Dettore will have to wait until Oct. 23 for BZA decision

By Carol Klear

Although the discussion at North Ridgeville's Board of Zoning and Building Appeals (BZA) last week lasted well over an hour, Frank Dettore's request for R-2 conditional use in a B-2 district was tabled until the Oct. 23 meeting.

For months Dettore, the president of FJD Properties, LLC, has talked of a "conceptual plan" for housing on the commercial property he owns, near All-American Sports Center on Center Ridge Road, however the BZA must first approve a conditional use in the B-2 district.

Dettore said he has 110 acres of commercial land, but with the Avon Commons shopping center so close there is no demand for commercial property.

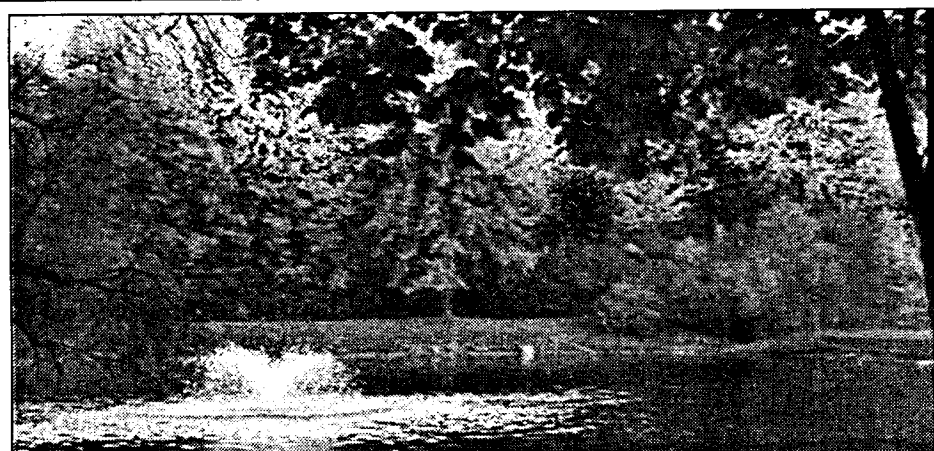

City Engineer Larry Griffith was not present for the BZA meeting, but he forwarded his recommendations concerning the proposed project, including the need for a traffic study.

North Ridgeville Police Chief Richard Thomas also expressed concerns about the road Dettore plans to run to Center Ridge Road and said he would like it to intersect with SR 20, but Thomas said he is willing to work

District adds new bus route

By Carol Klear

The transportation problems that have plagued the North Ridgeville City Schools since the beginning of the school year are not over.

"We're making strides, but it's not perfect," Dave Livingston assistant superintendent of business services said, following last week's school board meeting.

"We have added a new route," he said, which includes the morning schedules at the middle school and Liberty Elementary, as well as the afternoon routes for the high school, the Education Center and Liberty.

Livingston said that part of the problem that has created the busing snafu this year is a shortage of substitute bus drivers, which is especially difficult if three or four drivers are absent and schools have field trips scheduled.

The district has been advertising for additional subs, he said.

"We may have to add another driver and more in another month," he said, as well as another bus or two.

Expanding the number of bus drivers is not done quickly, Livingston said.

"Even if a person is interested in becoming a bus driver, there is a six-week minimum turnaround," he said, which includes the necessary training to become licensed. It's also frustrating to go through all that and have the newly-trained driver take a job in another school district where the pay is higher, he said.

"The city's growth is far-reaching," Livingston said.

'My hope is that the haves will reach out to the have-nots'

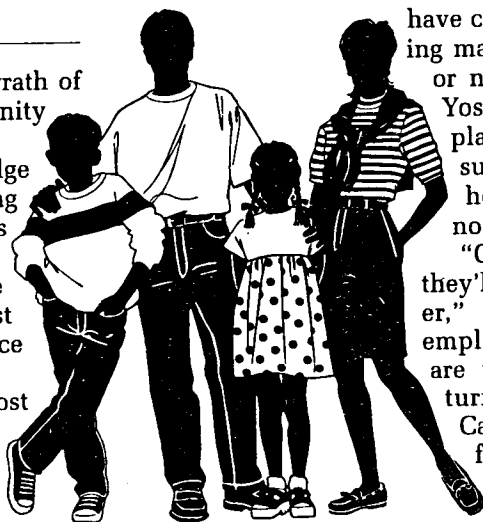

By Carol Klear

North Ridgeville has not been spared the wrath of the country's declining economy, as Community Care Director June Yost knows only too well.

Community Care, located on Center Ridge Road behind Arby's, helps provide food, clothing and other necessities of life on a temporary basis for residents who have suffered setbacks. Over the past 10 months the number of people the organization has fed has increased by 100, Yost said. And the pile of applications for assistance grows almost as if it has a life of its own.

There are many reasons for today's needy, Yost said, but job loss probably ranks near the top.

North Ridgeville residents work in Elyria, Avon, Cleveland or any other of the surrounding cities. Recently a number of companies have closed their doors, leaving many families with little or no income. Sometimes, Yost said, health factors play a role in joblessness such as those who suffer health problems and can no longer work.

"Often people figure they'll have their jobs forever," Yost said. When the employment is gone, they are unprepared. Many are turning to Community Care for comfort and help for themselves and for their families.

There are also single parents who, in the face of rising expenses, look to the organization for assistance.

When someone comes to Yost, she sits with them and listens to their problems to determine if Community Care can help ease their burden.

"I do all the interviewing," Yost said, but she also has an ethics committee to aid her decisions.

No matter what a potential client tells her, Yost never questions the validity of the story.

Although it was years ago, Yost said she would never forget her very first client.

"The young woman was scared to death," she said. And after explaining her problem, she continued to sit silently. When Yost asked if she had something more to add, the woman looked at her in surprise and asked, "Aren't you going to preach to me?"

Early detection, treatment improves survival rate for breast cancer patients

Editor's note: October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. According to the American Cancer Society, an estimated 211,300 women in the United States will be diagnosed with invasive breast cancer during this year. Of those, 9,000 will be from Ohio. This week and next week's issues of The Press & Light will take a look at what science is doing to improve a woman's chance to beat breast cancer.

By Melissa Linebrink

This year, more than 200,000 women (and 1,300 men) in the United States will hear the words, "You have breast cancer." However, the combination of early detection and treatment can improve the survival rate for breast cancer patients.

"Today, because of the work on decoding the humane genome, we have the potential to unlock the basic biology of breast cancer," Mary A. Simmonds, MD, FACP, the American Cancer Society's national president, said. "This will give us the tools we need to develop more targeted treatments for breast cancer now and, hopefully, allow us to devise prevention strategies in the future."

According to the American Cancer Society, being a female and age are the two main risk factors associated with breast cancer. As age increases, so does the risk of developing the disease.

Other risk factors include family or personal history of breast cancer, history of benign breast disease, obesity after menopause, a long menstrual history and the recent use of oral contraceptives or post-menopausal estrogens and progestin.

According to the most recent data, an estimated 40,200 deaths from breast cancer (39,800 women and 400 men) will occur in 2003.

Breast cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death among women after lung cancer. About 1,900 Ohio women will die from the disease this year.

The American Cancer Society stresses that "awareness is an essential element in the fight against breast cancer." By educating women about the importance of mammography, as well as clinical exams and an awareness of any changes in their breasts, more breast cancers are being detected earlier.

If a woman is diagnosed with breast cancer there are a variety of treatments available depending on the type and stage of cancer, as well as the age and medical history of the patient. Treatment may include surgery, such as a lumpectomy or mastectomy. Lumpectomy is a surgery to remove the breast tumor and a small amount of surrounding normal tissue.

