1989 LEFRAIN SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The New Principal

“The Spirit Is Growing . . . ”

TO ALL THE GREAT PEOPLE OF LORAIN HIGH SCHOOL

Thank you for making me feel so comfortable during my first year at Lorain High School. From the first day I have felt the energy and enthusiasm you have for projecting the image of our school.

We have so many accomplishments of which to be proud. The spirit is growing and we are going to keep the ball rolling. Vitality and vigor are so important in maintaining a healthy atmosphere for learning and growing.

You know that my expectations for you are high in all areas. I believe you should always strive to give your personal best. The classroom, the club, the team and the school in general are places for you to learn how to be successful. We have attempted to give you opportunities to display your interests, enthusiasm and maturity.

The seniors have played an important role this year in the transition. You are to be commended for assuming leadership in many ways. I wish you happiness and success in your future endeavors.

Lorain High School has a proud tradition. Graduates and students have a responsibility to keep the light burning. Together, as we rise to new heights, we will define the essence of a truly great high school.

Paul Sink

JOHN W. PAVIC
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

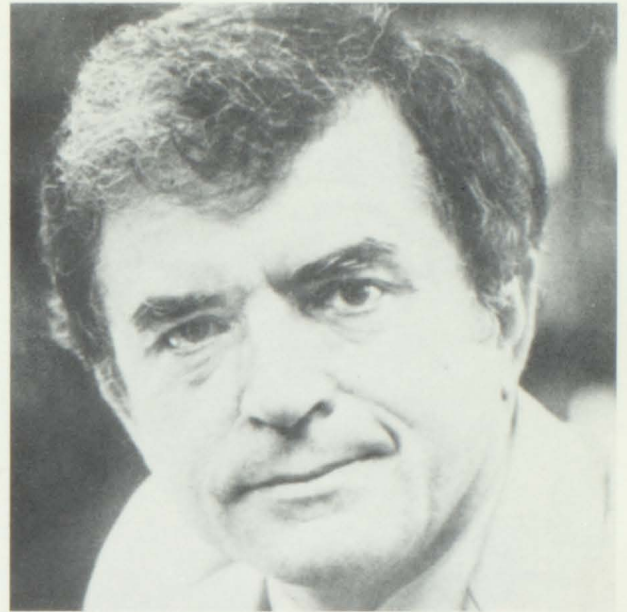

Students, Staff and Parents:

This year, more than ever, I see the groundwork being laid that will change the face of Lorain City Schools for years to come. That groundwork includes intense research, hard work and dedication on the part of staff members at Lorain High School.

As an extension of our existing magnet programs to the high school level, students at Lorain High will soon be able to concentrate on a special area of study such as business, law, medicine, or government in a Professional Studies Academy. They will have an opportunity to work in those fields with professionals through paid internships. In the next decade, students will be able to graduate from Lorain High with both a high school diploma and a two-year college degree.

These are exciting times! We are moving forward into areas most school systems have only dreamed of. With the help of the fantastic staff we have, both in Lorain High and the district, I feel confident we can provide excellent opportunities for all of our students.

This year has seen many changes at Lorain High. The school is now under the able leadership of Principal Paul Sink. William Kingsley, former teacher at LHS, is now serving as 10-month assistant principal. The school also has 13 new teachers.

With such a fine staff, student body and concerned parents, we cannot fail. The future is just moments away.

Sincerely,

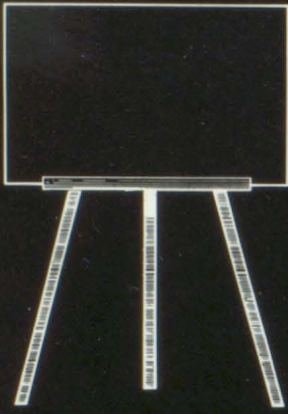

John W. Pavic
Superintendent

Board of Education: Sitting (l to r) Mrs. Beatrice Nemeck, President; Mrs. Dorothy Anderson; Mrs. Joan Brumbak, Treasurer.

The Senior American government classes conducted a Mock Election for the 1988 Presidential Election. Mr. Ash and Ms. Shull's classes registered all 9th and 12th graders at Lorain High who wished to vote in the election by holding a voter registration campaign, October 4 thru 11, 1988. Students placed posters throughout the building and the voter registration was done by the seniors in the cafeteria.

November 8th was Election Day!!! The students had placed campaign signs and slogans for their favorite candidates. Voting was done by grade level through secret ballot. In the LHS Mock Election, Michael Dukakis beat George Bush, while students chose Howard Metzenbaum and Don Pease as their Senator and Representative, respectively.

(clockwise) Jermaine Ross asks about voting. "BE SMART", some of us were; were you? Melissa Wicker and many others considered the idea of voting. Janie Kovacs wants to vote for "Bill" but he's not running.

