arthousebillings.com

Art House Presents | Concert JENNA GREENWELL
$15 | April 26 • 6:30PM

A local star with lots in the works, this is a rare treat to see her perform live at Art House! Jenna Greenwell is just getting started, and the timing couldn't be better.

After somewhat stumbling upon her natural knack for songwriting just shy of her 40th birthday, Jenna switched gears to pursue music fully after a career in the church. Jenna is heavily influenced by Americana greats Lori McKenna, Brandi Carlile, and Jason Isbell, writing songs that blend grit, hope and an invitation to let deep sorrow point to other-worldly joy. She is currently recording new music, expected to release in 2026.

Yellow Sweatshirt, her debut album, compiles melodies written in a season of grief after Jenna lost a close friend in a car accident. Produced by Karl Vincent Roth, this five-song offering weaves threads of sorrow and joy, pain and hope, and acknowledges that hard seasons are best weathered together. Based in Montana, she primarily travels the Rocky Mountain region, both solo and with her band.

Art House Presents
THE DAREDEVIL: A PLAY BY JOHN HENRY HASELTINE
$20 | April 19 • 7PM

The Daredevil, a one person play written and performed by John Henry Haseltine, chronicles the career and legacy of an anonymous motorcycle jumping daredevil from Butte, Montana who attempts to launch himself over a canyon in a steam-powered rocket craft. This hand-crafted maximalist folk art theater piece examines failings in exceptionalism, haunted American myths, and the gruesome consequences of a faulty parachute deployment system.

John Henry Haseltine is an artist and writer based in Livingston, Montana. His book Westward & Miserable, a collection of paintings and stories gathered from his past gallery shows was published by Elk River Books in 2024 and won a High Plains International Book Award. The Mountain Clown & Other Foul Animals, his solo museum exhibition opened in 2024 at the Yellowstone Art Museum and was featured by the New York Times in its seasonal U.S. Gallery and Museum preview. The exhibition presented a fabricated career retrospective of Mable Mackenzie, a fictional children's storybook author, complete with literary and biographical excerpts, paintings, toys, comics, and a live gallery performance of The Phantom Chuckwagon, Haseltine's first one-person show.

Sunday, April 26
6:30pm | $15
Art House Cinema & Pub

11th & GRANT: FEAT. ELANA HAYDEN & THE SUGAR DADDIES
Free Admission | April 29 • 7PM

A special screening of the Emmy-winning Montana PBS series, "11th & Grant with Eric Funk," featuring Elana Hayden and the Sugar Daddies.

New York vocalist Elana Hayden, now calling Big Sky Country home, brings her powerhouse voice and magnetic stage presence to 11th & Grant with Eric Funk. With a career spanning international stages and premier jazz clubs, Hayden is known for her sultry interpretations of standards and her ability to captivate audiences with both elegance and warmth. In this special performance, she teams up with renowned Montana musicians Mike Leslie, Zach Paris, Joe Sullivan, Jeff Troxel, and Jeff Taylor. Together, they create a dynamic mix of sophistication and soul, offering an evening of timeless songs, heartfelt emotion, and infectious rhythm.

Stick around for a Q&A with Eric Funk and the members of Elana Hayden and the Sugar Daddies immediately following the screening.