A mastectomy is the removal of the entire breast. In a simple or total mastectomy surgeons do not cut away any lymph nodes or muscle tissue. In a modified radical mastectomy, surgeons remove the breast and some lymph nodes in the armpit area of a female's body.

In a radical mastectomy (now rarely performed), surgeons remove the breast, armpit lymph nodes and chest wall muscles under the breast. Other treatment options include chemotherapy, radiation or hormone therapy.

According to American Cancer Society's Communications Director Monica Miller, early detection and treatment is a woman's strongest weapon in the fight against breast cancer.

For more information on breast cancer detection, call the American Cancer Society at (800) ACS-2345.

Fatal mistake at turnpike entrance

By Carol Klear

An accident at North Ridgeville gate 9A of the Ohio Turnpike on Oct. 7, took the life of one woman, sent another to the hospital and landed a truck driver in jail.

According to a report from the North Ridgeville Fire Department, firefighters were called to an accident scene around 3 p.m. in the afternoon, and found a tractor trailer rolled over onto a two-door Chevy Cavalier, reportedly crushing the vehicle and killing the driver, Andrea Raglin, 39, of Cleveland.

After stabilizing the vehicle and trailer with a heavy lift tow truck the passenger's door was cut off and Kimberly Clay was taken from the vehicle and flown to MetroHealth Medical Center in Cleveland, where she was treated and released.

The driver of the tractor trailer, Robert Stuart of Campbell, N.J., was apparently distracted as he approached the turnpike toll booths. As he got close to the Chevy, his truck veered off the road and struck a concrete barrier, causing the truck to land on top of the car, killing Raglin.

That section of the turnpike was closed to traffic and rerouted for more than six hours.

The truck driver has been charged with vehicular homicide.

Traffic was tied up for more than six hours at Gate 9A on the Ohio Turnpike, due to an accident involving a tractor trailer and a passenger vehicle.

Coming on Oct. 29...

JOINING THE CHORUS.....Hey, all you out in Ridgeville Land that are complaining about those pesky little bugs that have been invading hearth and home, I wanna join your club.

First, I have mice in the basement and now flying things upstairs. I feel like I live in a veritable jungle. Can we just enjoy the lovely colors of autumn without the creature infestation? I did have an offer of a couple of cats when I bought my last box of stuff to eradicate mice...don't want none of them either.

REALLY GOOD NEWS.....City Engineer Larry Griffith sent a notice that southbound Avon Belden Road between Center Ridge and Bainbridge roads will be closed, Oct. 22, 23 and 24 from 9 a.m.- 2:30 p.m. while the west side of SR 83 is repaved. I am SOOOO glad there will finally be smooth driving again. Have you been there lately? It's a challenge to hang on to the steering wheel over the bumpy-bumps. Northbound traffic will be maintained.

MONDAY'S THE DEADLINE.....Get those tales of spooks and hobgoblins in by Monday to be included in the Oct. 29 issue of Press & Light. Hey, has anyone been to any Haunted Houses lately? What did you see? Were you really scared? Tell us about it and don't forget those things that go bump in the night. And how about a picture of you in last year's Trick-or-Treat costume. Caller: Jim Johnson thinks the law (on the sign ordinance) is unconstitutional. I notice if it's not in their favor they say it's unconstitutional and if it is unconstitutional they've (city officials) have had years to take it off the books. This is the kind of nonsense that goes on.

Caller: Please give us more incentive to vote for the school income tax by printing the salaries and perks of all the administrators and teachers. We can't all go to the board office to check this. And also, why did Mr. Bowersox choose not to build his expensive new house in North Ridgeville. I see lots of new cars in the school parking lots. I bet they're all making lots more money than everyday people like any of us. Maybe they can all live within the budget a little bit more, instead of expecting us to give more income.

Life is a gift to be respected and loved every day

They waved their arms and tried to roll around the floor.

From time to time their little faces lit up with happiness, and they smiled as only 2-year-olds can do.

But there was something quite different about these little boys from others their age. Besides being twins, Ahmed and Mohamed Ibrahim were conjoined twins-linked together at the top of their skulls, unable to move independently other than to flail their arms and kick their legs.

Over the weekend a throng of physicians performed a lengthy surgery on the little boys from Egypt, in hopes of opening the same door to the future that is afforded other little ones who come into the world with no physical hindrances.

Newspapers and television reports showed pictures of the boys repeatedly and one article quoted an uncle as saying, "It is all in God's hands now."

Editor's
Notebook

By Carol Klear

I cannot fathom what the boys' parents must be going through not only today, but also many months ago when the babies were beginning to develop in their mother's womb.

When their mother and father first learned they were expecting twins, they were probably as thrilled as any parents would be with the news and looked forward to the day when their family of three, which included an older son, would become five.

But what about their reaction when doctors told them there was a problem and their babies were joined at the head?

It must have been devastating, to say the least, and eventually turned to worry about how they would care for the infants.

In Egypt, abortion is illegal unless the life of the mother is at risk. In the United States pregnant women do not have to carry their babies to term. If the pregnancy comes at an inopportune time or if the woman is unmarried or if a defect is discovered in the fetus or if...or if...or if...she can have an abortion and end the "problem."

If faced with the Ibrahim's situation, knowing that life after the babies' birth would be very difficult, some men and women might readily decide to end the lives of the two babies who developed almost as one. But the Ibrahim's did not.

October is dedicated especially to heightening an awareness of breast cancer and the weekend saw hundreds and hundreds of people participate in the Race for the Cure, but it is also Respect Life month and what better example of a mother and father's respect for the sanctity of life than Sabah Abu el-Wafa and Ibrahim Mohammed Ibrahim. We applaud their courage in the face of a daunting situation, but even more we praise their attitude that life is a gift.

Going about our lives in North Ridgeville, we see more evidences of respect for life in our community, not only during October but every day. There are children born with debilitating physical diseases or mental deficiencies, who are surviving and thriving because of their parents' love. There are the elderly who are completing their lives surrounded and helped by their loving families. Like the Ibrahim's, they all see life as a gift to be protected, nurtured and loved.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NR's schools fiscally responsible

To the Editor:
My family and I have lived in North Ridgeville for 27 years. In some capacity, I have been involved with the schools for almost the entire time of my residency. First, I am a parent of children who attended the North Ridgeville City Schools. During their attendance in the schools, I feel that the district always did its best to provide a quality education in a safe and progressive environment. During historical times in the district, where operating money was limited, staff for the schools always answered the immediate needs of the students first.

Second, I was a very active member of the PTA in North Ridgeville Schools. Part of my job as an officer was to work closely with the school principal to provide programs, assemblies etc. to the school population. Mr. Bowersox (principal of Wilcox Elementary at the time) was very open and up front about his principal's budget, and once again displayed responsibility in the use of tax dollars.

Third, I am presently a fifth grade teacher at Wilcox Elementary School. I have served on many committees, such as District-Wide Site-Base, curriculum committee for math, department chairperson for first grade, etc. With all my experiences, I personally know that North Ridgeville Schools evaluate with a fine-tooth comb every dollar expenditure that it incurs.

North Ridgeville Schools has proved itself fiscally responsible. It has proved that your child is number one. Please vote yes for the North Ridgeville school income tax issue on November's ballot.

Nancy J. Kubiak
North Ridgeville

Supports the school income tax

To the Editor:
Our family moved to North Ridgeville so that we could have a bright future. As a part of a large Italian family, I have grown up seeing how each generation supports the other-all the while making the family a better place. The same holds true for this school issue. I hope each part of the community, senior citizens, empty-nesters, newlyweds and families will join together for the benefit of all and support the school income tax.