For security purpose pictures weren't allowed in the Plain Dealer so this one was taken outside the main doors.

Mr. Osrin explains his political cartoons.

Mr. Shull makes sure nobody is left behind.

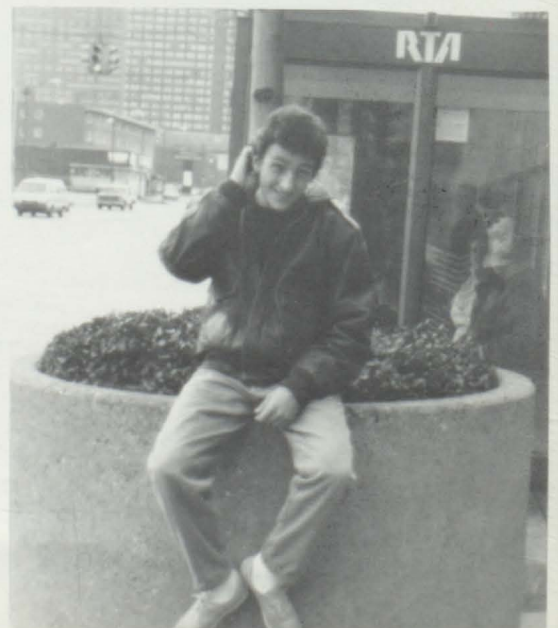

Waiting for the next bus is Bob DiFilippo; he was left behind.

Skip Engle and Terry Trout enjoyed their time in Cleveland.

The college senior government classes took a political field trip to each of the candidates' headquarters in Cleveland visiting the Bush, Dukakis, Metzenbaum and Voinovich offices. Speakers explained the campaign to the students and answered the seniors questions.

Also as part of the field trip, the students visited The Plain Dealer where students were given a short tour and spent time with Roy Osrin, the political cartoonist who displayed his work for the students. He also explained how he got his ideas and how he drew; Mr. Dennis Reurson, the chief editorial writer, also spoke and stated how The Plain Dealer determined the subject and content of its editorials.

Of course, the students enjoyed their lunch time break eating and shopping at the Galleria!!!

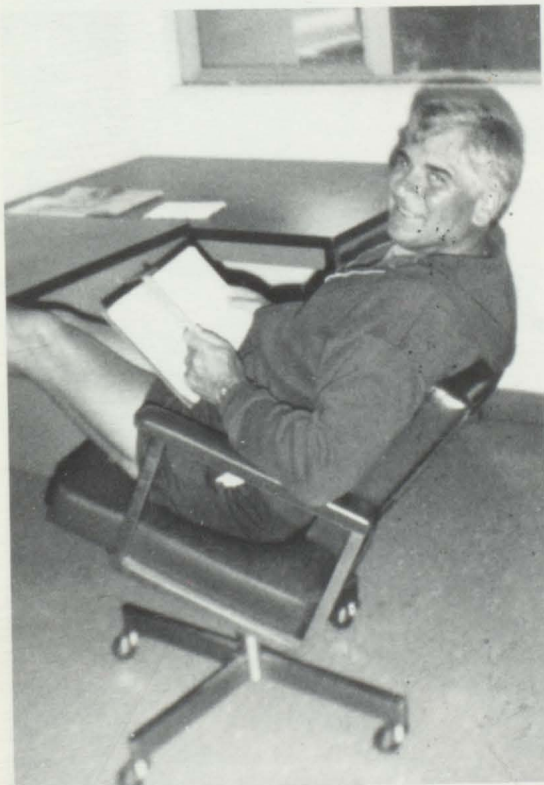

Critical Studies In Santa Barbara

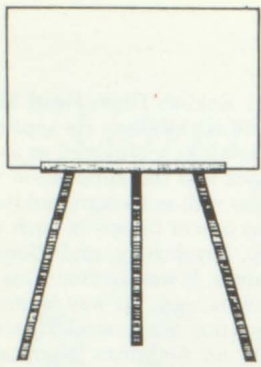

In August, the summer of 1988, our English Dept. Head Mr. Lew DelGross, went back to school, this time as a student. He applied for a seminar held in Santa Barbara. The seminar was geared as a critical study of Herman Melville's Moby Dick and the application was an essay on why he wanted to be chosen as well as background information and references. Mr. DelGross was one of fifteen in such diverse fields such as Social Science, Biology, Psychology, and Elementary Education attending the six week seminar. It was his first time applying and attending such a seminar and he said, "It was fascinating".

