A Little Spooky, But Your Health Office Doesn't Have to Be! 🎃

October is here, and the school year is in full swing! Between busy health offices, student needs, and everything in between, it can feel like there's always something happening. Take a breath, know you're not alone, and keep going, we're in this together!

Join WSNA — Be Part of Your Wyoming School Nurse Community

Not a WSNA member yet? We'd love to have you join us!

Joining is easy: Wyoming has a unified membership with NASN, which means you join NASN and automatically become a WSNA member. Your membership dues are paid directly to NASN, and there is no separate WSNA membership fee.

For $140 annually, you get access to both NASN and WSNA, including:

- Continuing education & professional development
- NASN resources and publications
- Conference and education discounts
- Professional networking and school nurse communities
- WSNA events, resources, and statewide connections

Ready to join? Visit NASN and select Wyoming as your state when you complete the membership application. Your membership will include both NASN and WSNA.

Your voice helps strengthens our collective voice and helps us continue supporting school nurses accross Wy

A Big Opportunity for Wyoming School Nurses

We are excited to share that WIND at the University of Wyoming has received a federal HRSA Technology-Enabled Learning Collaborative Program (TCLP) award to strengthen the school health workforce in Wyoming.

WSNA was proud to support this grant application, and we are excited to continue our partnership as this work moves forward. Wyoming school nurses will have an important voice in shaping this project, helping ensure that training, resources, and health initiatives reflect the realities of school nursing, especially in our rural communities.

This partnership creates an exciting opportunity to expand education, connection, and support for school nurses across Wyoming. We look forward to sharing more as the project develops!

Looking Ahead

Rounds with Dr. Harrist
Thursday, October 15
9:00–10:00 a.m.

Join us for our monthly opportunity to connect with Dr. Harrist, discuss current health topics, ask questions, and learn alongside fellow Wyoming school nurses.

UW ECHO in Student Health
Wednesday, October 21
3:45–5:00 p.m.

Topic: ACEs & Brain Development – Middle and Late Childhood

Continue building your knowledge through the UW ECHO in Student Health series. These virtual sessions provide opportunities to learn, connect, and bring practical information back to your school community.

NASN Virtual Conference: Learning Without Limits
October 14–16, 2026

There is still time to register for the NASN Virtual Conference: Learning Without Limits! This is a great opportunity to participate in professional development from wherever you are and connect with school nurses beyond Wyoming.

As we move through October and into the heart of the school year, remember to give yourself some grace. The health office may be busy, but you don't have to navigate it alone.

Keep up the great work, Wyoming school nurses!
