Only Connect: The Essential Commingling of Care and Story in Hospice and Palliative Care

@TheresaBrown

There aren't many people who practice nursing and hold a PhD in English, but Theresa Brown, PhD RN, is one of them.

As a leading voice on health care, she also works as a hospice nurse and is a prolific writer and author. Her book The Shift offers a compelling insider's view of the nursing profession, showing what it really takes to be on the human side of a medical institution—where lives are lost, life-altering treatment decisions are made, and dreams are fulfilled or irrevocably stolen—all in the span of 12 hours. A frequent contributor to The New York Times, Theresa writes on subjects as diverse as nurse/patient ratios, healthcare reform, and the importance of end-of-life care.

Redesigning the End-of-Life Experience

@pbennett101, @bjmillermd

If design is about understanding people's needs and responding to them, how can hospice and palliative care better design end of life? Engage and learn about the OpenIDEO innovative community project, Redesigning the End-of-Life Experience. Trained as a graphic designer, Paul Bennett is chief creative officer at IDEO, where he develops and publishes new thinking in the field of human-centered and design-led innovation. He is a frequent contributor to The Wall Street Journal, BBC, and Harvard Business Review and has taught and coached students from the Royal College of Art (UK), Stanford University, and Columbia Business School. BJ Miller, MD, is a hospice and palliative medicine physician and sees patients and families at the UCSF Helen Diller Family Comprehensive Cancer Center, where he also teaches and serves on faculty. His interests lie in working across disciplines to effect broad-based culture change and cultivating a civic model for aging and dying.

The State of the Science: Update in Hospice and Palliative Care

@cardsmith

The State of the Science is a hallmark of the Annual Assembly that promises to stimulate your thinking and advance your knowledge. With a rigorous review of research from 2016 that is relevant to hospice and palliative care, Nick Dionne-Odom, PhD RN, and Cardinale Smith, MD, will offer critiques and case applications important for all disciplines. Science becomes accessible in this popular and often humorous session.

SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

Plenary sessions bring all attendees together for a shared learning experience designed to stimulate new thinking and conversation.

Workshops are preconference half- or full-day sessions that typically require an additional registration fee.

Concurrent sessions are 1-hour presentations of selected abstracts.

Paper sessions include four 15-minute presentations of scientific research from selected abstracts.

Case sessions include three 20-minute, case-based presentations from selected abstracts.

Educational forums are 1-hour sessions by faculty invited by AAHPM or HPNA to present on a critical topic area.

Early-riser sessions are concurrent sessions offered in the early morning.

ABOUT THE 2017 ANNUAL ASSEMBLY

- identify opportunities to influence, initiate, maintain, and advance the practice and sustainability of hospice and palliative care within the changing healthcare environment.

Our Commitment to Providing a Welcoming Environment

AAHPM and HPNA have designed this meeting to ensure all attendees are provided an environment that offers a healthy and productive community and workspace. In addition, the city of Phoenix offers a variety of experiences and cultures and is dedicated to being an open-minded and welcoming place that recognizes and respects the differences that make us unique.

AAHPM and HPNA are committed to fostering inclusion and providing access to opportunities and resources that recognize and support all individuals who work in hospice and palliative care. We strive to create an environment that welcomes, engages, inspires, and empowers everyone to reach their full potential and recognize the rich diversity of our increasingly global hospice and palliative care community.

SPECIAL FEATURES AND EVENTS

The Annual Assembly of Hospice and Palliative Care offers high-quality education grounded in evidence-based practice. It also is where the community gathers to engage in meaningful discussions, celebrate accomplishments, honor those we have served, reflect and re-energize, and network and have fun. The Annual Assembly in Phoenix will feature opportunities for both personal and professional development.

Professional Development

AAHPM Physicians-in-Training Reception

Medical students, residents, fellows, and recent graduates are invited to attend a special Physicians-in-Training reception at 4:30 pm on Wednesday, February 22. It is a great opportunity to network and meet with national leaders in the field.

Consultation Hours

AAHPM and HPNA are pleased to provide opportunities for personal and professional development with consultation hours. Consultants and peer leaders will be available to meet individually with you regarding billing and coding, research, career coaching, and hospice practice. These value-added opportunities are provided at no cost to attendees. Watch for information about sign-ups before the Annual Assembly and on-site.

AAHPM and HPNA New-Member and First-Timer Receptions

Are you new to AAHPM or HPNA? Will this be your first Annual Assembly? Please join us at a reception immediately prior to the Opening Reception on Wednesday to meet other new members and leaders. It's a great way to connect in a smaller, intimate setting.

HPCC Luncheon

If you are certified by the Hospice & Palliative Credentialing Center (HPCC) or are interested in certification and would like to attend the HPCC Certification Luncheon on Thursday, February 23, please register separately through the HPCC website at www.gohpcc.org by January 23, 2017.
