TO THE DIRECTOR

This piece is a follow-up to "The Running Of The Bulls" by Doug Beach & George Shutack (item #42807).

The rubato Kenton-ish introduction begins with the trumpets announcing the majestic start of festivities at the bull ring. The bull fight begins by breaking into a burning samba groove at measure 11. The saxes make the first statement of the melody at measure 19, and crisp brass backgrounds punctuate the second statement of the melody at measure 35.

At measure 51, the harmonized trombones and bari sax begin a smooth-flowing bridge. When the trumpets take over the melody at measure 59, the bridge builds in volume and excitement to a peak at measure 65. Following the bridge, the saxophones pick up the melody again with the trumpets and trombones providing the punchy backgrounds.

The solo section is open at measure 83 with the horn backgrounds played on cue. Anyone may take a solo here, and chords are cued in all parts (sample solos are provided in all keys).

After the solo section, the drums have an 8 measure solo leading to a harmonized ensemble section at measure 99 without the piano and bass. This ensemble section should be played at a mezzo forte volume, and then increases to forte at measure 114. The re-introduction of the piano and bass at measure 115 will increase the intensity until the D.S. at measure 130.

The D.S. returns to the legato bridge section and then leads to the final statement of the melody at measure 67. The jump to the coda at measure 81 takes us immediately to a chordal pyramid built from the bottom up - first the low voices, then the trombones, the saxophones, and finally the trumpets crowning the top. The last 3 measures complete the festivities at "The Bull Ring."
