On April 11, Keep Winter Park Beautiful organization presented its preliminary Farmers Market landscaping and parking lot design to the City Commission for approval.

"The design has the concurrence of Parks and Recreation and of other staff members including the acting city manager," said Stanley Wilson, publicity chairman of Keep Winter Park Beautiful. "This activity is to complement the market renovation authorized and financed by last year's bond referendum."

The Keep Winter Park Beautiful organization has been certified by the state and national groups of Keep Florida Beautiful and Keep America Beautiful. The organization's mission is to promote beautification, conservation of resources, waste control and recycling.

To help with the cost of the parking lot and landscaping program at the Farmer's Market, the Keep Winter Park Beautiful organization plans to sell commemorative roadbed bricks.
