ABOUT THE DISTRICT

Q. What is the North Orange County Community College District (NOCCCD)?

Life-long learning also is possible in our continuing education programs that range from high school completion and basic skills mastery through an array of vocational training and self-development courses. The NOCCCD campuses serve an area of over one million diverse people – each pursuing their own, unique ambitions. The NOCCCD – Greatness. Achieved.

Q. What happens after I apply to a posting?

A committee will screen all completed application packets received following the filing deadline. Only those applicants with the best combination of knowledge, skills, abilities and experience will be invited to an interview. Meeting the minimum qualifications for a position does not guarantee an interview. Current District employees who are applying for a position should be aware that materials from their personnel files will NOT be considered as part of the application packet. Information on previous and current employment should be provided in the same degree of detail as any other applicant.

Qualified applicants who are invited to be interviewed will be contacted by a Screening Committee representative via email or phone. Be sure to check your email regularly for status updates. You may view the status of your application after the closing date by returning to the applicant site with your personal username and password. The applicant system can be accessed 24-hours a day, 7-days a week from any computer with internet access.

Q. How does the reference part work?

The system will send an email message to each of your reference providers, giving them a link to enter a recommendation for you in the system. The recommendation is connected to the job you apply for. If you apply for more than one position and name the same person as a reference on each application, that person receives a reference request for each application. This allows your reference to give information about you that is tailored to the job you apply for.

*Note: The system does not have a way of determining if your reference providers got the reference request. You can contact your reference providers directly to let them know to look for an automated email from the system. Some email systems will direct the message into the recipient's junk mail folder.

Q. Where can I get a typing certificate? What is acceptable?

Some of our Classified/Confidential positions require candidates to be able to type at a certain speed. If a typing test is required, it will be listed on the job posting. There is no need to include a typing certificate. If you are selected for an interview, you will be notified to take a typing test at the District Human Resources Office.

Q. How are the qualifications determined for credit and non-credit faculty positions?

All public community colleges in California fall under the administrative umbrella of the California Community College State Chancellor's Office. The Academic Senate within the state office establishes the Minimum Qualifications for academic instructors, following approval by the Board of Governors. These qualifications are discipline specific. Please visit the website <http://www.nocccd.edu/Employment/MinimumQualifications.htm> for disciplines and qualifications.

All credit and non-credit instructors must meet these minimum qualifications in order to be considered for a teaching assignment in a California community college. Faculty who work in the University of California or California State University systems are not automatically qualified to teach in a community college. At the time of hire, official transcripts from accredited institutions must be provided.

Applicants who do not have the stated minimum qualifications and are seeking consideration on the basis of equivalency will have their application forward to the District Equivalency Committee for evaluation in accordance with the relevant provisions of the contract and/or hiring policy.

*Note: Equivalency is NOT a waiver of the minimum qualifications; rather, to be accorded equivalence the applicant shall provide evidence, as specified herein of qualifications that are at least equal to or greater than the prescribed minimum qualifications. A determination of equivalency will find qualifications that place the applicant in the same position as if he/she possessed the prescribed minimum qualifications.

Q. Can I apply to a posting if I have a foreign degree?

Applicants who have completed college or university course work at an institution from a country other than the United States, including Canada and Great Britain, must have their transcripts evaluated. The NOCCCD only recognizes evaluations from organizations who are members of the National Association of Credential Evaluation Service (NACES), which is an association of private educational credential evaluation services committed to formulating and maintaining ethical standards in the field of foreign educational evaluation. Visit the NACES home page at www.naces.org to obtain a listing of member evaluation services.

*Note: If the posting requires transcripts, the evaluation MUST be submitted with the application.