No one likes taxes, but the schools have worked efficiently and made our money last for over seven years. The income tax is fairer than a property tax because it is based upon what you can afford. It gives a much-deserved break to seniors who have helped build this community. Now it is our generation's turn to step up to the plate and join together to pass this income tax so we can keep our schools moving ahead.

My experience with the schools has been positive and I urge families like ours to support the school income tax issue. This issue is less about money and more about how well we as residents keep our community strong and prepare our children to be successful leaders.

Paula Gianvito
North Ridgeville

Support our schools

To the Editor:
Very few school systems have done so much with so little. Working with a very low student per capita ratio, the teachers and administrators have worked diligently to increase the standards. In doing so, I feel that they have accomplished more with less. It is time that we give them more to work with to keep up the excellent job that they have done.

Please remember, it has been seven years since the schools have asked for a new levy. When is the last time any of us have gone seven years without a raise? During this time of no raises, they were able to pay off past accomplishments states "treasurer of last successful school levy." The problem with this statement is that it is inaccurate. Randall Fagan was treasurer of that school levy. By putting those kinds of statements in print it makes you wonder what else Dave Gillock is lying about.

Response: We checked with Dave Gillock concerning the statement in his literature and he said he was referring to the 1995 levy-the last school levy for "new money," and acknowledged that the statement could have been clearer. He said he was treasurer of levy campaigns for several years, before turning the job over to Randall Fagan.

Editor's Note: The following Pressline call has been edited for space.

Caller: The only reason Jim Johnson is bringing in Tom Dake for safety service director is to court the Republican vote...there were rumors during the Primary that if Dake was elected to the mayoral ticket, he would keep Johnson on as safety service director. When Dake lost, he pledged to support the Republican candidate and the Republican ticket, this is not much support...these are the same two people who are relying on tax-and spend.

Johnson supported the police levy without first looking at cost-cutting savings and Dake is actively pushing the school levy-not that they don't need it, but they made some misleading statements on what would be taxed...Johnson and the assistant law director are saying the sign ordinance is unconstitutional... when Johnson took office, he swore to uphold the laws of this city...he's the biggest violator of all.

Response: We checked the May 14 issue of The Press & Light concerning the allegation that Tom Dake promised to support the Republican ticket after he lost the May Primary to Dave Gillock. The following is what was printed.

"My hat's off to Dave, he worked hard," Dake said, "We gave him a good run."

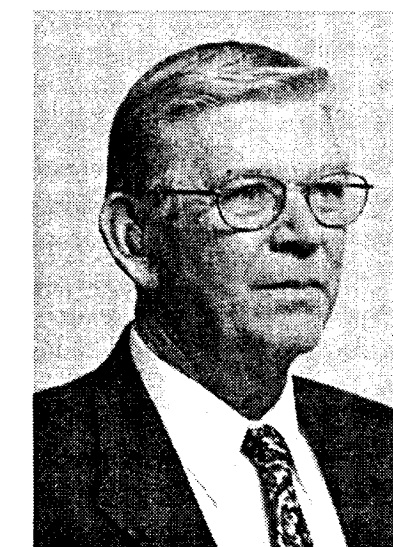

Will Dake support Gillock in November?

"At the Republican meeting I said I would do that," he said. "I am a Republican."

Clerk's office is one of city's most valuable resources

As your city's Ward II council member, I would like to talk about one of our most valuable resources for information that we have in our city regarding our government. Ask our city clerks what they do and you will receive a variety of responses.

Traditional responsibilities have changed with the times and with the evolving demands on our city government and the expectations of the public.

Our clerks assemble council agendas and information. They prepare and preserve the city's records in the form of council minutes, bylaws or ordinances, agreements and other legal documents, prepare legal notices, arrange and record public hearings and manage our city's archives.

They also have a financial responsibility to live within their budget.

It can certainly be said that our clerk of council's office performs a variety of complex tasks. What has

Council Corner

By Allen Swindig

been retained from the traditional definition of the clerk's role, and what is increasingly impacted by change, is the responsibility our clerk's office bears for our legislative process and open records laws.

Our clerk of council's office has a combination of duties. Not only are our clerks responsible for the day-to-day operations of the traditional role of a clerk and maintaining city council records, they must maintain all records of our civil service commission, board of zoning and building appeals, planning commission, tax abatement review board and the records commission.

Whatever the combination of duties, our clerk's office has an important obligation and responsibility toward the fairness and openness to the access of records and information to all parties, the council, administration and residents, as mandated by our local and state laws. Everything our clerk's office does must enhance the probability that they will be seen as impartial because it is through impartiality that fair and open government is maintained.

Our clerks' office is actively involved in information dissemination both prior to and after council meetings. They inform the community about city business not only through legal advertisements, but also through postings on bulletin boards located in each ward, our government access channel and providing agendas and minutes to our computer services department for placement on the Internet.

Our clerk of council's office is a wealth of information for any resident or business owner. To list all the information they can provide would require more space. Their information seems endless from animal to zoning regulations.

They also maintain rosters of all boards and commissions. Next time you may have a question regarding your city government, call our city clerk of council's office at 353-1508 or 353-0813.

I would like to urge all residents to exercise their right to vote at the General Election on Nov. 4.

Supports Arndt for council

To the Editor:

We are writing to give our opinion as to why Ron Arndt would be a capable and valuable asset to our city of North Ridgeville by holding a position on city council.

Our years of friendship with Ron date back into the 70s, when we chose him to be our family dentist. He is a man who, along with being very professional, is also very personable, has a great sense of humor and quick wit that adds to his friendly personality. He never hesitates to go that extra mile in any of his endeavors.

As our dentist, we found him to be a perfectionist, following up his work, if needed, with a personal evening phone call to the home. He is a kind and gentle person who never settles for second best. As far as Ron is concerned, the job isn't done until he, and all parties involved, are completely satisfied.

Today, as a professional business coach, Ron gives guidance to employers, most of whom are dentists. He shows them ways to motivate their staff while keeping a happy work environment. This results in satisfied patients or customers, which ultimately leads to an increase in business.

We believe he has all the qualities and more that you would look for in a council representative.

Hill supports levy

To the Editor:

I took office as mayor eight years ago. During those years, I have clearly made my support for our schools a top priority. Any tax abatement included negotiated provisions for direct financial contributions to the city schools. When a shopping strip opened, tax incentive financing was directed so road improvements could be made without impacting the schools.

The police chief and I worked hand-in-hand with school officials to establish a School Resource Police Officer program. Our police officers continue to be an integral part of the school curriculum. Whenever a request has come from our educational system, the response has been positive. The city-schools collaboration has grown stronger with each passing year.

The logic of this unprecedented cooperation and mutual support is simple. Our children need to believe their futures are important to their families, their city leaders and their entire community. Armed with that belief, hope blossoms, self-esteem thrives, self-respect grows and productive, successful citizens result.

Therefore, as a former teacher, as the mayor of the City of North Ridgeville, I am taking a public stand on behalf of the futures of our children and of our community. I will be voting in favor of the school levy on Nov. 4.

Deanna L. Hill
Mayor, North Ridgeville

Growing community needs levy

To the Editor:

I am in favor of a school levy. You cannot run an efficient school system without a sufficient amount of money. With our increased growth of the community, additional growth dollars are of course needed. The better the school system, the higher the property value of our city. Seniors also benefit from the levy-better schools mean better young adults. Better young adults mean less troubled teens and less trouble from them.

