PROGRAM NOTE

The composer writes, "Growing up in rural northeastern Ohio, seasonal wintry surroundings have always been a part of my life. While frequent blizzard activity certainly presents its share of challenges, there's an inherent beauty to seeing familiar landscapes transformed into glistening white lands of adventure. In writing Storm Flight, I wanted to combine this beautiful imagery with a soaring melody suggestive of flight. Thus, creating a juxtaposition between more staccato snowfall figures and the listener's point of view as they're carried aloft by the melody. With the constant shifting and buffeting winds of the storm, the main tune is equally deconstructed and fragmented until it emerges intact, riding high over the turbulent skies."

NOTES TO CONDUCTOR

The most important element in performing this piece is to effectively balance the staccato dynamic swells with the legato main theme.

While the melody should always be played with a natural expressive quality, don't allow it to follow the two-bar dynamic curve phrasing of the other parts unless otherwise marked. The intention is to keep it fully independent until the other figures start to affect and fragment it in the middle section.

Most importantly, just enjoy playing the emotion and dramatic arc of the piece to maximum effect!
