

EFEPA Medical Volunteers Needed!

Each year, the EFEPA hosts a trio of camp and retreat programs designed for individuals across our region who are living with epilepsy, as well as their caretakers. These programs are made possible by medical volunteers, who help to ensure that our participants have safe spaces to connect and build relationships, relax and recharge, have fun, and enjoy the great outdoors.

Volunteering for the EFEPA's Camp Achieve & Retreat Programs is a great way to connect with your patients outside of the office, and whether you can offer a few hours, an overnight, or volunteer the full duration, our Camp and Retreats depend on medical volunteers like you!

Young Adult Retreat

Every spring, the EFEPA holds a weekend-long Retreat for young adults, ages 18-30, diagnosed with epilepsy. The Young Adult Retreat offers an opportunity to meet others living with epilepsy, learn essential life and wellness skills, and recognize and build upon personal strengths.

Adult Wellness Weekend

In September, adults living with epilepsy (ages 30+), as well as parents, partners, and caretakers are invited to relax, restore, and recharge at the Adult Wellness Weekend. Adults will have the opportunity to connect with others facing similar challenges while taking part in activities designed to build a circle of support and increase overall wellness.
