Looking for Signs

A few years ago Alan Smith shared what were reportedly actual comments left for the Forest Service by campers and backpackers at the end of their experience. Below is a selection from these comments.

- "Trails need to be reconstructed. Please avoid building trails that go uphill."
- "The places where trails do not exist are not well marked."
- "Too many rocks in the mountains."
- "Need more signs to keep area pristine" (Too Many Rocks, Thought For The Day, March 16, 2017)

Nothing says "pristine" like a man-made sign!

Jesus inaugurated His earthly ministry with miracles, specifically turning water into wine (John 2). Others followed with astounding impact as Jesus healed lepers, the blind, walked on water and raised the dead! But these nature defying feats always served a purpose beyond the physical benefit of those upon whom the miracle was performed or the visual impression on those who were watching. They demonstrated Jesus' power over the laws of nature and death. His miracles confirmed the message He preached while establishing His identity as the long-awaited Messiah.

Today, nearly 2,000 years after Jesus performed His first miracle, the Bible's inspired accounts of miracles performed by Jesus and His disciples continue to testify that Jesus is indeed the Christ, God's beloved Son. They are not signs that we need to see with our own eyes to believe. By faith we look forward to Jesus' final miracle when, at His coming, we will experience His power firsthand as we "meet the Lord in the air" (1 Thessalonians 4:17).