Safety is another issue that the levy money works for. Newer buses will safely bring our students to and from school. Our average bus age is 13-our state's average is only eight. The cost is really not all that much. A family of four that grosses $50,000 only pays $4.35 a week and a senior with a gross of $30,000 only pays $1.69 a week. North Ridgeville needs this levy to keep up with our great city's promising future. Keep all of the generations of children on a great educational future. Pass this levy.

Setting record straight

To the Editor:

I would like to set the record straight. During the Lear North open house I was approached by the fourth-grade teachers asking if I could bring my ice cream truck to the school after proficiency testing on Oct. 7 as a special treat to the kids.

I of course, said yes, but first this needed to be approved. The teachers did this first through the principal then the site base committee. It was a go.

The kids were sent home flyers provided by the school, if they chose to participate they should send in their money by Oct. 3. On that day I had several phone conversations with the principal and he expressed that some parents had called to complain to him as well as to the board of education. These few people were concerned over the legality of having the ice cream truck on school property during school hours.

I know this ordinance inside out (I helped write it). If I am invited to a school at a certain time and date it is LEGAL! Another issue was where the money would go. I had to pay for an extra month of insurance for this one event and the cost of the ice cream so there wouldn't have been a profit after that.

This was simply a nice, fun way to reward the kids' hard work. Approximately 90 percent of the students chose to participate by sending in their money. For unknown reasons (forgot to send in money, child out sick, negative parental response) the remaining 10 percent did not participate, consequently, the Board of Education cancelled the special treat due to the few complaints that they received.

Lesson learned: Minority rules at Lear North School.

So sorry kids.

Ron Arndt is running for council-at-large in North Ridgeville. From my close acquaintance with him, I consider him an outstanding council choice. I strongly recommend his support.

Health district balks at dye testing until DeWine steps in

By Carol Klear

Ron and Sara Siemientkowski continue the battle for the justice they feel is being denied them over the house they purchased on Gloria Avenue more than four years ago.

When the Siemientkowskis first lived in their home, they allegedly suffered numerous illnesses. It wasn't until Theresa Workman, their next door neighbor told them that when construction was underway at their home, workers snagged her leach bed, which caused a sewage discharge onto the construction site.

For some time the Siemientkowskis have demanded proof that Workman abandoned her septic system and is connected to the city's sanitary sewer, as ordered by the Lorain County Health Department in 1999, but have been unsuccessful.

Although both the city and the health department officials seemed satisfied that Workman was tied into the sewer, there seem to be no records proving that her septic tank had been pumped and crushed.

According to the maintenance section of the residential sewage regulations, of the Lorain County General Health District revised through Feb. 12, 2003, "A septic tank or a tank for an aeration system shall be pumped at least once every five years, or more frequently, if necessary to prevent discharge of solids through the overflow.

But preaching is not what Yost and Community Care are about.

"Judgment will come at a later time and by a much higher being," she said.

As one day moves to the next and one week becomes two, three or more, Yost said she doesn't foresee a "great surge of jobs."

Some of the clients that come through the doors of Community Care Yost calls "the working poor." They with Detto.

Acting BZA President Joan Lissner asked Detto if a traffic study had been done.

"It has to be done," Detto said. "We paid the city, but I never have seen one."

Linda Masterson fired questions at Detto about the type of driveway he plans, whether the road would be private or public and if he would buffer the planned housing from the driving range at the sports complex.

Chuck Bowman reminded Detto that the police chief prefers his new street to line up with Evergreen Drive that runs south off Center Ridge Road, but the developer said he has met with Thomas and may be able to angle the street across from Evergreen.

"We'll work it out in the best interest of the police department," he said.

Pat Dreger said she is concerned about traffic backup with Evergreen, a dead end street.

"There's the potential for a traffic jam," she said.

"Everyone's concerned, but they haven't seen a plan yet," Detto said. "We're trying to get a street to Center Ridge Road. We're trying to do something right."

"How many units will there be?" Lissner asked. "We're trying to get a sense of what you're doing so we can do our job."

Councilwoman Nancy Buescher stressed a section in "Such work shall be performed by a person who holds a valid registration issued by the Board of Health. Such person shall furnish proof of the pumping of any tank upon a form devised by and available from the Health Department."

In checking with several septic cleaning companies, The Press & Light was told that if the pumpers do not report the cleanings, they could lose their licenses.

In a Sept. 15, 2003 letter to the Siemientkowskis, Jim Boddy, director of environmental health for the health district wrote, "I have reviewed your lengthy document and wish to inform you that we are satisfied that the above referenced sewage system has been abandoned and that the home has been directly connected to the sanitary sewerage system serving that area of North Ridgeville."

During a taped telephone conversation, Sept. 24, 2003, provided to The Press & Light by Ron Siemientkowski, Boddy said that despite a lack of records, he was "confident" the septic system no longer exists. When questioned, Boddy said he was relying on conversations he had with his staff, specifically Mark Smith, registered sanitarian and the City of North Ridgeville to support his contention the system had been abandoned.

On the tape, Boddy was heard refusing Ron Siemientkowski's request for dye testing at the Workman are working, but the pay is low and the job offers no medical insurance.

Last week the organization's 45 volunteers held a garage sale. Yost said they keep all the donated clothes, children's toys and household items for six months; whatever has not been distributed by then is sold at the twice-a-year garage sale and the proceeds converted to funds for food or other necessities.

Although several local churches have ongoing food drives and some people routinely donate food, with the rising need, the organization never has an overabundance of food. Yost stresses that since moving into the charter referring to multi-family zoning. She also said that the BZA could refuse a request for R-2 use in a B-2 classification.

"I consider it a strain on the safety forces," she said. Buescher also said it is "unthinkable" that 125 acres of commercial land would be so casually turned over for residential use.

"Center Ridge Road is prime commercial land," she said.

Assistant Law Director Toni Morgan reminded Buescher that the land would remain B-2, but would be conditionally used as R-2 with the same requirements as R-2. Otten Road resident Joe Antush also referenced the specific section of the charter.

"It has to go to a vote of the people," he said. "The charter supercedes anything else."

"This goes against the spirit of the charter," Buescher said. "One hundred twenty-five acres is a huge area."

Detto said he would only be using 49.5 acres.

"Conditional use for 49.5 acres?" Lissner asked. "I don't see that anywhere. I don't mean any offense, Mr. Detto, but you're like trying to catch the wind."

Buescher said she too was unaware that the plan was for just 49 acres and said she had no objections to 49 acres.

"It's difficult for me, Mr. Detto," Lissner said. "If you've got a plan, that's terrific, but not what you're intending to do."

Detto said he'd have to get preliminary plans approved, but presently he was requesting conditional home twice, saying he didn't think the dye testing was warranted.

When Ron Siemientkowski spoke to Smith less than two hours later, Smith also said there are no records that the Workman system had been pumped out.

"There is no official documentation that you know of?" Ron Siemientkowski asked.

"No," Smith said.

The Siemientkowskis have been protesting the problems they have had with their house over the past four years, including sewage on their property from the Workman's leach bed. They have spent hours picketing in North Ridgeville, Elyria and Cleveland. Last month they went to Washington, D.C. where they spoke to U.S. Sens. Mike DeWine and George Voinovich.

Following their conversation with the senators, they received a follow-up letter. According to Smith, the health district received a letter from DeWine and on Oct. 3, Smith performed the dye test at the Workman house, using dark green dye, which traveled from Workman's toilet along the sewer line to the corner, where the dye could be seen in an open manhole approximately 15 minutes later.

