Saturday, November 22nd (Pittsburgh & Harrisburg)

Sunday, November 23rd (Erie & Altoona)

Join the EAWCP for a free presentation to learn about when and how you can access specialized care from an epilepsy center. This educational series is being paired with a free showing of a blockbuster movie*. Guests must be present for the presentation to be eligible for movie tickets. This event is intended for people with epilepsy or parents/caregivers of individuals with epilepsy. The event may also be beneficial to professionals supporting people living with epilepsy. Each family can register for up to two tickets.

Space is limited. If additional tickets are desired for other family members, they can be requested during registration. We will contact registrants a few days before the event if there are extra tickets available to accommodate additional family members.

\ Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, and Erie events will be held at a movie theater and a private showing of Now You See Me: Now You Don't will start immediately following the presentation. In Altoona, participants will receive a gift card that can be used for a movie showing of their choice on a date of their choosing.*
