Program Notes

The Main Attraction is a swing chart in the style of Count Basie, Thad Jones and Frank Foster, and was commissioned by the jazz program at Hampden Academy in Hampden, Maine. The 16-bar blues form is crafted into a clever original melody, followed by some exciting ensemble work with a shuffle groove.

Rehearsal Notes

The Main Attraction is based on a 16-bar blues form. The style is a driving shuffle, which could be described as a hard swing with a steady backbeat by the drummer. It is very important the tune drives and the tempo does not drag! Listening to some Count Basie or Thad Jones would be great for style ideas.

Intro - After a big opening few measures, the saxes lay down our groove. No dragging here, please. Drums join in and we are off!

18 – Brass states the melody. Be sure the trombones do not get heavy. Let the trumpets do the lifting. Staccato and ghosted notes are very important in this melody. Yes, it is forte, but with unisons, light and flowing will carry the day.

34 – This solo send-off is all about dynamics. Exaggeration will really help make things musically surprising. Roof top accents should be slightly thick, not too short. If desired, one could repeat from the end of bar 65 back to 34 for an additional solo.

66 – This section pulls the drums and bass out and lets the saxes play rhythm section. Playing on top of the beat will keep it from dragging. If guitar does not solo here, they should lay out for the entire section and not comp chords either.

82 – Rhythm section and backgrounds come in as we build to a big section at 94. No one should hold back here, though balance does need to be maintained. In bars 100-103 the rhythm section should decrecendo to almost nothing. This makes 104 a huge surprise.

104 – This starts the same as 34 and then continues with more full-ensemble. Dynamics and articulations are critical. Watch the full band dynamic changes at 120 and then again at 124. Last two bars should be big. Roof top accents are thick and, though not dragging, the figures should lay back. Enjoy!!!