He attended group sessions 3-4 days out of the week where guest lecturer Dr. Giles Gunn, an authority on American Literature and critical studies, would lead discussions on various aspects of Moby Dick. Everyone conversed as equals on the political, psychological, and literary implications of Melville. They also studied the influences on Melville, such as his family, his consciousness of America, William Shakespeare, and the bible.

But it wasn't all work. Mr. DelGross was able to bring his family with him and had access to everything on campus a professor would. One of the best images he took from the trip was the times the seminar group spent picnicing, barbecuing and touring. On the tours they visited the Channel Islands wildlife reserve to view how things were in Melville's time.

Mr. DelGross said, "that all the diverse backgrounds represented by the group, along with their discussions and touring, enable him to see the Novel in its complexity. "It made me a more aware person . . . (frankly), I studied the novel mainly for my own benefit, rather than just for using it in the classroom. I wanted to absorb the author, the intent and the work to improve me, the person, not just the teacher." Nevertheless, the study excited him to want to teach Moby Dick in the classroom. So back to school Mr. DelGross goes to teach others to appreciate the genius of Herman Melville and the important of the Humanities in our everyday lives.

Lorain native Terry Anderson was born on October 24, 1941 in Lorain, Ohio. He was raised in Batavia, New York. He was a graduate of Iowa University in 1974 with a major in Political Science and Journalism. At the time of his capture, March 16, 1985, he was the Chief Middle East Correspondent for the Associated Press in Beirut Lebanon.

A Vietnam War Veteran serving with the United States Marine Corps, Terry is married and has a 3 year old daughter he has never seen before. Terry is currently the longest held hostage in Lebanon.

On November 26, 1988 at 11:00 a.m. the Lorain High Key Club, comprised of 36 members, dedicated a 9 foot blue spruce Christmas tree in honor of Terry Anderson. They made 1,381 yellow and black ribbons each representing one day of his being a captive.

The day began with a greeting from Key Club President Wendy Yepko, A flag raising ceremony, the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of AMERICA, THE BEAUTIFUL, an Invocation by Tina DiLuciano, and the History of Terry read by Miss Yepko. Mr. Jack LaVriha Chairperson for the Free Terry Anderson Committee was the Guest speaker. To close the ceremony, Mrs. Deborah Gresh (Terry Anderson Tree Committee Chairperson) gave the Benediction.

Great thanks need to be given to Mrs. Gresh for the long hours and hard planning she did to make this day possible and very special. THANKS MRS. GRESH!!!

A Special Festival

On November 15, 1988, the deaf class at Lorain High School went to LCCC for a very Special Arts Festival. Special Education Regional Resource Center put on the show for all handicap students to enrich their cultural awareness. We watched The Fairmont Theater of the Deaf for 45 minutes, they did hands-on Art Experience and Dancing Experience. The Murry Ridge Students choir signed a song next.

I did a performance using sign language for the song, "When You Put Your Heart in It", by Kenny Rogers. I was very happy that I did the show. I wasn't nervous at all. The reason I signed that song was so the deaf could "hear" the lyrics and know what the song was about. The song really changed my life around. Since I was a little girl, I've wanted to be an actress. I always used to say to myself, "I can't do anything because I have a hearing problem," but when I heard that song, it hit me. The song gave me a second chance to think about what I really want to do. Now, all I say to myself is, "I can do anything, if I put my heart in."

While at the college I met two very interesting people. They're both deaf and go to Sandusky High School. The first student was Laura Frank, a senior who was born in South Korea. Laura was adopted by an American family after her mother died; she was 12 years old when she came to America. Laura was very sad at first and had a hard time making friends because she didn't know any English or American sign language. She had a hard time passing her driver's education class, since laws here are very different from the laws in South Korea. In Korea, the deaf are not allowed to drive.

Later, Linda picked up sign language very quickly. She studied everyday for three hours. Food for Laura was very different. In Korea she ate very spicy meals and many vegetables with rice. At first, Laura didn't like any type of meat, but after a while she got used to eating American food. Her favorite foods are pizza and spaghetti.

Laura is a much happier person now; she loves America. Last year, Laura was on the track team and in a drama club. Education to Laura is very important. She wants to go to college when she graduates from high school. Laura's favorite hobby is studying. In Korea, there are no schools for the deaf. She came to America to get a better education and a chance to go to college.

Until then, Laura has a job working at McDonald's. She works in the mornings fixing biscuits and salads before she goes to school.

Laura has a younger brother, Vilas. Before coming to America, Vilas lived in Mother Theresa's orphanage. He is now in the process of being adopted.

He also had a hard time making friends, because he didn't know any English or sign language. He picked up American sign language quickly.

Food for Vilas was very different just as it was for Laura. He was used to eating very hot spicy foods. At first, he didn't like American food. He likes it very well now. He eats almost anything. In India, nobody ever helped a person with a handicap. That's one reason Vilas decided to come to America - to get a good job and a better education. Vilas loves it here in America. He says it is very different from India. He says he would like to go to India and visit his friends again. Vilas enjoys playing soccer. He can play well because he used to play in India.

