family is (either chosen or given family). For me, that has always been the case. All my family was born in Pereira, Colombia but my parents migrated to Marietta Georgia when I was 15 years old. Since then, we have lived in Nashville and D.C. and I wholeheartedly believe home has traveled with us because we have made it as such.”

FAVORITE THING ABOUT NASHVILLE:
“I typically describe Nashville as eclectic, booming, colorful, and full of music, and, that includes languages, melodies, and delicious food. I love its diversity - there is something here for all of us and I love that we, at Conexión Américas, are part of that conversation.”

Nashville is the capital of Tennessee and a vital transportation, business and tourism center across the globe. The Nashville Economic Market, comprises 10 counties for a total population of more than two million, making it the largest metropolitan area in the state. When it comes to satisfying and exceeding business needs and expectations, the Nashville region is committed to building strong relationships among all area communities and counties.

WE'RE GROWING!

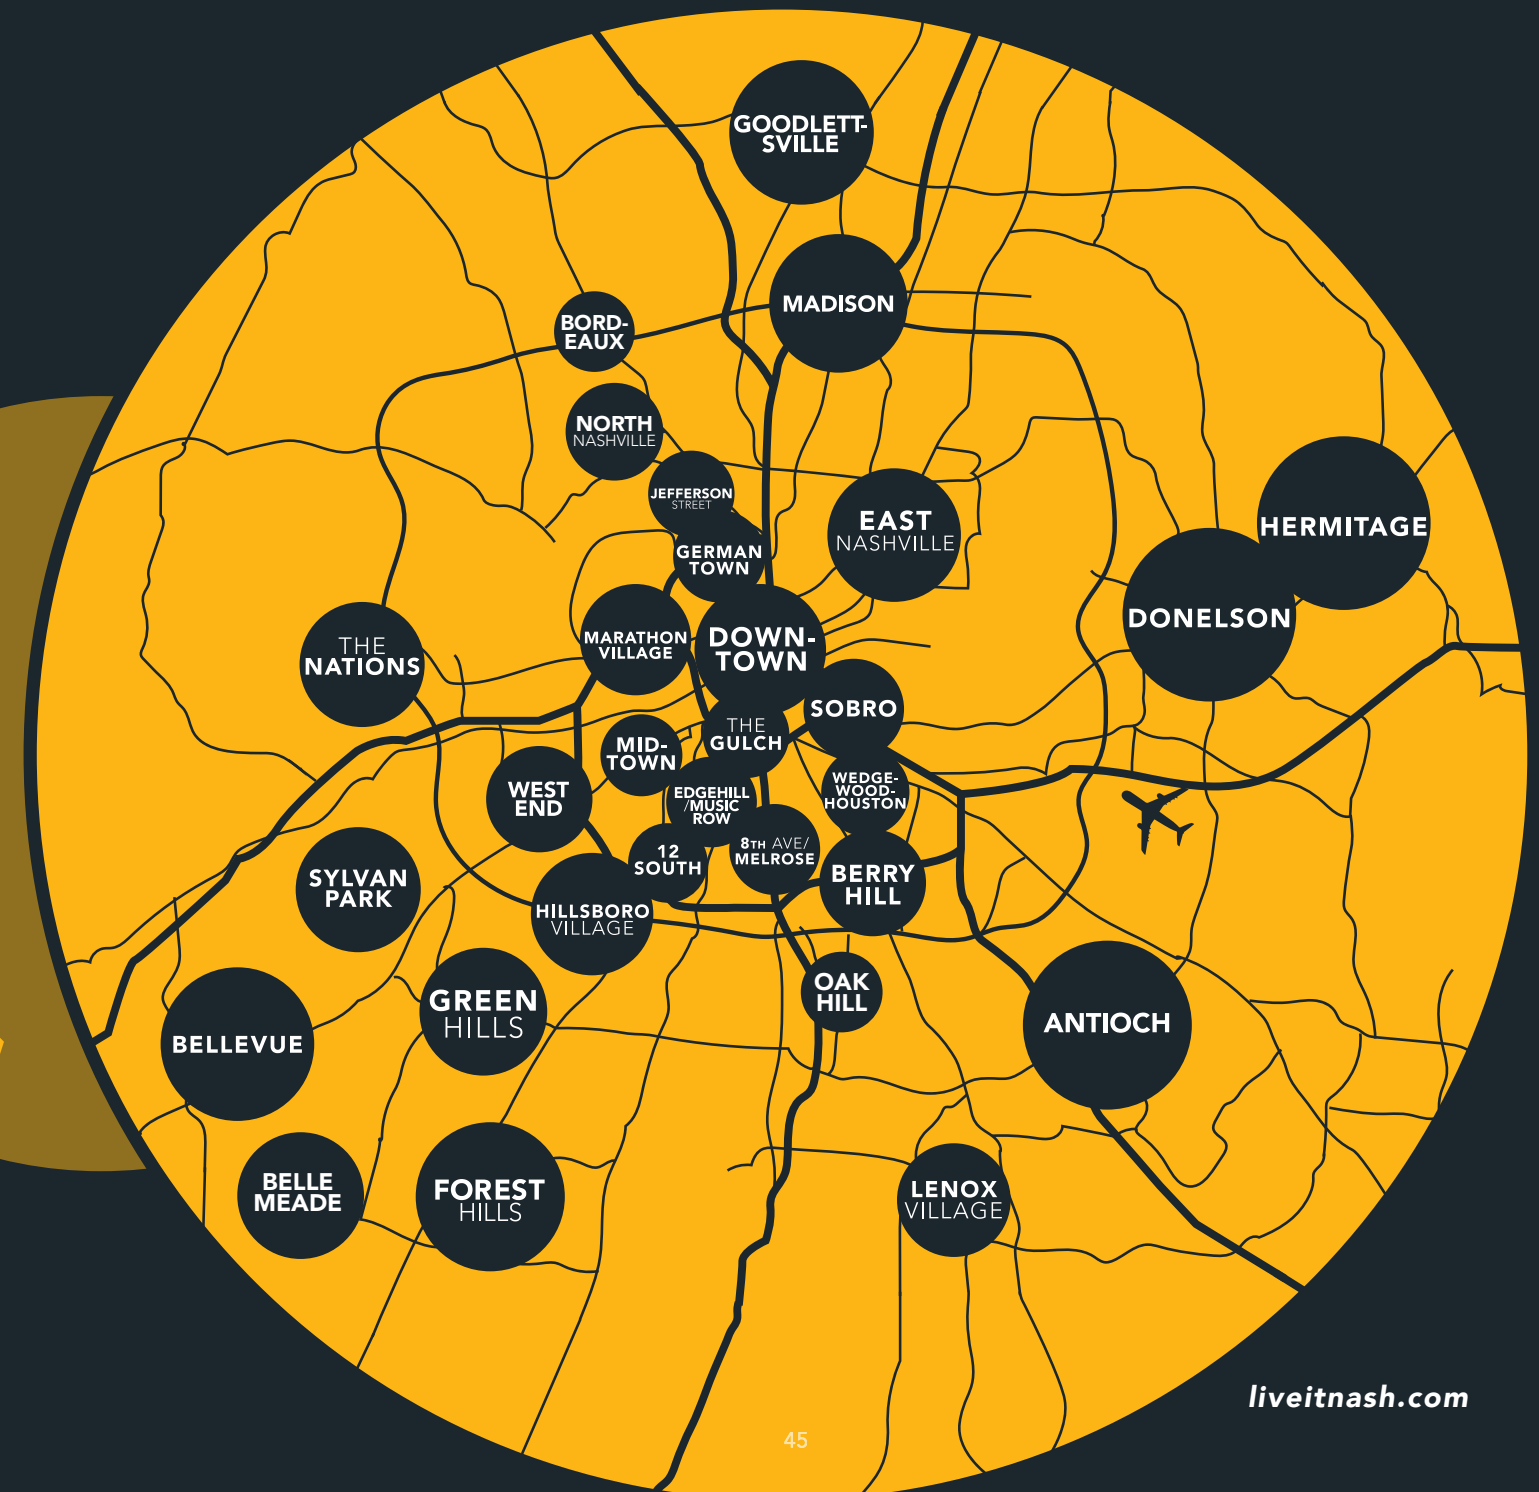

All of our counties are experiencing population growth as new residents move to town. Percent Population increase by county.