At the site Workman recalled that Modern Poured Walls had crushed her septic tank, but said she refused to sign any papers because of being named in the Siemientkowski's lawsuit.

the new building about 20 months ago, they have obtained several freezers and a refrigerator, which allows them to accept perishable food.

In addition to the food, clothing and other items Community Care gives to its clients, the organization has begun offering programs, such as the one on nutrition initiated recently.

Soon the volunteers will begin gathering food for the annual Thanksgiving baskets, followed by preparations for the Christmas store.

"My hope is that the haves will reach out to the have-nots," she said.

use. He also said he would not present a final design until he gets permission for the R-2 district.

Lissner reminded the developer that both the engineer and the police chief say the roads (Evergreen and the road from his development) have to connect.

"This is a concept plan," Masterson told Detto. "Nothing is in concrete, you could move the road."

Dreger said that Detto couldn't do anything until the BZA sets the conditions and hooking up with Evergreen could be a condition.

"We can mandate a traffic study," Masterson said.

"We could set a fair number of conditions," Lissner said.

"I don't have the final say," Detto said. "The city does."

Councilwoman Bernadine Butkowski objected to granting conditional use for the B-2 property, noting that the city is "hurting financially" and that the land should remain a business district.

"I can't imagine giving up that property," she said. "We only have property and income tax. I hate to see anything like this."

Lissner halted several minutes of sparring between Butkowski and Detto.

"We're not going to turn this into a war," she said. "We can't hold Mr. Detto responsible for the lack of business. That's capricious. We (BZA) should not make decisions on what might happen, but deal with what is."

The vote was taken to postpone a decision.

TIME OUT

Lake Ridge fall teams on a roll

The Lake Ridge Academy fall sports teams have put together quite an impressive season thus far. Three teams have sealed winning records while a fourth has doubled the amount of victories they had last year.

Joe Ostrica

One of the biggest surprises has been the Lady Royals volleyball squad. On paper, it appeared it would be a rebuilding period as Lake Ridge has only one senior and lacks in height. But that senior, Katie O'Grady is a true leader now in her fourth year of varsity action and will go down as one of the best Lake Ridge has ever had on their court.

Her young teammates, who were looking to improve and be competitive at the beginning of the season, have a desire to win and aren't satisfied unless they've done so. They could surprise some people in the postseason.

Despite not having last year's leader, exchange student Nicolai Gropper, the Royals soccer squad has managed to win as many games as they did in the regular season last year (eight). What's even more impressive is they did it without Court Flannery (who was second in goals and assists last year) while playing a tough schedule that featured several Division I opponents.

The Royals golf team, led by sophomore sensation Brett Cannaday, secured a winning record (7-6-1) on their final match of the season. It's a great accomplishment for this young team that went just 4-12 the previous year.

While the field hockey team doesn't have a winning record, their 6-9-1 mark gives them twice as many wins as they had last year (3-12-1). The Lady Royals, who scored just 18 goals in 2001 and 2002 combined, have 27 goals heading into their sectional matchup with Orange.

Here's hoping the Royals' volleyball, soccer and field hockey teams can continue their success in the sectionals this week.

Matuszyn hangs with the boys
It didn't take too long for Lake Ridge Academy freshman Shannon Matuszyn, the school's first female to play on the soccer team in three years, to impress Royals soccer coach Steve Anderson.

"She missed the pre-season but we have all have confidence that she can keep up with the boys," Anderson said. "She's a smart player and is very composed. She's very skilled and has a bright future."

Matuszyn recorded her first assist in a 2-0 victory over Lutheran West last week.

"She had a beautiful assist," Anderson said about the play. "She hit a beautiful ball up to Russ (Smith) and he was able to finish it."

Check the record books
It may not have been the first time it's happened, but it sure would be worth checking the record books. Last week was fantastic for North Ridgeville football teams as all five teams from the middle school and the high school had victories.

The varsity, JV and freshman teams won for the first time in the same week this season while the seventh and eighth-grade football teams recorded victories over Eastern Heights Middle School of Elyria.

LRA soccer team looks to avenge Open Door losses

By Joe Ostrica

The Lake Ridge Academy boys soccer team knew it would come to this. And they couldn't be any happier.

The Royals will travel to Open Door Christian tomorrow for a 4 p.m. Division III first round sectionals matchup. Open Door knocked LRA out of the district semifinals last year in a 2-1 overtime thriller. The Patriots (10-6 as of P&L deadline) also defeated the Royals in their fourth game of the season in a 2-1 contest.

"I know (the losses) are in the back of their minds," LRA head coach Steve Anderson said about his team. "Open Door is a very good team and is well coached. We have to come with our A-game to beat them."

The Royals will have to find a way to contain Open Door's Aaron Duncel, who is among the state's top 10 Division III scorers with 30 goals.

"Aaron is a great player," Anderson said. "He's the coach's son. They know how to win and they're pretty well balanced."

The Royals are not quite as balanced as they could be. Senior Court Flannery, who was second on the team in scoring and assists last year, has been out the entire season due to a knee injury. With the broken leg senior sweeper Aalap Narichania suffered a couple of weeks ago, the Royals are playing without the two best athletes in the school.

"It doesn't help to lose two of my best players who are seniors and leaders," Anderson said. "But I think the team's attitude is fantastic. We had two very tough games at the Maumee Valley tournament. We're in a transition and trying to adjust to a new lineup. Aalap has been sweeper the last two years. With him out, how do we replace him without losing some strong outside players?"

Lake Ridge Academy senior Jeff Ader and his teammates hope the third time is the charm as the Royals take on Open Door in Thursday's sectional matchup.

The lineup changes have seen senior Keith Rathbone, one of the team's stronger markers, moved to sweeper. Since the two losses at Maumee Valley, the Royals have defeated Lutheran West (2-0) and lost to Amherst (1-0).

"We started playing better in the second half of our win against Lutheran West," Anderson said. "I think we played kind of sloppy but we did what we had to do to win. We'll take it."

After Vishal Parikh put the Royals up 1-0 midway through the second half against Lutheran West, senior Russ Smith scored one of his team-leading 12 goals off a pass by Shannon Matuszyn. Smith also has six assists for the year.

"I think Russ has led by example," Anderson said. "He's giving 100 percent out there. Full speed all the time, trying to create things and finishing with scoring, which is super."

Junior Chris Severs is second on the team with six goals and tied with Smith

Lady Rangers senior night foiled by Normandy

By Joe Ostrica

North Ridgeville High School girls soccer coach Bill Fielder knew Normandy was going to be a tough opponent. The Invaders were entering last weekend's contest with an 11-3-1 record. So he decided to use a 4-5-1 strategy.

"We played with four defenders, five midfielders and one forward," he said. "That's the best chance I thought we had at being successful. We strengthened our midfield to try to beat theirs. For the most part it worked well. We didn't get a lot of offense but we knew we weren't. It also forced them to take shots from farther out. I think with the way (goalkeeper Jill) Stewart has been playing it could have been possible."

And for 67 minutes it appeared it was. But with just under 13 minutes remaining in the contest, Normandy found the back of the net to go up 1-0. The Invaders added two more goals in the final three minutes to disappoint the hearts of the Lady Rangers, who came on the losing end of a 3-0 contest on Senior Night.

