PROGRAM NOTE

The composer writes, "As I lay on the beach in the first morning of a June vacation on Melbourne Beach (FL), I saw a Loggerhead sea turtle slowly make her way down the beach to the water. Ordinarily these turtles return to the beach where they were born and lay their eggs at night. This particular turtle must have fallen asleep after her hard work, so I had the rare opportunity to see her in the daylight.

Her movement on the beach was slow and arduous. One flipper would push her up and forward, then she would return to the ground and start with the other flipper. However, in contrast, she was the epitome of effortless grace once she reached the water and swam off in a flash. Mama Sea Turtle in its entirety is a reflection on my experience with the beautiful sea turtle."

NOTES TO CONDUCTOR

Please share with the band my observations of the sea turtle's movements and how they impacted the composition. The rhythm of the slow and arduous movement on the beach is depicted in the dotted half note to quarter note rhythms in measures 5-27. Measure 28-44 depicts her effortless grace once she reached the water and swam off in a flash.

Please pay close attention to the execution of the slurs and long phrases, so that the graceful lift of the music is uninterrupted.

Ascending lines such as the one at m. 28 in the trumpets should be supported with air right over the top of the phrase.

The measures leading to the key change should grow in dynamics and intensity, and measure 98 to the end should fade away like a fond memory.

Depending on the level of the ensemble, this piece could be effectively conducted in one.
