Pastoral Thoughts A Bit of Normalcy

As we head into the fall this year, we are still facing many of the challenges that consumed us during the summer. We are seeking a bit of normalcy in our lives, that have been turned upside down with the social unrest, the up-coming Presidential election and of course the virus which has plagued us since March.

Sports, and especially our Kansas City Chiefs, have begun to play games again and are giving us a mental break and allowing us to become united again behind the red and gold.

Even though many events and family activities have been cancelled this year, and mask and social distance fatigue has set in for most people, it is good to have something to look forward to, and allow ourselves to scream and yell for something we love.

Many of our local school district have also begun the process of allowing in person classes, that allow our children to get a bit of social interaction that they crave and is so important to their development. It is not a perfect situation, but it is a beginning.

Hopefully, all the bright minds we have in the science community will have an effective antidote for this puzzling virus, that acts and affects people in ways we have never seen before. Gratefully, we are hearing that something will be available by the end of the year which will be a welcomed relief.

Things in our society will never return completely back to the way they were, and that may be a good thing. We have all been given a harsh reminder of how important it is to practice good hygiene.

I feel one of the positive aspects that this virus has caused, is to make us aware of the importance of personal hygiene safety. This will probably lead to us still seeing hand sanitizer available everywhere, masks during the winter months for many to ward off the flue, a more vigilant attitude towards sanitizing our work spaces, gathering halls and churches, just good habits we may have strayed from. Although it has taken some time to

Weekly Activities & Events

Into the Light Project

Habitat for Humanity of Kansas City and Lykins Neighborhood Association have been part of an effort to clean up the Lykins neighborhood by redesigning the park and adding a lot of new housing to the neighborhood, which has been a site for human trafficking for some time. The art project will be the first ever memorial to victims and survivors of human trafficking and will be the center piece of a transformation of the park. In addition, Habitat KC will be collaborating with other non-profits and developers to create 75 new homes in the neighborhood. The city has committed to a number of infrastructure and park improvements which will change the neighborhood dramatically. More information of the groundbreaking coming.

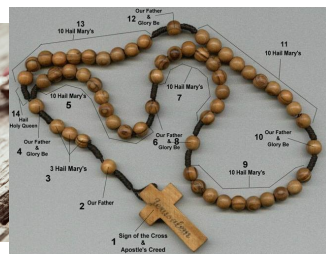

You are invited to the groundbreaking ceremony of Project Into the Light. The First Memorial in the nation for victims of Human Trafficking and those who minister to them. Join us on October 24, 2020 at Lykin Square Park, Kansas City, MO at 12:00pm, Noon.

We do need a bit of help. Private fundraising has provided almost all the cost for the art installation. We are in need of just about $1000 to complete the project which is under construction. If anyone from Our Lady of Sorrows can help with a piece of this there are some other churches who have offered to help too.

You may make a donation through OLOS by placing "Into the Light Project" on your check or envelope. Or by contacting Jude Huntz at jhuntz@habitatkc.org to donate directly.
