

Dr. Peg Dawson received her doctorate in school/child clinical psychology from the University of Virginia. She worked as a school psychologist for 16 years in Maine and New Hampshire, and, for the past 20 years has worked at the Center for Learning and Attention Disorders in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, where she specializes in the assessment of children and adults with learning and attention disorders. Along with her colleague, Dr. Richard Guare, she has authored several books, including a book for professionals, Executive Skills in Children and Adolescents: A Practical Guide to Assessment and Intervention (recently revised) as well as a book for parents, Smart but Scattered. She and Dr. Guare have two books in press at the present time, one on executive skills geared to parents of teenagers and a second on coaching (Coaching Students with Executive Skills Deficits). She is a past president of both the National Association of School Psychologists and the International School Psychology Association. She is also the 2006 recipient of NASP's Lifetime Achievement Award and a 2010 recipient of the International School Psychology Association Distinguished Services Award.

Dr. Richard Guare is a neuropsychologist and currently serves as director of the Center for Learning and Attention Disorders at Seacoast Mental Health Center in Portsmouth, New Hampshire. Dr. Guare received his Ph.D. in school/child clinical psychology from the University of Virginia and completed a postdoctoral fellowship in neuropsychology at Children's Hospital/Harvard Medical School. Dr. Guare is board certified as a behavior analyst. He serves as consultant to schools and agencies in programs for autism, learning and behavior disorders and acquired brain injuries. Dr. Guare has presented and published research and clinical work involving attention, executive skill and neurological disorders. Dr. Guare is co-author with Dr. Peg Dawson of books for clinicians on executive skills in children and adolescents and on coaching students with ADHD.