PROGRAM NOTES

In Greek mythology, Zeus gave Pandora a box, but warned her never to open it. Nevertheless, the urge to open it overcame her. All of life's miseries came out of the box, let free into the world. The last thing remaining in the box was hope, and a new beginning. This powerful and poignant work depicts the story of Pandora's box. A bold and forceful opening statement gives way to a beautiful and haunting melody. As the music develops, lush and mournfully dissonant harmonies gradually build to a climax of incredible emotion and power. In the final measures of the piece we are reminded of a new hope and a new beginning, creating a sensitive moment that will not be forgotten.

REHEARSAL SUGGESTIONS

The opening section should be marcato and forceful. Beginning at m. 8, the vibraphone adds greatly to the effect. If no vibes are available, other keyboard instruments can be substituted. Beginning at m. 16, the dynamic shaping is very important, as it is throughout the piece. The flute is doubled on the vibraphone at m. 22. Strive for balance and blend here. At m. 32, dynamics are critical leading into the climax at m. 40. The sustained notes in m. 40-42 should be played without a break between measures. Beginning in m. 59, the horns and alto saxophone have a countermelody, which should be brought out. The crescendo building into m. 96 is important, as it is the climax of the piece.

I hope that you and the ensemble enjoy rehearsing and performing Pandora's Lament. Please contact me on my composer page at www.barnhouse.com with any comments or questions. Best wishes!