(5 year review, 2015-2020)

NASHVILLE NEIGHBORHOODS OF DAVIDSON COUNTY

Formed in 1783, Davidson County is the oldest county in Middle Tennessee. In 1963, the Nashville and Davidson County governments merged, forming the first combined metropolitan government in the nation. Davidson County is highly urbanized with extensive residential areas, a vibrant downtown, and advanced infrastructure. Nashville/Davidson County is home to four professional sports teams; professional ballet, symphony and opera companies; many museums and art galleries; the Nashville Zoo and the Adventure Science Center; the oldest professional children's theater in the U.S.; and an extensive public library system, among other amenities.

Corporate headquarters and honky tonks share space in the hub of downtown Nashville, where the city's varied cultural and business influences intersect under the glow of neon lights. Tourists and locals alike flock to famous honky tonks for the outstanding music, cold beer and unpretentious atmospheres. Residential options include historic lofts and modern condos and apartments.

DOWNTOWN

SOBRO

A hotbed of economic development downtown, the SoBro area has grown rapidly in tandem with the $583 million Music City Convention Center. Home to tech startups, coffee shops and urban living communities, SoBro is emerging as the entrepreneurial heart of Nashville.

This downtown neighborhood was originally home to the city's railroad terminal but is now a major urban hotspot with easy walkability to downtown. With an eclectic mix of local restaurants, hotels, boutiques and urban residential, it's home to some of Nashville's most celebrated nightlife and is the South's first LEED-certified community.

THE GULCH

12 SOUTH

One of Nashville's liveliest residential neighborhoods, 12 South is a walkable, friendly community of young professionals, families, and students. Dining destination of local bars and restaurants, from casual to upscale. Boutiques, specialty stores, and salons. Named one of Southern Living's "Next Great Neighborhoods."

8TH/MELROSE

The 8th Avenue South/Melrose neighborhood is home to many of Nashville's most recognizable establishments including Zanies Comedy Club and the Basement. This growing area is a blend of old and new with many restaurants renovating history like Sinema and Fenwick's 300. Variety of hip places to live from condos, apartments, town homes, and single-family homes.

"So many fun things to do, volunteer and engage in (sports (e.g. Titans), non-profits (e.g., YWCA, You Have The Power), faith community, education (e.g. MNPS), fitness (e.g., Barre3), Room in the Inn, etc."

FAVORITE SPOTS:

"House of Kabob & Vanderbilt Baseball's Hawkins Field."

HILLSBORO VILLAGE

This charming neighborhood, situated between Vanderbilt University and Belmont University, is a collection of locally owned gift and book shops, boutiques, cafes and restaurants. Urban, walkable and surrounded by an abundance of housing options. Home to Nashville's beloved Belcourt Theatre, an independent movie house and concert hall.

EDGEHILL

Located between Music Row and Belmont, Edgehill is a walkable community with a variety of single-family homes and local eateries and shops.

MIDTOWN

A popular area for young professionals and singles, this neighborhood is known for its vibrant nightlife. Home to a variety of hotels, casual and upscale restaurants, and businesses, Midtown is highly walkable and comes alive at night. Restaurants and bars for any taste and budget. Live music, dancing, and entertainment. Salons, tattoo parlors and coffee shops.

BELMONT

In this mostly residential area surrounding Belmont University, you'll find a dynamic mix of college students, young professionals, creative types and established families. The neighborhood's wide, shaded sidewalks and generous bike lanes make it a popular location for active residents.

WEDGEWOOD
-HOUSTON

Close to downtown, Wedgewood-Houston often called "WeHo" is one of Nashville's fastest developing neighborhoods and the site for the Adventure Science Center and Nashville's new Major League Soccer stadium GEODIS Park. While the community is primarily single-family homes, new apartment complexes and condos are being built along with new retail and dining options.

