Pastoral Thoughts What do we do now?

Today as we celebrate the great feast of the Body and Blood of Christ, and the mystical union he offers us it is hard to ignore what has taken place in our country over the last few weeks. We have seen a public outcry for fundamental changes in our society, which was ignited with the inhumane and needless death of George Floyd.

The Minneapolis police force has promised to disband in light of its culture of racism within the minority community, which came out in the open with the release of a video that clearly shows a disregard for life.

The hope of the nation and so many in the 1960's was that the passing of the civil rights legislation would rid our country of such atrocities. Unfortunately, those who commit such crimes against humanity and society have felt comfortable too long, hiding behind a veil of silence, while performing deeds of hate with no witnesses, or frightening any witnesses who may come forward.

Social media has changed so many things in our society, and now it is bringing to light many of the miscarriages of justice that before went unreported.

Those who march and protest peacefully for change should be applauded and should not stop until legislation is voted in and concrete change is achieved. Ensuring that such injustices will not be tolerated. Far too often in the past when crimes were brought out in public, the cries for change died after a few short weeks, but today feels different.

Finally, people are recognizing that far too many things are still as they were in the 60's. This is no longer being seen as just a black or brown problem, but a problem for all peoples. For a country that allows its police forces to mistreat a segment of its citizens for racist reasons will eventually turn on all its citizens if it is not addressed swiftly.

This Sunday as we celebrate the Body and Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. We should draw strength and graces from these wonderful gifts to help support change in our society. For Christ throughout His ministry championed equality and justice for all peoples, men and women, regardless of the color of your skin or nationality.

We are all equals – created by the same loving God, and now more than ever, it is imperative that we follow His commandments: To love our neighbor as we love ourselves and work towards that vision of heaven on earth. It may sound like an unattainable dream, but all journeys begin with a dream.

Rachel's Vineyard-Kansas City

Healing hearts in the heart of the nation

In Jesus' ministry, He was often an outcast to His own people. For women and men who have experienced an abortion, they, too, often feel like outcasts, isolated and alone. If you or someone you know is suffering from an abortion decision, Jesus understands your pain. Allow Jesus to work a miracle in your heart.

Rachel's Vineyard retreats are all about healing the pain of abortion one weekend at a time. The second of three 2020 Kansas City retreats will be on July 24-26. Please call 816.679.4973 or email rvkcmo@gmail.com for confidential information and to start the healing.

Help Needed

Our supplier of disinfectant spray and wipes is experiencing a 4-5 week a delay in shipping orders. So if you happen to have extra's of these items in your supply, would you please consider donating it to the parish. It would be greatly appreciated, so we can clean adequately between masses. Just bring your donation to the masses or by the office during office hours. Thank you all very much for your kindness. ~Dcn Tyrone

Office of Child & Youth Protection—Sexual Abuse

The Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph is committed to combating sexual abuse in the Church. If you are a victim of sexual abuse, or if you observe or suspect sexual abuse:

1. Call the Missouri Child Abuse Hotline at 1.800.392.3738 (if the victim is currently under the age of 18), and
2. Contact your local law enforcement agency or call 911, and
3. After reporting to these civil and law enforcement authorities, report suspected sexual abuse of a minor or vulnerable adult to the Diocesan Ombudsman, Joe Crayon, at 816.812.2500, or crayon@ombudsmankcsj.org, if the abuse involves a priest, deacon, employee or volunteer of the Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph.

The Diocese has a sincere commitment to providing care and healing resources to victims of sexual abuse and their families. Please contact the Victim Advocate Kathleen Chastain, at 816.392.0011 or chastain@diocesekcsj.org for more information

LightHOUSE Catholic Media

Excerpt from ROME SWEET HOME by Scott and Kimberly Hahn:

From Scott:

Then one day, I made a “fatal blunder”—I decided that it was time for me to go to Mass on my own. Finally I resolved to darken the doors of Gesu, Marquette University’s parish. Right before noon, I slipped quietly into the basement chapel for daily Mass. I wasn’t sure what to expect; maybe I’d be alone with a priest and a couple of old nuns. I took a seat as an observer in the back pew.

All of a sudden lots of ordinary people began coming in off the streets—rank-and-file type folks. They came in, genuflected, knelt and prayed. Their simple but sincere devotion was impressive.

Then a bell rang and a priest walked out toward the altar. I remained seated; I still wasn’t sure if it was safe to kneel. As an evangelical Calvinist, I had been taught that the Catholic Mass was the greatest sacrilege that a man could commit—to re-sacrifice Christ—so I wasn’t sure what to do.

I watched and listened as the readings, prayers and responses—so steeped in Scripture—made the Bible come alive. I almost wanted to stop the Mass and say, “Wait. That line is from Isaiah; the song is from the Psalms. Whoa, you’ve got another prophet in that prayer.” I found numerous elements from the ancient Jewish liturgy that I had studied so intensely.

All of a sudden I realized, this is where the Bible belongs. This was the setting in which this precious family heirloom was meant to be read, proclaimed and expounded. Then we moved into the Liturgy of the Eucharist, where all my covenant conclusions converged.

Call the Office to arrange an order and curbside pick up. 816.421.2112 or by email stephanief@oloskc.org

We are happy to help you. Next week we will have a list of titles available through our LightHOUSE displays.

Catholic Communications Collection

Next week, June 20 & 21, our special collection supports the Catholic Communication Campaign. This campaign connects people with Christ in the United States and in developing countries around the world through the Internet, television, radio, and print media. Fully 50% of the money collected remains here in the Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph to fund local communications efforts. Your support helps spread the Gospel message! To learn more, visit www.usccb.org/cc.

Remember this can be placed in the collection reciprocal in the center aisle with any donations you wish to give.