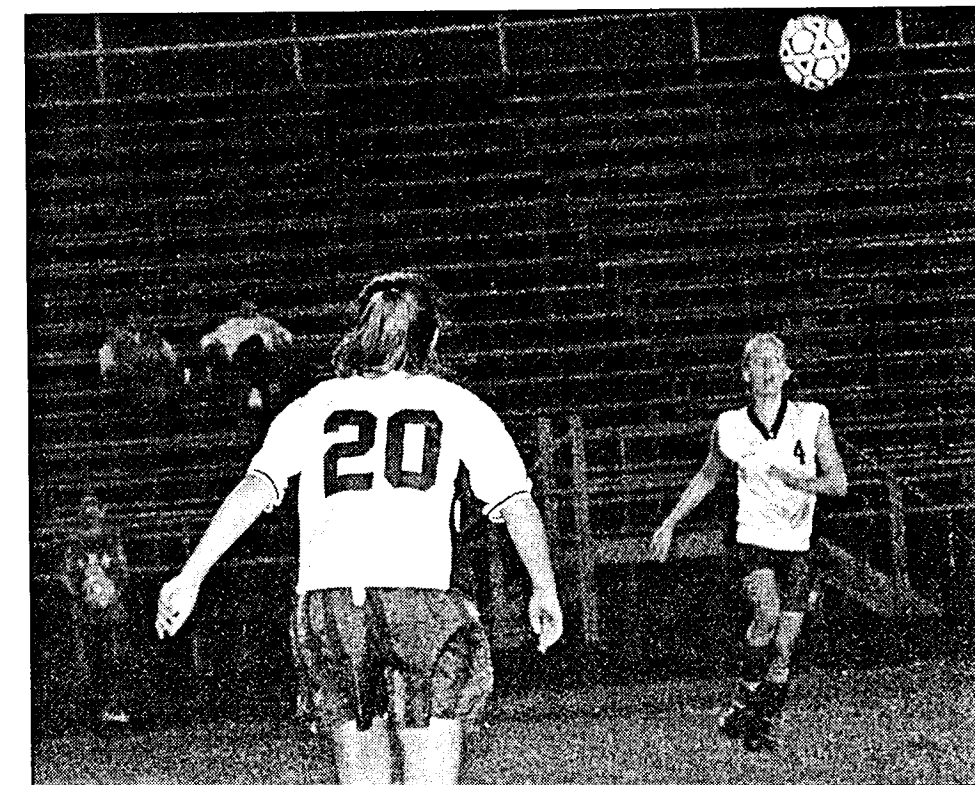

"We hung with them 80 percent of the game," Fielder said. "There's something to be said about that. We were up for this game, no doubt about it. That helped us start. We worked hard, marked hard and played well defensively. A 0-0 tie in that game would have been an excellent result. They have 12 wins so I would take a tie."

Stewart had a busy night recording 22 saves, giving her 148 for the season.

"She gave an outstanding performance in goal," Fielder praised. "She kept us in the game. She kept that system going. Jill made a lot of nice saves."

Stewart didn't just sit back and wait for the shots to come to her. She made some risky plays by coming far out of the box several times.

"I've encouraged her to be more aggressive," Fielder said. "That's one of her strengths. She comes out and she's a force. It's working. She gives us day-to-day shot stopping."

It was an emotional night for the NRHS seniors as they were honored in the pre-game ceremonies. Fielder said he was pleased with the performance of Crystal Matjasic, Emily Gottshing, Heather Miller, Meghan Sumney, Allison Zupancic, Melissa Fetz and Stewart.

"I thought my seniors came together as a group and were up for the moment," he said. "They were ready. I think it flowed to the underclassmen. I think it helped. They set the tone."

"I'm going to miss this group of seniors. In my first year as head coach here, it was great to work with this group. It's going to be hard to replace

Rangers hold on against Midpark for third victory

By Joe Ostrica

The North Ridgeville High School football team had their best offensive effort since the season opener as they jumped out to a 20-0 halftime lead at Midpark last week.

"It was great to get a nice lead on Midpark," NRHS head coach Keith Rybarczyk said. "The offensive line did a nice job. We thought we could run the ball on them inside and we wanted to do that early. The line got key blocks and Sean (Knox) threw the ball well in the first half. It was nice going up 20-0."

But the Rangers weren't through yet as the defense scored for the first time this year.

After Midpark pulled within 20-7 in the third quarter, the game appeared to be over after Ridgeville's Joe Cover returned an interception 20 yards to put the Rangers up 27-7 in the fourth quarter.

"Terry Branch set that whole play up," Rybarczyk said about the senior lineman. "Our defensive line got a nice rush on their quarterback and Terry tipped the ball. Terry led that interception off and Joe was in the right place at the right time. That score ended up being huge for us, so it was nice seeing the defense getting one for us."

Midpark rallied with back-to-back touchdowns to pull within 27-21. The Meteors had a chance to spoil the Rangers' efforts with less than two minutes remaining. But once again, the Ranger defense came to the rescue as Isiah Brewer and Johnny Stump recorded sacks to seal the victory.

The 27 points by the offense raises North Ridgeville's scoring total to 105 points through eight games, more than doubling last year's 51 total points scored. Ranger fullback Mike Baumann scored his seventh touchdown of the season on a 1-yard run. John McGraw silenced critics who don't think freshmen should play varsity when he exploded for 58 yards on a punt return to get his first varsity TD of his young career.

Senior quarterback Sean Knox had his best game in three weeks, going 4-for-7 and 107 yards, including an 80-yard touchdown pass to Jordan White.

The victory improves the Rangers to 2-1 in the Heritage Division of the Pioneer Conference and 3-5 overall. Next week they'll travel to Brecksville (2-1, 3-5). Brecksville is coming off of a 21-17 victory over Berea (2-1, 4-4). The Rangers will return home for their final game of the season and honor their seniors in an Oct. 24 contest against Normandy (1-2, 3-5).

"We're going to stress to the kids all week that this is for our Heritage Division Championship," Rybarczyk said about the upcoming game at Brecksville. "The kids knew when we got on the bus that Brecksville knocked off Berea. This is a division championship game as far as we're concerned. The kids are pumped up and there's no doubt the win on Friday will keep us on a high note throughout practice this week."

Malinich, Fulton and Striebing earn conference honors

The North Ridgeville High School cross country team competed in the Pioneer Conference Championship meet at Brecksville last Saturday.

The top five Rangers were Tim Malinich, Nick Rundle, Michael Tague, Micah Wall and Matt Poland. Also competing for North Ridgeville were Jacob Nelson, Angelo Tombado, Joe Downey and Brad Smith. Turning in personal best times for the season were Malinich and Poland.

The top five Lady Rangers were Laura Fulton, Jessica Striebing, Kori Branscum, Kaitlyn McCarthy and Dana Spangenberg. Also competing for the Lady Rangers were Nicky Phelps and Tracey Lucas. Turning in a personal best time for the season was McCarthy.

"This is probably the toughest course we ran all season," head coach Kevin Drapcho said of Brecksville's hilly course. "But it's a great course to run because it really changes you both mentally and physically and our runners responded very well. Each of them ran this course faster this time than the last time we ran here for the Bruce Leach Memorial."

Malinich posted a personal best time of 18:48 and received Pioneer Conference second team recognition. Earning honorable mention for the boys team were Rundle and Tague. The boys finished fifth out of six places in the Heritage Division. Earning honorable mention for the girls were Fulton and Striebing. The girls finished last out of six places.

LRA secures winning record

Sitting on an 8-6 record after a disappointing loss to Open Door Christian, the Lake Ridge Academy volleyball team needed just one more win in the final three games of the regular season.

But one win wasn't enough for the Lady Royals.

Lake Ridge finished out the regular season with three straight victories to finish their regular season schedule with an 11-6 record. Last year the Lady Royals finished 7-10 in the regular season.

