PROGRAM NOTE

Ah, the beautiful and warm shimmer of starlight. It mesmerizes and hypnotizes; it is gleaming and brilliant. The clear night sky is a dark curtain filled with innumerable glowing pin holes that have shimmered for countless millennia and have journeyed from unimaginable distances.

NOTES TO CONDUCTOR

Check the marked tempo but feel free to be expressive with time throughout. Take advantage of the ritardando at each occurrence.

The band's focus on phrasing will help to foster the development of a more expressive and intentional way of interpreting the notation on the page.

Encourage your young musicians to use a well-supported, consistent air stream combined with a stable and comfortable embouchure to produce a more characteristic sound on their instruments.

Exaggerate the dynamics and articulations to make the music more interesting and emotional.

As the orchestration changes with the addition and subtraction of instruments, be sure to balance the sound of all parts to the lowest instruments.

Have the suspended cymbal crescendo and then release as the gong attacks. Be sure your percussionists use a metal object to scrape the cymbals (triangle beater, coin, key, etc.) and that they scrape the suspended cymbal and the gong at the same time to give this effect more presence.

Good luck to you and your students in finding their expressive voice with Shimmering Stars.
