

Statement on Laura Clancy

After over 20 years of ministry with New Mission Systems International as a field missionary, board chair, and most recently as President/CEO, Laura Clancy's tenure ended effective September 28, 2015. During the past five years she has provided leadership through a tumultuous time in our history, bringing health and stability and having an impact in the areas of:

- Establishing systems and infrastructure to measure and communicate NMSI achievements
- Initiating a plan for long-term financial sustainability by developing a portion of the main campus to produce an ongoing source of revenue
- Recruiting new key leaders and modeling Christian values and character in her interactions and investment into the lives of associates

We are thankful for her years of investment in New Mission Systems International as she has done a marvelous job with the tasks assigned. The board's decision is based solely on our desire to take the organization to the next level, making the most of the strong foundation built over our first 25 years of ministry.