While the wins over Elyria First Baptist and Andrews came rather easily, Columbia gave the Lady Royals a nice challenge. After losing the first match 15-7, Lake Ridge came back to win two close matches 15-13 and 16-14.

By winning six out of their last seven games, the Lady Royals ride into Tuesday's (after P&L deadline) sectional matchup with Open Door with a lot of confidence.

LRA golfers seal winning season, earn NSAC honors

The Lake Ridge Academy golf team ended the season on a high note with a 181-226 victory over Medina Christian Academy.

The Royals' Brett Cannaday was the medalist for the 12th time this year with a 1-under par 34 at Cherry Ridge Country Club. Lake Ridge's Ian Anderson (47) and Troy Hatcher (48) finished second and third, respectively.

The victory seals a winning season for the Royals, giving them a 7-6-1 record for the season. Lake Ridge finished 3-2-1 in the North Shore Athletic Conference for second place. Open Door Christian won the NSAC crown at 5-1.

"All the golfers were really excited after last night's match," LRA assistant coach Lee Cannaday said. "With the win we have a winning season. This was a huge stepping-stone for our team."

Cannaday was also named the NSAC Player of the Year. Anderson made the NSAC first-team along with Cannaday, Open Door's Sam Simon and Jerod Herron, Lorain Catholic's Tino Argenti and Matt Cooper and Elyria First Baptist's Andrew Conner. The Royals' Brian Veber made the NSAC second-team while Hatcher and Adam Bruer received honorable mention.

Field hockey team doubles victories

With their 3-1 victory over Hawken last week, the Lake Ridge Academy field hockey team doubled the amount of wins they had last year.

Sophomore Maya Ranganathan (two goals) and junior Mari Wagner (one goal, one save) led the Lady Royals. Ranganathan and Wagner each have five goals for the season, tying them with Emily Evans for second-place on the team. Jenny Lee added an assist and Morgan Szulewski-Francis had 15 saves for Lake Ridge.

The victory improves the Lady Royals to 6-9-1 for the season. Last year they finished 3-12-1, with one of the wins coming in the postseason.

Lake Ridge will travel to Orange Tuesday (after P&L deadline) for a sectional matchup.

The Lady Royals defeated Orange 3-0 earlier this season.

N.R. JV, freshman and St. Peter football roundups

The North Ridgeville High School JV football team ended their two-game losing streak by winning a hard fought and tight 18-12 contest over Midpark.

Quarterback Max Rothacker spread the ball around, completing at least one pass to five different receivers. Mike Roysden and Ryan Trout each had a touchdown reception and Johnny Stumpf added a rushing score.

"We had the lead at the half and felt we could put more points on the board in the second half," JV head coach Jeff Sprague said. "We drove the ball well in the second half getting inside Midpark's 20 four times, but we just could not punch it in."

The Rangers' defense came up with an outstanding stop on their 15-yard line to preserve the victory.

"The kids played with a lot of heart and determination to pull out this win," Sprague said. "As our numbers have gotten smaller (17 total) we have become stronger, which continues to show a lot of promise and hope for the next few years."

The JV squad will host Brecksville Saturday at 10 a.m.

Freshmen shutout Midpark

The NRHS freshman football team improved to 6-1 on the season after defeating Midpark 22-0. John McGraw rushed for 110 yards on 17 carries and scored two touchdowns and one two-point conversion.

McGraw opened the game with a touchdown on an 80-yard kickoff return. Josh Houser scored a touchdown on an 8-yard reception and Zach Reisner scored a two-point conversion. Cody McDaniel (45 yards), Robert Kidd (34 yards) and Reisner (27 yards) rounded out the Rangers' offense.

The rushing game was made possible by the offensive line work by Elliot Rodriguez, Justin Rogerson, Matt Priebe, Jeff Miller, Cory Basco, Tony Lovasz, Rich Reisner, Greg Hyer, Pat Faragher and Ryan Venus.

The victory was the fourth shutout of the season for the Rangers' defense, which was backed by standout performances by Jeremy Howells, Rich Franklin, Chris Longacre, Mike Biggs, Josh Houser, Craig Martin, Jon Rosado, Mohammed Wahdan and Tim Fulton.

Franklin had a fumble recovery and Martin had an interception. The defense had 10 quarterback sacks or tackles for loss.

The freshmen will host Brecksville tomorrow at 4:15 p.m.

Saints suffer second loss

The St. Peter seventh and eight-grade football team suffered their second loss in a row, this time at the hands of St. Collombkille of Parma Heights in a 28-6 contest.

What loss looms even larger for St. Peter is that of tailback Richie Baker, who will now miss the remainder of the season with an ankle fracture. The Saints were forced to change their game plan when Baker went down in the first quarter of play.

But the Saints continued to play hard and never quit. St. Peter's lone score came in the fourth quarter. After quarterback Pat Flanagan connected with Jayson Graham for a 28-yard reception, Flanagan followed with a scoring run from three yards out.

Good performances on defense for the Saints came from Joe Andulics, Tim Ice, Kyle Koberna, Anthony Valletta, Nick Nelson, Brian Dowdell, Mike Oradini, Flanagan and Graham. In addition to Graham (nine carries for 35 yards and two receptions for 62 yards), the Saints had nice offensive performances by Dan Accorti, Zack Hice, Tom Folley, Joe Lalond and Chris Taljan.

Despite the loss, the Saints (now 3-3) find themselves in a position of qualifying for the playoffs with a win over St. John Boscoe this weekend.

NR SOCCER, from page 8

now have a desire to win and compete. There's been a dramatic change from the beginning of the season. I can't be happier with their improvement and how hard they try when they are out there."

If the underclassmen can continue to give the effort they gave in the final 11 games of the season and follow the examples of the seniors, Fielder believes the Lady Rangers will be on track to be a winning program. He used Normandy as the perfect example.

"I can't stress enough how proud I am of this team," Fielder said. "If we can keep this up for the next few years, we're going to be a solid team. You can't build a team overnight. It takes a few years. Four years ago Normandy won two games. This year they've won 12."

North Ridgeville will host Olmsted Falls at 7 p.m. today for a sectional matchup at Ranger Stadium. Olmsted Falls defeated the Lady Rangers 6-0 in the season opener.

LRA SOCCER, from page 8

with six assists.

"Chris is playing pretty well," Anderson said. "I'm asking a lot of him too, because I moved him to center midfielder and I'm trying to make him more of a diverse player."

Despite the obstacles the Royals have faced thus far, they've managed to remain on track of where they were at this point last year when they finished the season with a 9-7-1 record. Even without foreign exchange student Nicolai Gropper, who led the team with 23 goals last year, and a schedule that features more Division I opponents, the Royals are currently 8-6-2.

Parking lot coughs up four underground gasoline tanks

By Carol Klear

If you drove past Ridge Cleaners at the intersection of Center Road and Avon Belden roads recently you may have seen a major portion of the parking lot being chewed up by heavy machinery. And if you stuck around to watch, you would have seen four underground gas tanks being pulled up and hauled away.

Although the dry cleaning operation has been at the corner for years and years, at one time there was a gas station there known as Jones Service Station and the tanks were remnants of a time long ago.

Rosalice (Posey) Pszenitzki and her late husband, Jack, rented the building in 1949 and opened Jack's Men's Shop in the front, while running a dry cleaning route in the rear portion of the building.

"Jack had the route and Crystal Clear did the dry cleaning," Posey said. "People would put cards in their windows when they had dry cleaning to be picked up."

