( *** Note : States not included in this directory currently do not have a Physician Assistant Program. )

Foreword

In 2001 I left my hometown of Seattle, WA and ventured 3000 miles across country to Piscataway New Jersey. I had been accepted to the UMDNJ/Rutgers Physician Assistant Program and I was ecstatic. In those days I don't remember searching the internet much to find a PA program that fit my application requirements and if I did it was incredibly slow over dial-up. Instead I opened a book, sent letters to each school and waited patiently to receive the application packet in the mail. It was painful.

Now, 13 years later, things are just a little bit different. I dreamed of a streamlined directory where I could perform a categorical search to find a program that not only fit my geographical preferences but also was affordable, didn't require the GRE, met my GPA requirements and had reasonable healthcare experience requirements. I built the Physician Assistant Schoolfinder Directory with this goal in mind.

That being said, many people have emailed me asking for a print version of the directory, coming from a 2001 background I understand completely and keeping in line with a 2014 mindset I am releasing this as a downloadable eBook. I hope you find it a useful resource on your and a valuable companion to the paschoolfinder website.

PHYSICIAN ASSISTANT SCHOOL AND PROGRAM DIRECTORY

The Physician Assistant School and Program Directory is designed to complement the PA Schoolfinder website and is a complete list of all accredited Physician Assistant Programs in the United States.

This eBook includes valuable information for those applying to, or researching PA Programs in the United States. This includes tuition costs, application deadlines, GRE requirements, GPA requirements, required medical experience, CASPA participation and links to each PA program website as well as their social media accounts. This is the most comprehensive PA program directory available and the most recent version has been fully updated for the 2014-2015 application cycle.
