

Follow

If anyone knows how a person might hypothetically leverage serving on the jury of a high-profile case to promote their new novel, [REDACTED] which [REDACTED] called "a darkly funny book" and "a witty black comedy," dm me, please.

11:05 AM - 7 Jan 2020

10 Retweets 61 Likes

11 10 61

[REDACTED] 6h

Replying to [REDACTED]

I guess it's too late to put "Acclaimed Wst Juror" on the jacket.

1 6

[REDACTED] 6h

it is, but it might be enough to warrant a second edition.

4 boring parts, i.e. all of it.

[REDACTED] 4h

Replying to [REDACTED]

I don't know if this counts as jury-tampering but he's guilty

1 3

[REDACTED] 4h

it doesn't if I don't know who you're talking about.

3

[REDACTED] 6h

Replying to [REDACTED]

Some signed copies for the courtroom couldn't hurt.

1 2

[REDACTED] 6h

I could just hold one up and smile the whole time.

2 5

1 more reply

[REDACTED] 5h

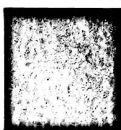

Replying to [REDACTED]

Whoever you have to sleep with to get on that jury, do it.

1 7

  · 4h
Replying to
Hang the jury being a contrarian, get interviewed by news during the mistrial, drop a plug.

   1

  · 3h
Replying to
Read it in the jury box during the boring parts, i.e, all of it.

   1

  · 4h
Replying to
Looks like you have already poor-jured yourself. Best to hire Rudy!

282.2K Likes

· 20h

Replying to

I don't know if this counts as jury-tampering but he's guilty

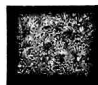

1

3

 is at Criminal Court 100 Centre Street Mahattan. ...
5 hrs New York

Jury Duty all day yesterday

   20

5 Comments

 Like

 Share

 Did you get paneled for Weinstein?

Like 6h

 1

 The system needs smart jurors like you ...but they probably won't keep you 😊

Like 5h

 1

 9 years ago I was on a criminal trial downtown. It was fascinating since I'd only done civil litigation in my career

 1