BERRY

Berry Hill is eclectic and artistic, home to many small businesses and more than 40 recording studios, many housed in colorful bungalows. Independent is the name of the game here, with everything from specialty shops to yoga studios located in this cozy community.

GERMANTOWN

Deemed Nashville's first suburb, this neighborhood is full of rich character and history, from the cobblestone sidewalks and historic homes to restaurants and the Nashville Farmers' Market. Breathtaking views of the downtown skyline. Eclectic, vibrant urban residences and historic homes. First Horizon Park: Home to Nashville Sounds AAA Baseball.

EAST NASHVILLE

Hip, young and diverse, East Nashville boasts a high concentration of locally-owned businesses and a food scene that has earned coverage from publications like the New York Times and Wall Street Journal. It's easily walkable and offers a mix of single family houses, condos and apartments.

WHY NASHVILLE:

"It started with music; turned into marriage. I was drawn to Nashville for the vibrant music scene and burgeoning arts culture. On one of those trips, I was introduced to a girl... the rest they say is history. I've been living here full time since 2012."

FAVORITE THING ABOUT NASHVILLE:

"There really is something to be said for southern hospitality. The people are welcoming and friendly. There's a sense of community and collaboration that encourages newcomers to be part of the action. Coming from the hustle and bustle of London, Nashville has a great pace of life. There's plenty to do and it's easy to access."

FAVORITE SPOTS:

"The Station Inn in the Gulch is one of the first places I stepped into 20 years ago. I met my wife there, got married on the stage and now work there. It's the best of Bluegrass and Americana music, a truly authentic Nashville listening room."

HERMITAGE

DONELSON

The twin communities of Donelson and Hermitage are located 10 miles east of downtown Nashville. Bordered by the Cumberland River to the west and by Percy Priest Lake to the south, this area is known for its parks and outdoor activities, including a waterpark and golf course. Convenient access to Nashville International Airport and downtown Nashville for those who travel often for business or pleasure. Housing options include a mix of single family homes, condos and apartments.

ANTIOCH

Antioch is a community that continues to experience some of the highest growth rates in Davidson County. The area offers easy interstate and airport access, spacious commercial properties, and diverse housing options. The Southeast Nashville area also offers one of the most diverse areas in the region.

LENOX VILLAGE

Lenox Village is nestled among wooded hills in southeast Nashville. The 208-acre development patterns itself after the traditional small Tennessee town, with a village commons, a variety of housing types, and a mixed-use commercial area. The Lenox Village Town Center integrates residential, retail, restaurant and office space in an open-air village layout. The development includes a restored pond that is a habitat for the endangered Nashville crayfish, creating a unique nexus between the built and natural environments. Lenox Village is an award-winning smart growth, walkable community with tree-lined streets, a Village Green with a pavilion, and pocket parks.

MARATHON VILLAGE

Originally an automotive manufacturing plant, Marathon Village was built in 1881 and sits just west of downtown. It has been revitalized and is now home to artists' studios, offices, a radio station, a distillery and retail shops. A model for adaptive reuse, old architecture has been preserved. Home to some of Nashville's most talented designers and artisans. Large venues and event spaces with unique views of Nashville skyline.

THE NATIONS

Formerly known for its industrial development, this area is quickly becoming one of Nashville's hottest neighborhood for young professionals and families alike. Surrounded by two neighborhood parks, The Nations is buzzing with new dining options, shopping and live music, and is a hub for several of Nashville's best-known craft breweries.

BORDEAUX

Nestled in the northwest corridor of Nashville, the Bordeaux community serves as a mostly residential area just minutes from downtown. Adjacent to the retail corridor of Clarksville Pike and lush rolling hills of Hardin's Bend, Bordeaux features many single-family brick homes built in and after the 1950s. Home to Nashville's first African American golf course, the Ted Rhodes Golf Course is an 18-hole course located on the banks of the Cumberland River, where players can also witness spectacular wildlife in an urban setting.

