

NursingCE: Nurse's Role in Opioid Epidemic

Release date: September 17, 2018

Expiration date: September 17, 2021

Estimated time to complete activity: 1 hour

Overview

NursingCE provides a high-quality, effective, and comprehensive way for license practical nurses, registered nurses and nurse practitioners to earn their state-required CNE credits in a clear online format.

A course on evidence-based practice provides current content intended to help practicing nurses apply this knowledge to their practice. The course also includes questions to test competency.

Target Audience: Registered Nurses interested in becoming more informed and engaged in the fight against the opioid epidemic

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Discuss ways in which nurses can advocate for more high-quality training for prescribers of opioids, access to Prescription Drug Monitoring Programs (PDMPs) in every state, development of abuse deterrent formulations (ADFs), naloxone access for the public, and access to medication-assisted treatment programs (MATs) for those with opioid use disorder
- Prepare nurses to be educators, for their patients, the public, and fellow healthcare providers about this national epidemic of opioid use.
- Train nurses to assess for risk factors of opioid misuse, to know the red flags, signs, and symptoms of opioid misuse in order to recognize them in patients, coworkers, family and friends, and properly reconcile medications safely and consistently as a safeguard against medication diversion
- Assist nurses in the basics of naloxone use for the rescue treatment and reversal of an opioid overdose, and methods of locating local resources for anyone (including themselves) suffering from opioid use disorder, such as approved MAT programs.
