In Memoriam (Aspects Movement 2)

By Randall D. Standridge

Program Notes

In Memoriam is the second movement of Aspects, a multi-movement work commissioned by the American School Band Directors Association Education Foundation, and dedicated to Ross Leeper (IA)—founding member of the ASBDA Education Foundation and past president of the organization. Each movement in this suite explores different facets of Ross's musical personality and personal character, offering a reflection of the many ways he connected with music and the people around him.

After long days of rehearsals, he would often spend his evenings listening to professional recordings—not just to enjoy them, but to “reset” his ears and reconnect with the beauty of music well-performed. That practice spoke volumes about his humility, his devotion to the craft, and his constant pursuit of musical truth.

In Memoriam is my tribute to that part of Ross's heart. While none of their music is directly quoted, I drew inspiration from the choral and symphonic writing of John Rutter, Morten Lauridsen, and Leonard Bernstein—three composers who have deeply shaped my own musical life. The influence of their styles is present in the flowing lyricism, the rich harmonies, and the moments of unexpected, tender dissonance.

Originally titled “The Father,” the piece serves as a requiem for a beloved teacher and family member, encouraging the listener to reflect on life and with whom we choose to spend it.

The piece opens with a brief, subdued introduction before a flute solo gently presents the main theme—nostalgic and sweet. As the movement unfolds, it passes through phases of memory and emotion: sorrow, longing, even flashes of anger... but gradually moves toward peace, and, finally, acceptance. It is intended not only as a requiem for Ross Leeper but also for others we've lost—an invitation to reflect, remember, and release.

Suitable for high school and college ensembles, In Memoriam may be performed as a standalone Grade 3–3.5 lyrical work or as part of the complete Aspects suite.

Rehearsal suggestions

- The tempo of this work is critical to its character. Please note and honor the intended tempos.
- Dynamics should be noticeable and taken to extremes.
- Percussion should be on the higher end of dynamic balance. Do not hide them.
