

American Association of Critical Care Nurses (AACN)

This organization is the governing body of critical care/acute care nursing policies, practices, and procedures that many of us as critical care nurses follow in our practice on a daily basis. This is the organization that supports the advancement of certified nurses through the CCRN and PCCN certifications. To explore membership opportunities, visit www.aacn.com/membership or scan the QR code

- What do I get if I join?

- Discounted rates for CCRN reviews, CCRN renewals, national Conferences, and AACN merchandise
- Subscription to Critical Care Nurse and American Journal of Critical Care Nurses
- An extensive library of unlimited online, pre-recorded education sessions for CEU's/CERPs
- Online Peer support group and scholarship/grant opportunity

Three Rivers Chapter (TRC) of the AACN

In addition to being a member of the national organization of AACN, there is an opportunity right here in your own city of Pittsburgh to become a member of the Three Rivers' Chapter.

- What is the benefit to join?

- Networking opportunities with more than 100 critical care nurses from around the tri-county area
- Educational sessions on new technology/approaches to improve critical care nursing.
- The opportunity to learn more about what other hospitals are doing to meet and expand upon the ever-changing expectations to ensure we are integrating the most recent best that evidence-based practice in our bedside care.
- Get involved with community projects
- Scholarship opportunities for its members for advancing education and the NTI attendance.
- To learn more about the TRC, please visit our website at www.traacn.nursingnetwork.com or scan the QR code above. If you have any additional questions about the opportunities within TRC, feel free to reach out to Lori Laux, Program Chairperson at any time
