About the Composer

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky (1840–1893) was a Russian composer of the Romantic era whose compositions remain popular to this day. Among his most popular works are three ballets, Swan Lake, Sleeping Beauty, and The Nutcracker; six symphonies, eleven operas, the tone poems Romeo and Juliet Fantasy Overture, Marche Slave, Capriccio Italien, and 1812 Overture, a concerto for violin, and two concertos for piano.

Tchaikovsky's music was the first by a Russian composer to achieve international recognition. Later in his career, Tchaikovsky made appearances around the globe as a guest conductor, including the 1891 inaugural concert of Carnegie Hall in New York City. In the late 1880s, he was awarded a lifetime pension by Emperor Alexander III of Russia. But, Tchaikovsky battled many personal crises and depression throughout his career, despite his popular successes.

Nine days after he conducted the premiere of his Sixth Symphony, "the Pathétique," Tchaikovsky died. The circumstances of his death are shrouded in ambiguity. The official report states that he contracted cholera from drinking contaminated river water. However, at this time in St. Petersburg, a death from cholera was practically unheard of for someone Tchaikovsky's wealth. For this reason, many people, including members of his family, believe that his death is the result of suicide related to the depression he battled during his life.

About the Composition

Tchaikovsky's "1812" Ouverture Solennelle [Solemn Overture] is perhaps his most famous composition, and certainly it brought him great success and wealth. Written over the course of six weeks in the fall of 1880, the music fairly accurately depicts Napoleon Bonaparte's invasion of Russia during the War of 1812. Tchaikovsky uses popular French and Russian anthems to represent each side. As one side gains ground in the battle, the representative music takes over.

Napoleon's French army is represented by The Marseillaise, appearing in measure 38 of this arrangement.

Authorized for distribution or display in the classroom.

Russia is represented by God Save the Tsar, appearing in measure 90 of this arrangement.

This excerpt © 2015 Kjos Music Press.

The work was conducted by Tchaikovsky himself at the Carnegie Hall inaugural concert in December 1891. The Russian premier took place in Moscow on August 20th, 1882, at a consecration of a church commemorating the 70th anniversary of the battle.

About the Arrangement

This arrangement was written so that it may be used in a variety of different performance situations. The grade 3 Advanced Band (WB466) version of this arrangement is complete and may be used independently of the other versions. The grade 2 Intermediate Band (WB466M) and grade 1 Beginning Band (WB466E) versions are intended for use in a mass band performance with the advanced band version. All three versions, although different, are coordinated to allow players in the respective bands to perform at their own technical and musical levels.

When used in a mass band setting, please use the following plot:

Measures 1–13 Beginning Band Only

Measures 14–16 Beginning and Intermediate Bands (the Beginning Band stops on the downbeat of 16)

Measures 16–33 Intermediate Band Only

Measures 34–36 Intermediate and Advanced Bands (the Intermediate Band stops on the downbeat of 36)

Measures 36–64 Advanced Band Only

Measures 64 (pick-up to 65)–end Mass Band together

When performing as a mass band, care should be taken to join the sections that each band plays. Instruct the trumpets, horns, trombones, and baritones of the Advanced Band to leave out the downbeat of measure 34.

To enhance the audience's experience, consider placing multiple Bass Drums ("cannons") and Chimes around the audience if performers and instruments are available.

Correlation with TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE™

Highlights from 1812 Overture correlates with Tradition of Excellence Book 3, page 30. While it can stand alone as a grade 3 composition, supplemental parts are available for grade 1 and grade 2 bands to join in a mass band setting.

- The grade 1 parts (available separately in edition WB466E) correlate with Tradition of Excellence Book 1, page 33.
- The grade 2 parts (available separately in edition WB466M) correlate with Tradition of Excellence Book 2, page 34.

New terms to introduce:

- norm. (normale). Play your instrument in the normal fashion. Used in Bass Drum to cancel the "cannon" indication.
- marc. (marcato). Play each note with a strong attack.

Teaching objective:

Given the use of the French and Russian anthems, engage the students in a discussion regarding who they think won the battle. Have them provide examples in the music to support their argument.

Kjos Music's Guide to © Copyright

Composers rely on the income that their compositions generate, and it is the job of the copyright holder to protect the work from infringement. Copyright laws can be pretty tricky to navigate, so here are a few helpful tips to guide you through the process.

Adjudicator Copies

During contest and festival season, the majority of the inquiries we receive concern making photocopies of scores to meet specific requirements for the judges at a festival.

If you're performing a concert selection out of one of our method books (Tradition of Excellence, String Basics: Steps to Success, First Place for Jazz, among others), permission may already be given to make the necessary photocopies for judges at these festivals. Please refer to the notices printed in the teacher score on the specific piece.

If a student is performing a solo from one of the method books listed above, permission is already given. In addition, a photocopy may be given to the accompanist.

Extra scores for our band and string repertoire (Beginning BandWorks, BandWorks, Conservatory Editions, StringTracks, and Steps to Successful Literature, among others) are available for purchase from your favorite music dealer. If you're performing a work from a series that's not listed above, please contact us for permission.

Making an Audio or Video Recording

A license is required any time you make an audio or video recording of a copyrighted work. Audio recordings are compulsory, meaning, we can't deny your request; you just need to apply for the Mechanical License and pay the royalty. The royalty rate is set by the Library of Congress. For current rates, please visit www.copyright.gov.

The license to make a video of a performance, known as a Synchronization License, is not compulsory. Permission must be obtained from the copyright holder before distributing any copies, regardless if they are being sold or given away for free.

Arranging for Marching Band or Another Ensemble

We're pleased to grant licenses to make a marching band (or other) arrangement of one of our concert works. However, permission is required before work can begin, and there are a few works whose composers have indicated that they do not want their compositions to be altered. Please contact us to make sure the piece you're interested in is available for licensing.

If you're planning to play the original piece without any alterations or additions, then a license isn't needed. However, for example, if you're rewriting the brass parts for marching instruments (mellophones, bugles), or adding marching percussion, or making cuts, adding repeats, or creating a medley with another composition, a license is required.

What If I Want To ... ?

If you'd like to use a composition in any other way, please contact us and we would be glad to advise you.

Contest and festival season is a busy time for our Copyright Office. Please contact us at least three weeks before your concert date so that we may help you in time. Please visit www.kjos.com and click on the Licensing tab to find out more information or to submit a license request.

We're so pleased that you've chosen to perform one of our pieces! We appreciate your support and we want to make the licensing process as easy as possible for you.
