Wings of Fortitude

Ryan Meeboer

Wings of Fortitude is a concert march that reflects that definition: courageous, brave, and having tenacity.

As the main body of the march enters at measure 9, Trumpet 1 plays the melody and the remaining parts striking chords together - be sure the performers don't overpower the trumpet melody here. As the counter melody enters at measure 25, both melodies should be clear to the listener over the accompaniment.

Both the contrasting section, at measure 41, and the trio, at measure 73, give the ensemble the opportunity to work on performing legato, versus the louder, striking sections of the piece. The Trio section was composed to reflect the style of a traditional march. This section is to be played with a light bounce, in order to affectively contrast the rest of the piece. Breath support will be key to being able to perform both of these sections successfully.