Laura and Vilas Frank are very special people. It's nice to talk to people who are from different countries; they both are very good at what they do. One thing they don't let get in their way is their handicap.

MOST GOALS - BRYAN WARNER

ONE OF THE FASTEST PLAYERS ON THE TEAM, HE PLAYED EVERY POSITION ON THE FRONT LINE WITH EQUAL SUCCESS. HIS PASSING ABILITY AND SHOOTING SKILL HELPED US TO STAY IN CONTENTION IN OUR GAMES ALL SEASON.

MOST ASSISTS- MOST POINTS - BRIAN GOTRO

BRIAN LED THE TEAM IN ASSISTS. WAS 2ND IN GOALS AND HAD TO PLAY DEFENSE IN THE LAST FEW GAMES. HE HAS ANCHORED OUR OFFENSE FOR 3 YEARS AND HIS SHOES WILL BE IMPOSSIBLE TO FILL. HE ALSO LED THE TEAM IN SCORING AS A JUNIOR. HE WAS SELECTED TO THE ERIE SHORE 2ND TEAM AND WAS ELECTED TO THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY.

SPECIAL THANK YOU AWARD - JOHN SEBOK

JOHN SEBOK IS THE FATHER OF LORAIN SOCCER. HE BROUGHT HIS LOVE OF SOCCER FROM HUNGARY AND INTRODUCED A "NEW GAME" TO LORAIN. HE LENT HIS EXPERTISE TO THE L.H.S. SOCCER TEAM AND WE ARE EXTREMELY GRATEFUL FOR HIS GENEROSITY.

COACHES AWARD - JEFF MATOS

AS OUR GOALIE THIS YEAR, JEFF STOPPED NUMEROUS SHOTS ON GOAL. HIS QUICK HANDS AND FEARLESS DIVES PREVENTED MANY GOALS AND KEPT US IN STRIKING DISTANCE IN MOST GAMES. AS A JUNIOR HALFBACK LAST SEASON, JEFF SCORED THE FIRST TWO GOALS OF OUR YEAR. HIS VERSITILITY WILL BE SOURLY MISSED.

COACHES AWARD - JAMES (SKIP) ENGLE

I HATE THE "MOST IMPROVED" TITLE THAT IS GIVEN BECAUSE IT SOUNDS AS THOUGH THE PLAYER WAS LOUSY THE YEAR BEFORE. NOTHING COULD BE FURTHER FROM THE TRUTH ABOUT THIS YOUNG MAN. HIS SPEED IMPROVED, HIS PLAYING TIME INCREASED AND WHATEVER WAS ASKED OF HIM WAS ACCOMPLISHED WITH CONSIDERABLE SUCCESS. ELECTED TO THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY, A NATIONAL MERIT SCHOLAR FOR HIS A.C.T. SCORES, AND RANKED 11TH IN HIS CLASS OF 279, IT IS A PLEASURE TO PRESENT THIS AWARD TO SKIP ENGLE.

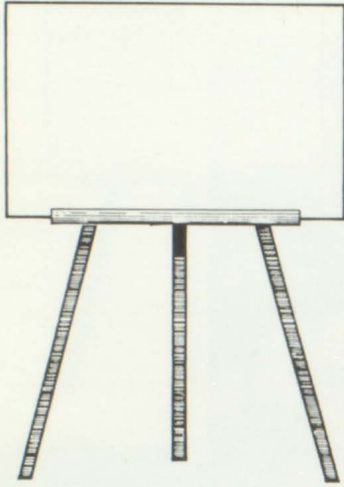

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER - ED SKIMIN

THIS AWARD IS ALWAYS THE HARDEST TO DETERMINE. THIS YEAR WAS NO EXCEPTION. MR. SEBOK HAD A GREAT DEAL TO DO WITH THE SELECTION PROCESS. THE RECEIPT HAS STARTED IN EVERY LORAIN HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER MATCH. AFTER LEADING THE TEAM IN HIS SOPHOMORE AND JUNIOR YEARS IN ASSISTS, HE WAS TOLD TO SWITCH POSITIONS. MIDWAY THROUGH THE SEASON, HE BEGAN TO PLAY DEFENSE. HE ANCHORED THE BACK WITH GREAT SKILL. HIS INTELLEGENCE PUT HIM IN THE RIGHT PLACE TO PREVENT SHOTS AND ELIMINATE CROSSES. HE WAS ELECTED TO THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY, NOMINATED ACADEMIC ALL OHIO, FIRST TEAM ERIE SHORE AND RANKED 5TH IN HIS CLASS. IT IS A GREAT PLEASURE TO PRESENT THIS AWARD TO ED SKIMIN.