The men's shop did well during special times of the year like Christmas, she said, but the dry cleaning route was more stable.

One day when they were taking a ride, Jack and Posey stopped in Norwalk to check out a dry cleaning machine that was for sale and were surprised when the salesman asked how many pounds of dry cleaning they would have.

"You have to have so many pounds of clothes a day to support a dry cleaning business," Posey said. "We didn't know anything about dry cleaning."

When they totaled the number of pounds they handled in a week, the salesman told them he was sure they had enough to operate a dry cleaning business.

Jack and Posey were just 23 and 21, respectively, at the time and Posey still laughs when she recalls that her mom "co-signed for a loan to get a dry cleaning machine."

Sohio supplied gasoline for Jones Service Station in front of the cleaners.

"It was just a small neighborhood gas station," Posey said. "Of course we knew the tanks were there."

When Sohio decided to relocate the station across the street, Pszenitzkis tore the old station down and turned the space into parking for the dry cleaners.

Although they had no intention of buying real estate at the time, Posey said the owners of the building offered to sell it to them in installments equal to what they paid in rent. The difference was, he told them, "In the end you'll own it."

Next door to Ridge Cleaners presently is the Medicine Man Tattoo shop, but in the early days it was Spitzer's Drug Store, Posey recalled.

"We heard it was up for sale and since it was almost attached to the building, we talked to the realtor," she said. Eventually they ended up owning the entire corner, but still the old gas tanks remained buried underground.

About 10 years ago, Posey said, the EPA began cracking down on buried tanks and she remembered the gas tanks from Jones Service Station. When she decided to sell the building, she told the realtor what was buried under the parking lot.

Two weeks ago the tanks were removed and Posey was surprised to learn there were four tanks instead of the two she thought were buried there. Since then she has been going through the process of checking the soil.

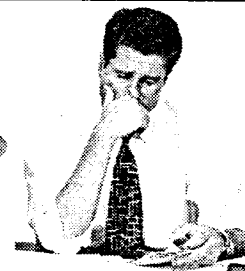

"We wanted to find out how contaminated it was," she said, and what type of clean up, if any would be necessary. So far the news has been good and borings have shown that the soil is well below levels considered contaminated, Posey said.

One of the four gas tanks, buried under the parking area in front of Ridge Cleaners is hoisted out of the ground. Four old, bent gas tanks were pulled out of the ground and hauled away.

CHEWING TOBACCO AND CAVITIES

We all know that tobacco products are not good for us. The cancer causing qualities of tobacco, whether it's smoked or chewed, are well documented. But American Dental Association researchers have also established that the habit can also contribute to other oral problems including cavities. The study, in fact, showed that chewing tobacco users are four times more likely than non-users to develop tooth decay. The study found that men who used only chewing tobacco had a higher adjusted average number of decayed or filled permanent teeth than did those who used only snuff. It was also true when compared with men who used only cigarettes or more than one form of tobacco or who never used tobacco.

Among the researchers' conclusions was that the high level of fermentable sugar in chewing tobacco products stimulates the growth of cavity-causing bacteria. Since a wad of tobacco is normally kept in the mouth an average of 30 minutes and since the tobacco is normally used throughout the day, the teeth are exposed to the sugar for prolonged periods.

LRA's Johnson publishes book

Lake Ridge Academy drama teacher Maureen Brady Johnson has published her second book. She was asked by Smith and Kraus publishers to write her first book "Middle Mania" after they had seen an article she had written in "Teaching Theatre" magazine. Her second book "Middle Mania Two" follows one year after the first book as a continuation of imaginative ideas for integrating and teaching drama in middle school.

Johnson has been teaching and directing theater at Lake Ridge Academy since 1981.

Your child has trouble learning.
 You've encouraged her.
 You've pleaded with her.
 You've disciplined her.
 You've tutored her.
 You've prayed for her.

Please spend a few minutes finding out how we can help her.

440-835-9337

If you and your child have struggled with learning issues and have grown increasingly frustrated with the programs you've tried and the results you've gotten, now there's hope.

LearningRx is not a tutoring course. It is an intensive, 12-week, one-on-one cognitive training program that helps children overcome their struggles with learning and reading. Children diagnosed with ADD, ADHD and dyslexia can also benefit significantly. If your child has difficulty paying attention, reading, spelling, remembering math facts, focusing, recalling information, comprehending, or is working too hard for grades, a call to LearningRx may provide the answer. We target the cause of the problem, not the symptoms. To find out how we can help, visit LearningRx.com or call 440-835-9337 to schedule a cognitive skills assessment for your child.

READ & USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

How to Handle a Poor Report Card

As parents, you want your child to do well in school, so what do you do when your child's report card isn't as good as it should be?

1) Set expectations. This includes grades earned as well as the level of effort put forth by the student.

2) Communicate with your child. Consistency is the key. Talk every night about homework and discuss what is challenging her.

3) Discuss your child's performance with his teacher and/or guidance counselor. They can provide progress reports in between report cards or additional parent-teacher conferences.

4) Set goals for improvement with your child. Goals should be reasonable, yet challenge him to strive for improvement.

5) Establish a study plan with your child. This should include a schedule of class assignments, project deadlines and extracurricular activities.

6) Seek outside help. Tutors or supplemental education providers can help your child work toward better grades in school.

7) Praise your child's successes. Focus on something positive to preserve her confidence.

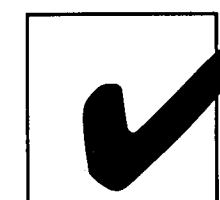

Contact the Westlake Sylvan Learning Center (440) 835-7000 or the Sheffield Sylvan Learning Center (440) 934-6651 for more information. Be sure to ask about the FREE Parent Seminars at Sheffield Oct. 21 and Oct. 22. This is a paid advertisement.

POLICE BLOTTERS

By Carol Klear

Police called to NRHS

The principal at North Ridgeville High School requested an officer to identify a substance found on students. Two students were referred to police for possible marijuana possession.

Going where it shouldn't

Police were called to Cornell Boulevard to handle a complaint of a truck knocking down wires. The truck was located and the driver cited for violating the "No Through Trucks" sign.

Gun found at I-480

While on routine patrol on I-480 west-bound, police officers found a Smith & Wesson revolver on the north side of the Lear Nagle overpass.

The gun was secured and the incident is under investigation.

DUI and drugs

A police officer stopped a motorist and the driver was arrested for DUI, possessing marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Sleeping it off

A motorist reported to police that a vehicle was parked at the Century Tavern with the engine running and window fogged up. It was still there four hours later and police found a subject sleeping in the running car. They arrested him for DUI and possession of marijuana.

FIRE BLOTTERS

By Carol Klear

Fires not the only danger

Firefighters were called to Bainbridge Road at Mitchell where power lines were down. Traffic cones were set up to prevent access to the area and members of the police department blocked traffic at Chestnut and Bainbridge roads. They waited for Ohio Edison to arrive and removed the hazard. While he was redirecting traffic, a firefighter told a resident to turn around and then the man backed his Cadillac into the firefighter. A passenger shouted obscenities to the other firefighters and the incident was reported to the fire chief.

Sorry for the mistake

A Ridge Plaza resident was changing the batteries in his smoke alarm and set off his system. The resident had moved and was unaware that the alarm had been sent to North Coast Securities, who in turn called the fire department. Since moving the resident no longer subscribes to the company.

No fire

The fire department got a call from the Sandy Ridge Reservation after the fire alarm was activated. A second call from the Metro Parks office informed the department that a child had pulled the alarm near the front entrance during a party.
