

Increase In Reserve Firefighters

Winter Park's Fire Department Reserve force has grown by four men, bringing the total to 14, according to Chief Sid Ballou.

The new men are Kurt Bozenhardt, Richard Gibbs, William Harbeck and David Young. Gibbs and Young are previous FD employees at Winter Park and Gibbs is a paramedic. Bozenhardt is new to the service and taking the 240 hour minimum standard course in fire fighting.

The other three have already completed the state-required 240 hour course, according to Ballou.

WPFDF would welcome applications for its reserve force. Those interested must live in or near the city, be 18 years of age or over, have an extensive background check. For further information, contact the fire department.