NORTH NASHVILLE

Just a few miles from downtown, North Nashville is primarily an urban residential neighborhood with a deep history in music and the arts. Known for the Buchanan Arts District, North Nashville is a walkable community filled with artisan studios, independent shops and restaurants, and a variety of housing choices. Home to Nashville's four historically black universities: American Baptist College, Meharry Medical College, Tennessee State University and Fisk University and the internationally acclaimed Fisk Jubilee Singers.

JEFFERSON STREET

Known for its significance in music history in the 1930s-60s, Jefferson Street was a vibrant music scene with clubs and dance halls attracting many famous artists, including Etta James, Aretha Franklin, James Brown, Ray Charles, B.B. King, Muddy Waters, Little Richard, Otis Redding, and Jimi Hendrix. Today, visitors can explore the shops, bars, and restaurants and experience the history around Nashville's thriving R&B and jazz scene and the Civil Rights Movement. This area of North Nashville is experiencing a housing boom with a surge of development in recent years and remains a desirable location for residents and businesses. Location of the annual African Street Festival and the Jefferson Street Jazz and Blues Festival.

GOODLETTSVILLE

Goodlettsville spans both Davidson and Sumner counties which lends itself to the best of both worlds for families and young professionals. Residents appreciate top-performing schools, strong youth sports leagues and inviting acres of green space while having Nashville's large-city amenities for leisure or a short work commute in just a 13-mile drive straight down Interstate 65.

MADISON/ OLD HICKORY

Located near the Cumberland River and just 10 miles east of downtown and 7 miles north of the Nashville International Airport, Madison and Old Hickory are historic, charming communities with affordable housing options, walkable/bikeable neighborhoods, and easy access to several major interstates. Also in close proximity to the restaurants and nightlife of East Nashville, this area is surrounded by beautiful greenways and parks including Old Hickory's expansive Crooked Branch Park, great eats and coffee shops, and authentic music venues.

BELLEVUE

Home to the famous Loveless Café, Bellevue is an active suburban community located about 13 miles southwest of downtown. Home to Edwin Warner Park and Percy Warner Park: which totals 3,100 acres of park with picnic shelters, dog parks, hiking and biking trails, an equestrian center with horse trails, golf courses, and scenic roadways and overlooks. Location of the annual Iroquois Steeplechase. Loveless Café, world-renowned for its biscuits, serves 400,000 guests annually. Offers wealth of residential options for singles and families looking for affordable but spacious apartments, condos and single-family homes.

CHEATHAM COUNTY

Cheatham County, population 39,000+, offers proximity to the amenities and attractions of metropolitan Nashville, while providing a welcome respite from the hustle of city life. The safe, rural county offers good schools and a hometown community spirit, along with thousands of acres of public green space, including developed parks, trails and water access. Cheatham County is home to A.O. Smith manufacturing and many other expanding businesses in a convenient setting.

ASHLAND CITY

The seat of government for Cheatham County, located on the Cumberland River, Ashland City takes pride in its traditional downtown and its network of parks and outdoor activities.

- ★ Less than a 30-minute drive to downtown Nashville.
- ★ Highlights include the Bicentennial Trail, a nearly seven-mile trail tracing the abandoned rail bed along the Cumberland River.
- ★ Offering a diverse mix of housing options, including single- and multi-family homes, waterfront living, vacation homes, rural estates and assisted living communities.

PLEASANT VIEW

Located just off Interstate 24, Pleasant View is Cheatham County's fastest growing town. While many Pleasant View residents commute to jobs in Nashville or Clarksville, they come home to a small-town community offering abundant youth sports and other family-friendly activities.

KINGSTON SPRINGS

Known regionally for the creativity of its residents, Kingston Springs is a riverside community that offers boundless natural beauty.

- ★ Located on the Harpeth River, just off Interstate 40.
- ★ Offering a variety of options for outdoor recreation, including canoeing and kayaking.

PEGRAM

Pegram is located on U.S. Highway 70 and, like Kingston Springs, is home to many musicians and artists who enjoy close proximity to Nashville's Music Row.

- ★ The community has hosted a popular Fourth of July festival and parade for 45+ years, drawing crowds of thousands from Cheatham County and beyond.
