

HAPPY PERIANESTHESIA NURSES AWARENESS WEEK 2024!

GREETINGS

I would like to wish all my perianesthesia colleagues a warm greeting today, this week, and always. This is OUR week to celebrate us and the special care that we provide to the most vulnerable patients. Thank you for what you do!

The theme for this year is “Perianesthesia Nurses “EMPOWERED” with Knowledge.” Yes, we are EMPOWERED with knowledge, but we are also empowered with much more than that. Caring, giving, and kindness to name a few. Leadership, friendship, and togetherness are some other special qualities that we hold as well.

We are empowered with knowledge by our education which many of us share as leaders and not only to our colleagues, but our patients, families, friends, students, and the world. Let us all keep up our sharing of our knowledge and all the other exceptional traits that we behold.

My challenge to all of you who take time to read this message during this special week is to send an email and/or photo back to me with how your department is celebrating (or not celebrating).

You just may see your photo and or story published in an upcoming NPANA newsletter!

If you are not an NPANA member, check us out at npa.nursingnetwork.com.

YOU ARE EMPOWERED!

All the Best,
