THE MAGAZINE MASTER LIST

Exposing the Invisible

I've said it before and I'll say it again...

“You can't find what you don't know to look for!”

That simply means that, if you are unaware that something exists, a particular book, image, magazine, report, article, etc. then how could you possibly FIND it. One of my personal commitments in working with and teaching about using Public Domain for product creation is to make the identification and location processes easier...in other words, to help make you aware of what's available to you in the Public Domain.

In my e-book, “Tony's Public Domain Magazine Secrets,” I reveal a little-known statistic that 99.4% of the magazines published between the years of 1923 and 1964 never renewed their copyrights, placing them very firmly in the Public Domain. Only around 1,300 magazines renewed their copyrights (and in many cases, NOT for every issue) out of over 200,000 different magazine and periodical titles that were published during that time period. The implications for content are staggering. Public Domain magazine content represents a massive, largely untapped goldmine of proven content that, when mixed together with your own creativity and technology, can be the foundation for a nearly unimaginable number of profitable, new products to sell.

The purpose of this supplemental report is:

- To help you identify and locate copyright-expired magazines related to your niche.
- To help you locate the magazines you have discovered.

Because I have explained the process of researching the copyright status of magazines and magazine articles in “Tony’s Public Domain Magazine Secrets,” I will not repeat that information here. If you don’t own that e-book yet, you can pick-up your own copy at: <http://www.publicdomainmagazinesecrets.com>.

Later in this e-book, you’ll find two sections of magazine listings. The two sections represent a compiled listing of over 6,750 periodical (magazine) titles.

The first section of listings contains over 3,650 magazines that feature themes including:

- Hobbies
- Home
- Pulp (novels, stories, etc.)
- Men and Women
- Sports
- Literature
- The Arts
- Nature
- Health & Beauty
- And Much More

The second section of listings contains over 3,100 periodicals that are focused on themes from professional, trade and education fields. The second section also includes many popular magazines as well. These journals, reviews, papers, and magazines include themes such as:

- Law
- The Sciences
- Literature
- Trades
- Government
- Medicine
- And Much More

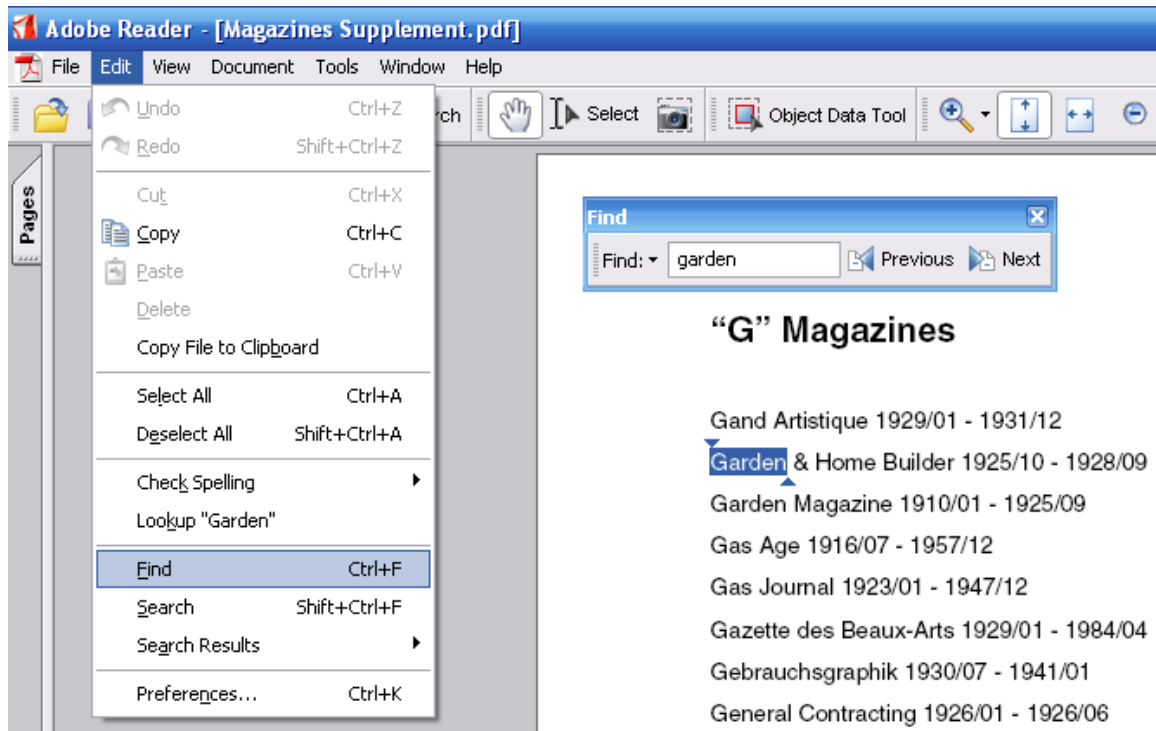

In the second section you will find that, in addition to the periodical title, I've also included date ranges for many of the entries. While I was able to identify many of the specific dates for Section Two, I was unable to do identify the date ranges for many of the entries in Section One, so I removed the dates from Section One entirely. I can tell you that approximately one-third of the magazines listed from both sections are pre-1923, making them copyright-expired and in the Public Domain.

The listings presented in the two sections are a starting point only. My primary "rule" for including the magazines in the lists was that they had to have issues that were copyrighted BEFORE 1964. Remember, any magazine published between the years of 1923 and 1964 that didn't renew their copyright in the 28th year is now in the Public Domain. A magazine's inclusion here does not imply that any or all the issues for that magazine are indeed in the Public Domain, although MOST of the pre-1964 issues will be in the Public Domain. It will be up to you to determine the copyright status (the simple process for determining copyright renewal is outlined, step-by-step in my Public Domain Magazine Secrets book). To verify the copyright status of every issue of all 6,750 magazines is a greater research feat than I have time to accomplish. But again, the process is fairly simple and straight-forward.

