How to be successful: Which skills and abilities lead certain people to financial wealth, and to success in their career, business, or entrepreneurship? Which inner powers are responsible for physical health or mental fortitude? Which powers create the foundation for self-realization and the success of 'winners'; and famous people, and what inspiration can you draw from them?

This book gives readers answers to these questions, along with practical tools that would bring you closer to success in different areas of life. It will accompany you throughout a process of unique and enjoyable discovery, guided by exercises, experiential games and questioners. Our method is based on prolonged research and extensive practice 'in the field,' working with clients in personal and group sessions, in the commercial and organizational fields, around the world.

The result:

'You will recognize the powers, strength and weaknesses present and lacking in your life and those around you, and how they may stand in the way of your success.

'You will discover, create, and develop the hidden or revealed powers within yourself and learn to manage them with the help of people in your life.

'You will realize your power repository in a way that will help you leverage your abilities and realize your goals.

'This book is one of the most essential anthologies that every person should read. Whether the reader is old or young, at the beginning of his way or in a senior position, all will find it to be a clear, concise, and trustworthy guide. In addition, it is an essential, comprehensive, and practical aide.'
