"Pain and Delirium in the Critically Ill Patient"

Daniel Djondo, MD
Post-Doctoral Fellow, Pulmonary & Critical Care

Daniel was raised in the south suburbs of Chicago. He attended and graduated the University of Notre Dame in 2007 and went on to earn his doctorate of medicine from Ohio State University College of Medicine in 2013. He completed an internal medicine residency at Loyola University Medical Center 2016 and is currently a first-year pulmonary & critical care fellow at Loyola. Daniel enjoys spending time with his fiancé, family and friends, and likes to play basketball in his free time.

Please join us for our monthly AACN-SCC lecture. Gain critical care knowledge and ideas from guest speakers and other critical care nurses throughout the year. Registration fee for an annual membership to the chapter is $25.00 (cash or check).

National AACN membership is required to join a local chapter. Non-chapter members can pay $5 to come to a monthly lecture. On site bulk, discounted registration is also available (credit card only).
