

ARRIVE AUSTIN

OVERVIEW

Located in heart of East Austin, ARRIVE Austin is an 83-room boutique hotel anchored by restaurants and bars that complement the Lone Star State's food and drink epicenter. An architectural landmark with a remarkable façade, the hotel's guestrooms feature distinctive design and artwork – collages by Sarah Presson – that pay tribute to the state's "cowboy mythology," and take inspiration from the unique physical landscape.

Each room is outfitted with plush robes, Bellino Fine Linens, Salt & Stone bath amenities, Apple TVs with live TV streaming apps, Marshall Bluetooth speakers, and a curated minibar of snacks and refreshments. Adjacent to check-in is Kalimotxo, a Spanish restaurant and cocktail bar celebrating the vibrant small plates culture of Spain. Next door, you'll find Lefty's Day & Night, East Austin's best neighborhood patio bar, offering coffee, breakfast, drinks, and tasty food morning, noon, or night. The property also features Sorek Barbershop + Menswear, and 500 square feet of meeting space.

DESIGN

The design of ARRIVE Austin sought to question established hotel tropes, minimizing the hotel identity and creating something more public-oriented. A statement structure, street-level restaurants claim the pedestrian identity. The building's materials were inspired by nearby warehouse structures: Additionally, the hotel's guestrooms feature distinctive design and artwork – collages by Sarah Presson – that pay tribute to the state's "cowboy mythology," and take inspiration from the unique physical landscape. A semi-outdoor restaurant reuses a pre-existing structure to further tie the hotel to its context. ARRIVE Austin is a dynamic, welcoming addition to the East Austin neighborhood that strives to embrace the local community and visitors alike.
