WE ARE ONE HEART. ONE MIND.

“The community of believers was of one heart and mind...”

Acts 4:32

Students in the Brother Joseph C. Fox Latin School, a division of Kellenberg Memorial High School, receive an education of both the Heart and the Mind. Our school lives out a Catholic identity and encourages students to grow into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Kellenberg Memorial promotes a daily prayer life along with retreats and other spiritual opportunities that will enhance the faith life of our students.

Focusing on the development of the whole person, a strong emphasis is placed on the formation and growth of faith in each and every Kellenberg Memorial student. Through daily prayer, personal reflection, monthly Mass, school-wide prayer services, divisional retreats, Advent and Lenten Missions, as well as a wealth of extracurricular activities centered around spiritual growth, students are invited to experience their faith on a deeper level and incorporate that faith into their daily lives. Through the spiritual dimension of their education, students grow into mature, Christian young men and women, all in an environment that focuses on the core values of Civility, Order, and Respect.

WE ARE MARIANIST.

Established in 1988 as a division of Kellenberg Memorial High School, the Bro. Joseph C. Fox Latin School provides an education for students in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades. The Latin School shares the same campus and facilities as Kellenberg Memorial High School, providing exciting opportunities for middle school students. The middle school program at Kellenberg Memorial is known as a Latin School because of the rich tradition in education that the study of Latin offers. The study of languages, particularly Latin, has long been prized as an especially effective way to train the mind and educate the heart in patterns of civility, order, and respect. The classical education offered at the Bro. Joseph C. Fox Latin School provides a solid foundation for high school studies. As an extension of Kellenberg Memorial High School, the Latin School shares the same foundation of a liberal arts curriculum, supplemented by new and innovative programs that develop strong study and time management skills. In this spirit of innovation, students in the Latin School make use of the iPad for all aspects of their studies and enjoy the versatility, accessibility, and flexibility of this device.

Marianist priests and brothers, along with lay men and women, have a very long and successful tradition of training the minds and hearts of young people throughout the world. The Society of Mary was founded in France in 1817 by Blessed William Joseph Chaminade immediately following the French Revolution. It was because of his commitment to the Church and his devotion to Jesus through Mary that Marianist schools continue to educate students today so that they may become good disciples of Jesus Christ, faithful members of the Church and fine role models.

Brother Joseph C. Fox

In establishing the Bro. Joseph C. Fox Latin School, the Marianists wished to honor the memory of Bro. Joseph C. Fox, and more importantly, to extend the work of the Marianist education to which he devoted his life. The vibrance of his faith and the love of his Marianist vocation left a rich legacy. In addition to his many years of service to the Marianist Community as a teacher, Bro. Joseph taught his fellow Marianists how to grow old gracefully, to make every day count, and to serve rather than be served. Simple love of God, humor, sense of duty, generosity, and single-mindedness are all fruits that flourished on his tree of life. His example was one of faithful imitation of Jesus Christ, Son of God, become Son of Mary for the salvation of all. With the help of God and His Blessed Mother, the students of the Latin School will be a living memorial to Bro. Joseph's life of faith, devotion, and learning.

WE ARE FAMILY.

Faith is a primary aspect of the the Bro. Joseph C. Fox Latin School. In addition to the academic and extracurricular programs, students also share in a faith experience within the context of a Catholic school community. All activities, both inside and outside of the classroom, are carried out in the spirit of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Through the spiritual dimension of their education, students grow into mature, Christian young men and women. Retreat Programs are held in Emmanuel Retreat House on campus, at Stella Maris Retreat House in Islip, New York, and at Our Lady of the Island Shrine in Eastport. The variety of religious experiences available to Latin School students allows them to explore and grow in a knowledge and love of God and neighbor. This is all developed within the Marianist charism of a devotion “To Jesus through Mary.” The Religion class curriculum in seventh and eighth grades is designed to support and expand upon the knowledge necessary for students to receive the sacrament of Confirmation. While each student studies this aspect of their faith in school, the sacrament is conferred in the student’s home parish so that students understand that their faith is not confined within the school walls but that they are called to become “missionary disciples.”

CURRICULUM AND RETREATS

Religion 6 reflects on the Ten Commandments and the Mass as the two anchors in which Catholics can find fulfillment. The Cadet retreat theme is “Be Merciful As Your Heavenly Father is Merciful.”

Religion 7 fosters prayerful knowledge of the saints in preparation for the reception of the sacrament of Confirmation. The Tyro retreat theme is “Receive the Power of the Holy Spirit.”

Religion 8 focuses on the purpose, teachings, and tradition of the Catholic Church by means of understanding the importance of Sacred Scripture and Sacred Tradition in the life of the Church. The Squire retreat theme is “Masterpiece of God.”

The following programs contribute to this affective dimension of the Latin School:

- School prayer three times daily:
Morning Prayer video,
the Angelus (at noon),
the Three O’Clock Prayer (at dismissal)
- The opportunity to attend daily morning Mass
- Availability of Midday Prayer before lunch periods
- Prayer before each class period
- School Chapel available for personal prayer

- Athlete Retreats
- Latin School C.R.O.S.S.

WE ARE CATHOLIC.

TECHNOLOGY

The Latin School continues to feature a time-tested Marianist education while introducing cutting edge technology. Our students are engaging the iPad as the primary source of textbooks, notebooks, and workbooks, as well as utilizing the device as a means of sharing work collaboratively in class and with their teachers. Harnessing the vast power of this technology, students are meeting the traditional demands of a Catholic education with almost limitless resources.

STEM

STEM activities are continuously made available to Latin School students. Renovation of the Science labs has increased the opportunity for hands-on activities that enrich the curricula of the Science classes. The Latin School has a competitive Science Olympiad team, and students enjoy other activities such as Stemingineering, Lab Squad, and Robotics. The Tyro STEM Day, math labs, and other activities allow students to explore science and math topics outside of the traditional classroom setting.

USING TECHNOLOGY TO TRANSFORM AND ADAPT

One of the characteristics of Marianist education recognizes the importance of the ability to adapt and change. The past few years, in particular, have presented our faculty and students with many opportunities for proving that they can adapt to many different circumstances. From the time that a student begins enrollment in the Latin School, structure, routine, and individual accountability are fostered in order to promote personal development and academic growth. These characteristics have always been, and continue to be, essential for success in middle school and they are key components of the education provided at the Latin School. They provide a solid foundation for future success in high school. A liberal arts education remains at the core of instruction. Use of the iPad has allowed for the versatility to adapt to the technological world and to benefit from its wealth of resources. Despite the many changes our society has experienced, Kellenberg Memorial remains committed to our mission of educating both the minds and hearts of our middle school students within the context of the gospel message.
