

WITHDRAWN STATUS

Can the student be withdrawn from the transfer portal list if the student changes his or her decision to transfer?

Yes, the student can be withdrawn in the transfer portal by the compliance administrator. The student's record will show as withdrawn. Once the student-athlete's record shows as withdrawn, the student cannot be contacted. The withdrawn status is for a student who decides to not transfer and remain at his or her current institution. If a student is withdrawn and later decides he or she wants to be entered in the transfer portal again, the student needs to be entered again. In this case, the student will be listed twice with a withdrawn record and a current active record. The student's withdrawn record remains in the portal to track when the student could have been contacted. If you clicked the withdrawn button by mistake, please send an email to transfer@ncaa.org so the withdrawn status can be removed.

If the student did not return to my institution and did not matriculate at another NCAA member institution, should I withdraw the student?

No, you do nothing to the student's record. The withdrawn status is for a student who decides to not transfer and remain at his or her current institution. The student's record will remain as ACTIVE. The student may not be enrolled at any collegiate institution or the student may be enrolled at a two-year college or four-year institution. If this is the case, the student remains ACTIVE in the transfer portal.
