

Elevating Wound Care

Learning Objectives:

- Review the use of foam dressings in the acute care setting
- Describe the impact of pressure injuries and wound healing complications on your healthcare system
- Explore Biatain Silicone Fit - a new solution for both pressure injury prevention and wound management
- Discuss how Biatain Silicone Fit can elevate the wound care delivered at your facility

Presented By:

Holly Brellenthin

MBA, RN, CWOCN, Clinical Specialist Manager for Coloplast

Holly Brellenthin is an experienced wound, ostomy, and continence nurse with over a decade of experience in clinical practice and the wound care industry. A WOC nurse since 2012, she began her nursing career at a Level I trauma center in Chattanooga, Tennessee, where she honed her skills and passion for patient care across the lifespan. Holding a BSN from Brenau University and an MBA from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, Holly integrates clinical excellence with strategic business insight. Her diverse leadership roles in hospital settings and the medical device sector highlight her proficiency in clinical education, business development, and fostering impactful partnerships. Her dedication to improving healthcare standards underscores her commitment to making a meaningful difference in the lives of patients and professionals alike.

Where:

Convivo Restaurant
901 E Cabrillo Blvd
Santa Barbara, CA 93103
805-845-6789
convivorestaurant.com

When:

Thursday, February 19, 2026
■ 5:45 pm Opening Reception
■ 6:15 pm Program Begins

For questions, and/or to RSVP, please contact your
Coloplast representative:
Edward Mah
usemah@coloplast.com
818-269-6310

RSVP by 2/12/2026

