

Security Information

The security of applicant data is a top priority for the University of Pittsburgh. We employ several measures to ensure the integrity and security of our applicant information, including:

- The site is protected with a Secure Socket Layer, which offers 128-bit encryption of all data.
- Applicant passwords are never displayed to University employees.
- Certain applicant information such as race and gender is not available to hiring departments and will only be visible to The Office of Human Resources, for reporting purposes only.
- Data is stored at a restricted-access facility.