Using the Listings for Research

Reading through the over 6,750 listings can be a bit overwhelming and time-consuming. Because I compiled the list, I had the opportunity to read through every listing, and while I found it extremely interesting (I never heard of most of these magazines), it's certainly not practical if you're limited with your time. After all, one of the purposes of this e-book is to save you time! So here are a few tips on how to make the most of the magazine listings.

The easiest way to use these listings is to perform a keyword search with them using Adobe Acrobat Reader's "Find" function (Ctrl+F) or "Search" function (Shift+Ctrl+F).

You can see in the screen capture above, I conducted a search for the keyword, "garden," and found the following listing along with several others. You can also see from the Section Two listing, that "Garden & Home Builder" magazine was published from 1925 to 1928, While "Garden" magazine, listed below it, was

FOREIGN AFFAIRS. © Council on Foreign Relations, Inc. (PCW)

published from 1910 to 1925—guaranteeing that most of the issues in
"Garden" are in the Public Domain. I checked the copyright status of
"Garden & Home Builder" using the steps outlined in
"Public Domain Magazine

Secrets and discovered that there were NO renewal listings for the years of 1925 to 1927 (I didn't check the other years). The above image is from the 1927 listing (found in the 1955 Renewal Database: $1927 + 28 = 1955$). You'll notice that there is no listing for "Garden & Home Builder" where there should be.

Now that you're armed with a magazine that you that you know is in the Public Domain (provided you're in the gardening niche), the next task is to FIND the magazine. The hands-down easiest way to find issues of the magazine is by searching eBay. I decided to plug our magazine into eBay to see if there were any listings. Here is what I found:

1 items found for Garden Home Builder in eBay Stores

Item Title
 July 1927 GARDEN HOME BUILDER Magazine

There was only one issue of the magazine, July 1927, available on eBay, at that was in one of the eBay Stores. Of course, you and I both know that availability can literally change overnight on eBay, which is why I love it so much. So if this is a magazine that would work for your niche, you have your first issue available for purchase and eventual scanning, processing, etc.

This is the exact method I use for finding Public Domain magazine content all the time. I'm ALWAYS bidding on some magazine or other periodical for content. If you cannot find the magazine you're looking for on eBay over an extended period of time, there are a few other options for locating the magazine online. The first, highly recommended option is to use my "Public Domain Expert Toolbar" to search for the magazines. You can learn more about this powerful tool (that I personally use everyday) here: <http://www.publicdomaintoolbar.com>. With the Toolbar, you have quick and instant access to 40 different search options with 25 different Public Domain-related databases. While you could choose to find and access each of these search features individually, the Toolbar saves you ALL the time and effort it would take to do that by conveniently providing access to all of them in one place...not to mention also including categorized listings of over 450 Public Domain-related websites.

Until you pick up your own copy of the Toolbar (grin), here are a few of my favorite online places to search for magazines as well:

Google (<http://www.google.com>)

Google Books

(<http://books.google.com>)

LiveSearch Books

(<http://books.live.com>)

AddAll (<http://used.addall.com/Used/>)

The results to the right are a small portion of the listings I found on AddAll (which searches most of the online used book sources) for this magazine.

In Conclusion

I hope by now you're beginning to recognize the scope of possibilities available to you with Public Domain magazines. Magazines are a perfect source for content, from articles and ads to cover images and illustrations. LOTS of opportunity exists with magazines for product creation success. Many of the magazines listed here are United States-based periodicals, but I was also careful to include many Canadian and United Kingdom listings as well (most published before 1923).

Even though the following list is pretty large at over 6,750 entries, it's still a small effort compared to the over 200,000 magazine titles that were printed pre-1964. My desire is to add to this list in an ongoing basis, and I need your help to do it. I'm going to setting up a blog devoted to Public Domain magazine listings where I'll post new listings of magazines that I find are in the Public Domain. This blog will be available to you as an owner of this e-book, so you'll have access to my latest findings. But I would also like to invite you to contribute to this list of magazines as well. As you conduct your own research, if you come across magazines that I don't have listed, please feel free to post them to the blog for everyone's benefit. This new blog will be available online March 1st, 2008 and can be accessed after that date right here:

EXPOSED! One of the Most Overlooked, Untapped Sources for MASSIVE Amounts of FRESH Content on the Planet!

This SECRET source has been TOTALLY off the radar until NOW!

Of the estimated 200,000 magazines, journals and periodicals that were published in the United States between the years of 1923 and 1964, only around 1,300 ever RENEWED their copyrights on issues of their magazines. What that means is this:

EVERY issue of ANY magazine whose copyright was not renewed in the 28th year of first publication is NOW in the Public Domain!

That amounts to MILLIONS of issues from magazines, journals and periodicals
ALL in the Public Domain!

Learn how to tap into this massive amount of content at:

Quick...Simple...Easy!

“You have been the only person that has consistently performed and your PD toolbar helps me on my book almost on a daily basis.”

“I love the Public Domain toolbar! Thanks so much!”

“Got the toolbar. Great Tool!! Thank you!!”

“I purchased your Public Domain Expert Toolbar and WOW. I initially thought I was falling for another e-marketing pull-in but was I ever wrong. This toolbar is top notch. I can see you put a lot of time and thought into developing this. It just boggles my mind to see what you have done.”

“I LOVE THE TOOLBAR.”

“Thanks again for a great tool...if only I had time to execute all the ideas that are flowing from this!”

“Very cool tool!”
