About the Composer

Carlos Kemp Jr., also known as CJ Kemp (1999, Greensboro, NC) is an American composer, arranger, and music educator. He currently lives in Starkville, Mississippi, where he graduated from Starkville High School. He received his Bachelor's Degree in Music Education from Mississippi State University. Kemp's career in composition began during his sophomore year of college as a percussionist (2018) when his duet for marimba and clarinet, Canción de cuna, won the annual composition competition hosted by the MSU Percussion Studio. Since then, his works for solo percussion, percussion ensemble, woodwind quintet, and concert band have been recorded and performed by several groups within the state, including the Mississippi State Symphonic Band and the Mississippi All-State Lion's Band. He is currently an assistant band director at his alma mater, Starkville High School, where he continues to teach, arrange, and compose.

About the Composition

The Count of Monte Cristo is a popular adventure novel written by the prolific French author Alexander Dumas, who is also best known for his most famous work The Three Musketeers. The Count of Monte Cristo outlines the life of Edmond Dantes, a sailor who lost his soon-to-be-wife, his career as a sailor-turned-captain, and his freedom when a group of ambitious men conspired to have him imprisoned for thirteen years in the Château d'If under false allegations of Bonapartism (supporting the deposed ruler Napoleon Bonaparte and the authoritarian government associated with him). During those years in prison, Edmond befriended an Italian scholar and priest named Faria, who taught him various languages, history, culture, mathematics, science, chemistry, and medicine. As disease brings Faria close to death, he gives Edmond the location of a treasure that was given to him by a wealthy prince. The location of this treasure was the isle of Monte Cristo. After Edmond escapes prison, he finds the island, claims the treasure (worth billions), and grants himself the title of count—The Count of Monte Cristo. After thirteen years of imprisonment, Edmond uses his newfound knowledge and wealth to craft a sophisticated (and at times, convoluted) plot to bring his conspirators to justice.

Throughout the novel, there is an atmosphere of mystery surrounding the Count of Monte Cristo. “Where is he from? Where did his wealth come from? What family does he belong to?” The music written to portray this character is meant to capture the essence of Edmond’s newly adopted aura: a cool headed and charismatic billionaire on the outside who burns with vengeance and hatred on the inside. The recurring four-note motif found throughout this piece is meant to correlate with the four-syllable name of Monte Cristo. When performing this piece, there should be an air of swagger and a bit of pomposness, for this is the only way I would imagine how The Count of Monte Cristo would stage his entrance at any event he attends.

—CJ Kemp

Kjos Music's Guide to © Copyright

Composers rely on the income that their compositions generate, and it is the job of the copyright holder to protect the work from infringement. Copyright laws can be pretty tricky to navigate, so here are a few helpful tips to guide you through the process.

Adjudicator Copies

During contest and festival season, the majority of the inquiries we receive concern making photocopies of scores to meet specific requirements for the judges at a festival.

If you're performing a concert selection out of one of our method books (Tradition of Excellence, String Basics: Steps to Success, First Place for Jazz, among others), permission may already be given to make the necessary photocopies for judges at these festivals. Please refer to the notices printed in the teacher score on the specific piece.

If a student is performing a solo from one of the method books listed above, permission is already given. In addition, a photocopy may be given to the accompanist.

Extra scores for our band and string repertoire (Beginning BandWorks, BandWorks, Conservatory Editions, StringTracks, and Steps to Successful Literature, among others) are available for purchase from your favorite music dealer. If you're performing a work from a series that's not listed above, please contact us for permission.

Making an Audio or Video Recording

A license is required any time you make an audio or video recording of a copyrighted work. Audio recordings are compulsory, meaning we can't deny your request; you just need to apply for the Mechanical License and pay the royalty. The royalty rate is set by the Library of Congress. For current rates, please visit www.copyright.gov.

The license to make a video of a performance, known as a Synchronization License, is not compulsory. Permission must be obtained from the copyright holder before distributing any copies, regardless if they are being sold or given away for free.

Arranging for Marching Band or Another Ensemble

We're pleased to grant licenses to make a marching band (or other) arrangement of one of our concert works. However, permission is required before work can begin, and there are a few works whose composers have indicated that they do not want their compositions to be altered. Please contact us to make sure the piece you're interested in is available for licensing.

If you're planning to play the original piece without any alterations or additions, then a license isn't needed. However, for example, if you're rewriting the brass parts for marching instruments (mellophones, bugles), or adding marching percussion, or making cuts, adding repeats, or creating a medley with another composition, a license is required.

What If I Want To ... ?

If you'd like to use a composition in any other way, please contact us and we would be glad to advise you.

Contest and festival season is a busy time for our Copyright Office. Please contact us at least three weeks before your concert date so that we may help you in time. Please visit www.kjos.com and click on the Licensing tab to find out more information or to submit a license request.

We're so pleased that you've chosen to perform one of our pieces! We appreciate your support and we want to make the licensing process as easy as possible for you.