"Our squad was small, but competitive," coach Mark Robbins said as he reflected on the recently completed season. It was difficult to win as a team since the numbers weren't there, but next year will bring better things. Coach Robbins pointed out that by season's end his runners had all recorded personal best times, saying "This sport is really running against yourself."

Coach Uzynski's team finished the regular season at 16-4 & won the district for the second year in a row. "The kids played fine defense while coupling it with timely hitting. Lisa Jaycox was an outstanding pitcher; we'll miss April Hellingner and Nicole Kidd next year."

But the nucleus of another winning club is there as well as the determination to keep the reputation as one of the area's finest teams.

May 20, 1989! The "Best of Times" played long and well for the seniors' prom night. From 9 to 12 PM pictures, refreshments, and fun were the only thing on their minds. Souvenirs were provided by the Senior Advisory Board and staging areas for individual pictures were scattered throughout the school cafeteria. Mike Hartman and Kathy Neal were chosen as the King & Queen.

A black and white ink drawing of a tree trunk with a hollowed-out section, set against a background of stylized, radiating lines. The drawing is composed of thick, expressive black lines on a light background. The tree trunk is the central focus, with a large, irregularly shaped hollowed-out section in the middle. The lines radiating from the trunk create a sense of movement and depth. The overall style is graphic and minimalist.

The Lorain High Business Department's purpose is to prepare youths and adults for the world of work.

The department prepares young adults for (1) their entry into employment in a specific or closely related occupation; (2) the dual role of homemaker and wage earner; and (3) employment skills that a student can expand through additional education.

Each year a banquet is held and awards for 10-12 categories are given for each vocational class. Many certificates are given throughout the year for outstanding work to keep the students encouraged and rewarded for their effort.

The Special Education programs at Lorain High School used a total communication approach to learning. The Hearing Impaired classes used sign language and voice as well as interpreters who signed regular classroom lectures. Our departments' goals were to overcome the handicaps by fostering independence and creating self-motivation in our students.

Mr. Brownson

Post high school plans were never in doubt due to our able counselors. Whether college or tech school, job placement or the armed service, the staff had the right answers for the right students. Special services was varied and appropriate. Minority aid was readily available; unique rehabilitation programs were also in place for the student population. Many times somebody to just listen was needed and our counselors were there.

Among The Student Body

Mr. Ash

Missing: Mr. Riddle

The main goal of Social Studies education is preparing students to participate in a Democratic society and is primarily achieved through the study of American Government and Economic systems that should enable each student to be a contributing member of a democratic society.

Another department

goal is to develop thinking skills by having the students participate in debates and field trips, having guest speakers, doing research, and class discussions of historical or current issues.

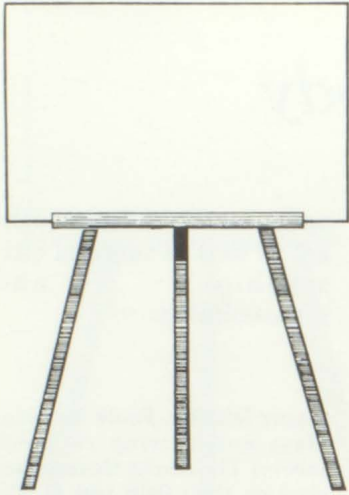

Finally, Social Studies education is aimed at students holding and spreading democratic values. Students will develop respect for the rights of others as well as sense of citizenship and responsibility.

