Growing Your Knowledge: Did You Know?

They might not have had chocolate at the first Thanksgiving, but we will have a whole basket of Lake Champlain Chocolates to raffle off at the New England School Nurse Conference! Thankfully Lake Champlain Chocolates is health and socially conscious—they remove GMOS and use organic, fair trade ingredients. They also generously support the community with donations and are a family run business. The Lampman family inspires all in their principles: “Dare to do better. Always do it with Passion. And do it your way.” If you are thankful for chocolate and need one of these cute turkeys for your table, visit their website:
