About the Composer

Matt Conaway (b. 1979) is an Assistant Professor of Bands at Purdue University in West Lafayette, IN. He serves as Associate Director of the famed "All-American" Marching Band, directs the University Concert Band and Varsity Band, assists with the basketball pep bands as a director and staff arranger, and is the department's technical coordinator. Prior to this appointment, he served for ten years as the Director of Bands for the West Lafayette Community School Corporation, during which time the program received many state and national accolades for musical excellence.

His compositions for band range from very beginning through very advanced, based on his experience working with all levels of performers in grades 5-12. Matt is also an accomplished arranger, and has written for athletic bands at Indiana University, Purdue University, and many high schools throughout the Midwest. His arrangements have been heard on the national stage at multiple bowl games and college basketball tournaments since 1999.

After graduating from Woodhaven (MI) High School in 1997, he attended Indiana University – Bloomington, where he studied arranging with David Woodley. He received his Bachelor of Music Education with Distinction in 2001, and earned a Masters of Music degree from the American Band College of Sam Houston State University in 2010. Matt has been granted honorary membership in Tau Beta Sigma and Kappa Kappa Psi, and was recently inducted into the Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Mu. He is also a member of NAfME, NBA, Indiana Music Educators Association, Indiana Bandmasters Association, and ASCAP. He is in demand as a clinician and adjudicator at concert band festivals and competitions throughout the Midwest.

A word about this music

Captive was commissioned by the South Carolina Band Directors Association for the 2017 All-State Clinic Band.

This piece took longer to write than just about anything else I've done in my career. I've written lots of pieces for (and about) others, but this is the first time I have bared my own feelings and emotions in a composition. Thus, Captive has a completely different vibe than anything else. In a way, I hope you don't have a personal connection to this piece, because it means that you (or a loved one) suffer from similar issues.

This is the first original work I completed in the last full year, and I was starting to worry about ever being able to write again. The combination of burnout, personal stress, and many other elements I brought on myself resulted in a temporary disinterest in the things I used to enjoy. At least I told myself it would only be temporary.

But after a period of some months, I started to realize I wasn't feeling any better. I went weeks without sitting at my piano, and put off projects that have been on my writing "to-do" list because the thought of writing was literally nauseating and depressing.

My friends and family were always very uplifting and helpful, but this purgatory-esque feeling was almost unshakeable until I started to seek help. Depression is a powerful captor; it is unpredictable, it can annoyingly tease or it can eschew subtlety in embarrassing fashion. Even well into treatment for my relatively minor case, I still had great doubt about my abilities to do the creative work that brought me such pleasure. It took weeks to finally accept the commission opportunity that led to this work; until the day I started writing, I was convinced that it wasn't ever going to be completed.

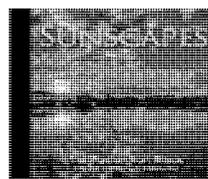

As the journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step, so began this journey of a couple hundred measures with a single motif. Child-like in its insistence, the seven-note passage (first heard completely at m. 36) serves as that joy and drive I used to have in writing. Despite never being totally absent, it has been held captive by self-doubt, depression, stress, and all the other nuisances that impede happiness (all of which are represented by the melodic fragment first heard so sweetly in m. 13, and in increasing agitation throughout the piece).

Breakthroughs happen in depression treatment, but too often they quickly retreat to the familiar dark feelings. Sometimes, long periods of static thoughts (represented at m. 130) replaced any highs or lows in my mind, which was almost worse. In time, I learned how to initiate, savor and prolong those high points, so the depressed feelings were progressively rarer. Simply put, things get better.

I opted to end this composition with a snapshot on my current feelings; an expression of great joy and spirit, followed by a peaceful retreat into what are finally positive thoughts.

And I'll gratefully keep writing.
