

Heather Przybyl

DNP, RN, ACCNS-AG, CCRN, LSSBB

Heather Przybyl has been in the critical care setting for almost 30 years.

Originally from Chicago, IL, Heather worked at Loyola University Medical Center for 12 years in the Trauma/Surgical ICU (TSICU) before moving to Arizona.

After arriving in Arizona, Heather started working at Banner-University Medical Center Phoenix (BUMCP), again in the TSICU. During her tenure at BUMCP her roles included bedside RN, Clinical Education Specialist, Quality Improvement Specialist, and currently as an RN Certified Specialist for the Critical Care Units.

Heather's passion is education and process improvement. She has had numerous poster and podium presentations and multiple published articles in peer reviewed journals.

Additionally, she has held her critical care certification (CCRN) since 2007 and is the local chapter of AACNs current president.

Heather is also currently an adjunct faculty at Arizona State University, where she teaches many classes throughout the BSN program.