Keyboard Delight

Mr. Gresh

Mrs. Orr

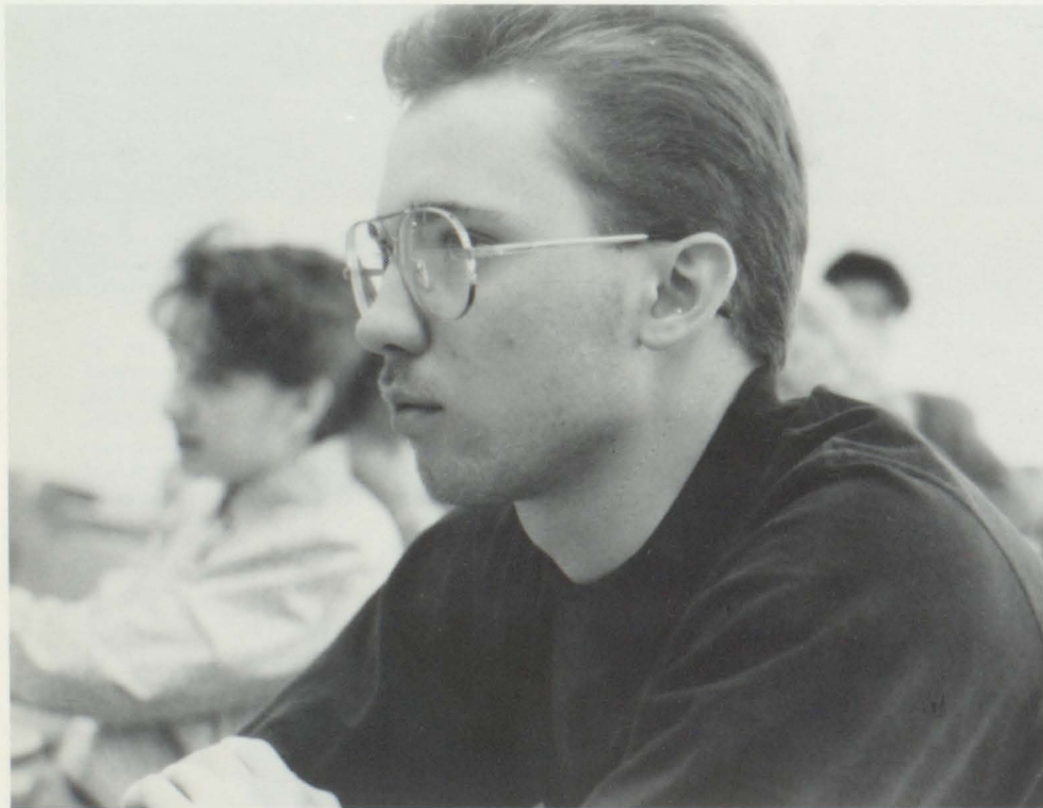

The goal of the computer science program is to enable the student to become functionally computer literate in a computer oriented society. The purpose of the computer science program is to enable the student to apply the computer skills acquired in a manner appropriate to their present and future personal career or educational needs. A fundamentally solid computer education program insures an understanding of the capability and limitation of computers.

The computer programming portion of the computer science curriculum presents several higher level programming languages to the student. The computer programming languages that are taught in the computer science curriculum are as follows:

BASIC, Pascal, COBOL and FORTRAN.

Completion of the computer science program will enable the student to enter either society or higher education with a firm foundation in computer science. Students seeking a computer oriented career or higher education in the computer science field will have an excellent background well beyond the norm of average high school students. Students intent on pursuing career/educational opportunities outside of computer science will have developed logical thinking skills, problem solving techniques and extended creative abilities.

Homemaking is one of the most valuable and comprehensive of all occupations. The Home Economics curriculum provides training for this essential occupation to prepare students for the present and the future. It prepares them for the roles of homemaker, wage-earner, consumer, and citizen.

The aim of the consumer/Home-making program is to focus upon the growth of the fully functioning family member who takes action for the betterment of the family, workplace and society. The family provides a supportive environment for human development and thus contributes to the emotional, social, political, and economic well-being of our nation. Adolescent family members need Home Economics knowledge and skills, critical and creative thinking processes, sound decision-making practices, and interpersonal/communicative skills.

“Please Meet In Room # 229”

Thanks to the school community who helped put this '89 book together: students, staff, administration, & faculty. It's hard to please everybody, but we hope you'll enjoy this Scimitar. Most especially, I'd like to thank two seniors whose work & determination made this book possible — Susan Kelley and Evie Ferguson. Without you, ladies, it wouldn't have been finished! Also to Mike Renner — be kind to the Muses.

Pride - LHS Style

The second annual Pride Week, engineered by Mr. Dave Majesky, was held from Monday, Feb. 27 thru Friday, March 3 this year. Once again, each day presented a theme in which students, faculty, and administrators were encouraged to participate. The return of Olympics Day was welcomed by all, but a few new themes were added.

On Monday, personal heroics was stressed and exemplified by The Fairmount Theater of the Deaf who gave a fine performance at two assemblies. Also, the idea of competition, in & out of the classroom, emphasized the striving for excellence, not just the winning. Last, various senior students showed pride in their city by running for local government offices in school and serving at City Hall for a day.

Inroads To Opportunity

The Guidance Dept. invited the INROADS program to L.H.S. in order to assist talented minority students in choosing a career. A tour of Lorain Products was arranged for Jan. 20, 1989 so that pupils could receive first hand knowledge of the training needed for tomorrow's jobs.

India Ashley, Tony Robinson, Rhonda Kelley, Conseula Larsosa, Stacy Mulero, LeToya McCarty, & Miguel Rosario participated in this event. The following text & pictures are reproduced with the kind permission of INROADS of Northeast Ohio.

