Sound Foundations Series

(Grade levels ½ - 1)

The Sound Foundations Series is carefully designed and written to serve the performance needs of the beginning band program. In addition to providing quality performance literature for your concert program, each title in the series provides an appropriate musical setting for the conductor/teacher to reinforce musical concepts and skills that have been addressed in the first year of instruction. Written at two grade levels (1/2 and 1), the Sound Foundations Series provides a variety of musical works that employ the note and rhythm sequence used in most band method books. The Sound Foundations Series is a sound fundamental approach laying the foundation for a sound future.

Program Notes

Huracán, pronounced (ooh-rah-cán), translates to “hurricane” in English. It is an original and dynamic concert/festival composition written by veteran writer Victor López. It provides an avenue for teaching articulations, phrasing, and elements of music texture, which is what makes music sound rich and luxurious and sometimes strange and mysterious. At times, a single melody will be heard and as the piece develops, the texture will thicken with the addition of other instruments playing accompaniment parts and/or additional melodies. This composition technique weaves in and out throughout, combining the various musical elements. Simply put, texture in music is classified by sound, not feel.

Notes to Conductor

The introduction, a calm and somewhat mysterious statement, is played by the clarinets and bassoon (cued in the baritone) and later joined by the entire woodwind section leading to an intense melody with thunderous rhythmic accents that resemble a hurricane's turmoil.

Starting at rehearsal number 9, the entire section should be played in an aggressive manner. The melody line played by the clarinet, alto and tenor saxophone, and F horn, should be played accented and legato. The rhythmic accents are to be played full and with much strength while keeping the pulse; make certain they are balanced.

Although dynamic markings have been indicated, based on the instrumentation of the ensemble, the director should make adjustments as necessary. Also, the balance between lines should be kept in check and not allow any section to overpower the melody.

Practice all crescendos to make sure they are even. Work on getting everyone to start together and at the same dynamic level for maximum effect.

At m. 26, check the articulation in the clarinets and make certain that the section is rehearsed for consistency.

At m. 42, ensure the proper balance between lines.

Huracán is an excellent program choice for contest and festival performances and will certainly provide your students with a personal rewarding experience.
