PROGRAM NOTE

The composer writes, “Living in a diverse and vibrant part of the country, I am regularly intrigued and inspired by people from countries around the world. I am always interested in trying new foods and experiencing cultures. During the most recent FIFA World Cup, this multiculturalism was celebrated in my community as well as many others. A walk downtown was enhanced by the signage, jerseys, and conversation of those in support of their homeland (or adopted homeland) while a sense of pride permeated the atmosphere.”

Espíritu (the Spanish word for Spirit) was written with this lively and powerful display of “home” in mind. Musical elements from all of the world’s continents permeate while leaning on a Latin rhythmic vocabulary. Melodic details from the Middle East, harmonic textures from Europe and aspects of song form from African cultures are undertones to this spirited fusion of musical styles.

NOTES TO CONDUCTOR

The opening rhythmic figure played by brass (and later by other sections) must be detached and crisp while packing a punch. Make sure players find a balance between the percussive quality of the attack and appropriate note length.

Woodwinds should strive for a “weaving” of melodic material by bringing their moving lines out during the adagio section. Players should be sensitive as to when they have the melody and when they don’t so this effect is fully realized.

Percussionists will find themselves rather busy throughout. Impress upon them the importance of the accented figures and recommended appropriate dynamic tweaks as needed based on the given instrumentation.
