This original composition was commissioned by the iSing Silicon Valley Girlchoir, led by artistic directors and co-founders, Shane Troll and Jennah Delp-Somers.

During the intro and transitional "oo" sections, the cascading patterns of the independent parts create an interweaving sonic tapestry intended to represent gently falling snowflakes. If you don't have enough singers to split the sopranos and altos into four groups during the "oo" sections, have the altos sing both the Soprano 1 and Alto 1 parts, and omit the Alto 2 part because it is covered by the baritones down an octave.