INROADS is a non-profit organization which operates in several major cities throughout the nation. It is designed for outstanding minority students — Blacks, Hispanics and Native Americans — for whom INROADS sets rigorous performance standards. Opportunities exist at both high school and college levels and are designed specifically for students with an interest in careers in business and technology.

INROADS operates with two purposes in mind. First, it seeks to develop skilled, experienced, qualified minority professionals. Second, it believes that these professionals in turn will use their skills to benefit their local communities and the community at large.

THE PRE-COLLEGE COMPONENT

The INROADS high-school component is designed to identify and prepare bright, motivated minority students for success in college and eventual careers in business or technology. Students may join INROADS at the beginning of the eleventh or twelfth grade.

Students chosen for INROADS

- Possess above-average skills in Math, Science and English
- Have shown an ability to cope in competitive situations
- Are strongly achievement-oriented
- Want to obtain a four-year college education with a degree in business or technology.

Participants are enrolled in their high school's college preparatory curriculum.

INROADS supplements this course of study in several ways, including:

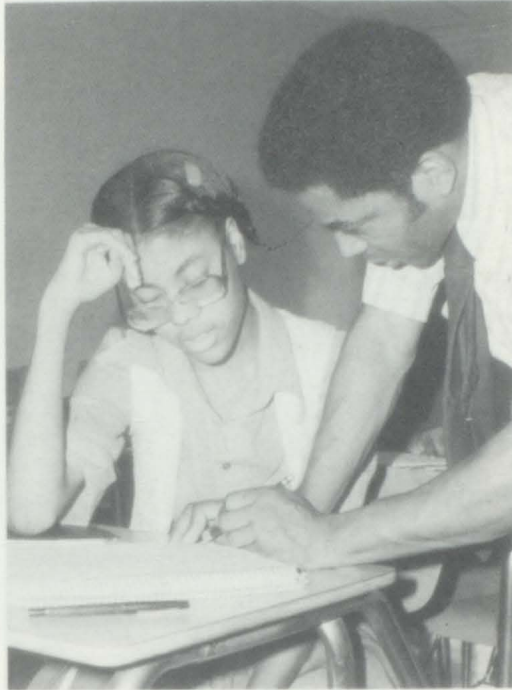

- Classes on such topics as Computers, Career/Exploration, Sciences, Communication and SAT/ACT Test Preparation.
- Tutoring
- Career counseling
- Personal and career-development seminars
- Tours of business facilities and universities
- Direct exposure to adults, successful in business and technology, who can serve as role models and advisors.

INROADS has found that these experiences provide minority students with skills, knowledge, attitudes and insights necessary for success in a competitive college environment.

Parents play an important role in the Pre-College Component. INROADS recognizes the importance of strong parental support to students who have set high goals for themselves. Our support vehicle is the INROADS Parent Association, to which all parents of participants belong. The association meets monthly.

INROADS offers its pre-college activities in conjunction with Northeast Ohio school systems and universities such as Cleveland State and John Carroll.

COLLEGE COMPONENT

INROADS offers college participants a four-year combination of counseling, training and development activities, tutorial services and summer internships with sponsor corporations.

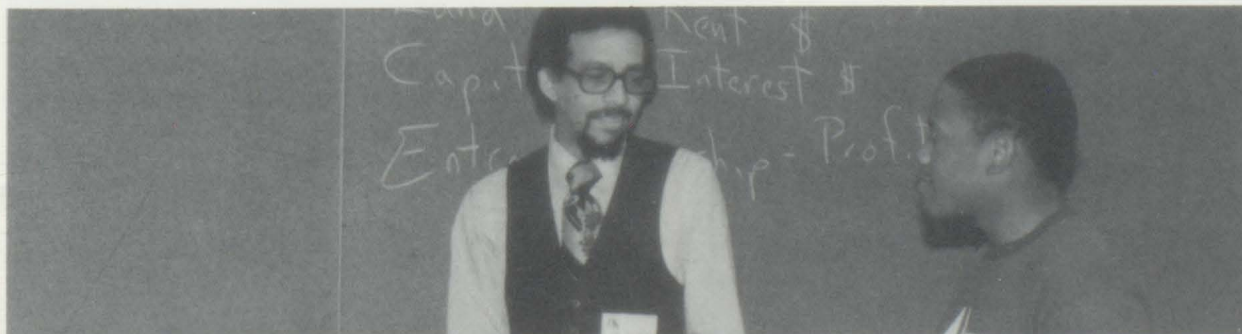

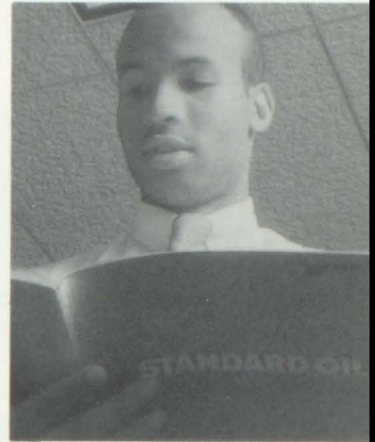

The program is designed to equip students with the skills, experiences and insights they will need for success in business or technological careers — not only to qualify for entry-level positions but also to rise into middle or upper-management ranks.

Competition for an INROADS internship is keen. The screening process involves initial interviews with INROADS representatives. Successful candidates then are interviewed by sponsor companies, who themselves select the intern whom they will sponsor. Since the internship is an essential feature of the college program, only students who have been accepted by companies as interns take part in other program activities.

Once students are accepted as INROADS interns, expectations are high. Students must remain in good academic standing, participate as expected in INROADS training and counseling sessions, and perform each summer's internship to the satisfaction of their sponsors. Unsatisfactory performance in any area may lead to dismissal.

Sponsor corporations agree to consider their interns for permanent employment upon graduation. The long-term goal, for INROADS and sponsoring corporations alike, is to develop skilled, experienced minority employees.

Lorain High School And Lorain National Bank "Partners In Excellence"

Senior academic achievement was celebrated on Monday, May 15, 1989 in the school cafeteria for the fourth consecutive year. Lorain National Bank helped to sponsor this banquet which was hosted by Mike Cioffi. Senior Class President. LHS orchestra members, directed by Mr. Thomas Tucker, provided musical interludes between various speakers. In attendance were Mr. Sink, principal; Mr. John Pavic, supt.; Mrs. Beatrice Nemecek, pres. of the Board of Ed.

Much Ado About Nothing

The National Theatre Player and Lorain County Community College visited our school and showed some English classes how Shakespeare could be easily understood through performance. The players (who also direct, manage the stage, do lighting, etc.) began by having the students do warm-up exercises, physical & oral.

After overcoming their initial embarrassment, the pupils were given lines from Shakespeare and told to put the scene into a contemporary setting. The skits they concocted became "curiouser and curiouser," but showed them that Shakespeare is for the ages.

NATIONAL PLAYERS

After 39 consecutive seasons of touring, National Players has earned a unique name and place in American Theatre. The name has become synonymous with quality productions of the world's great plays done by professional players against handsome sets with beautiful costumes and freshly conceived staging.

The great 'road' tradition has experienced a healthy revival in recent years, thanks largely to National Players, the first group of its kind in a field which is now thriving. It was in 1949 that Rev. Gilvert V. Hartke, O.P., assembled a group of the most talented graduates of the Drama Department at Catholic University in Washington, D.C. and with a great deal of optimism and work, 'Players' managed to get out via the turnpikes and byroads to far corners of the country in what might have seemed a hopeless pioneering task. The rewarding response is now a matter of record.

In 39 seasons, this remarkable acting company has given approximately 5,000 performances of the plays of Shakespeare, Moliere, Shaw, Brandon Thomas, Kafka, Sophocles, Aeschylus, Aristophanes, Eugene o'Neill, Tom Stoppard, and Peter Shaffer.

The company is made up each year of 14 members, each of whom is responsible for several jobs. They arrive a few hours before their scheduled performance to prepare the stage: raise the set, adjust and focus the lights, check sound equipment, arrange dressing rooms, and perhaps run a brush-up rehearsal before donning costumes and makeup. When the final curtain falls, they do everything in reverse. Like the Abbey Theatre in Dublin and the Old Vic in London, National Players companies function smoothly as a team.

Among the Players' alumni prominent on Broadway, television, and films can be numbered such names as John Heard, Lawrence Luckinbill, Gino Conforti, Ken Kimmins, Ray DeMatteis, Jack Knight, Ben Slack, David Little, and Daniel Hugh-Kelly. Former directors have included Walter Kerr (now the New York Times drama critic), Alan Schneider (Broadway director of Samuel Beckett and Edward Albee), and Robert Moore (director of Broadway's Promises, Promises, Deathtrap, and Woman of the Year).

LOOKING OUT UPON THE WORLD

Looking out upon the world
Hearing all the common chimes
The rays of the sun circling
Around sounds of modern times

Feeling safe, secure, and sound
The warmth of the sun all around

Looking out upon the world
Listening to reports of violent crimes
The light of the world reflected
By the sins of modern times

Stealing safety, security at the sound
Of the warfare on the Holy ground

Looking out upon the world
Feeling all the common mirth
The warmth of the sun circling
Around love of modern earth

Hearing son, melody, and cheer
Sung by those delivered from fear

Looking out upon the world
Snuffing of children before birth
The love of life rejected
By the souls of modern earth

Fearing son, melody, and cheer
Wishing to hide that regretful tear.
