Harvest Ritual

By Jeffrey Hart, Grade 3

Program Notes:

Harvest Ritual evokes a variety of pastoral scenes from the autumn season: the hard work and joy of the harvest, the rich colors of the falling leaves, and the full harvest moon. Advancing musicians will enjoy the vibrant rhythmic passages and memorable melodies while performing in a variety of key centers and moods!

About the music:

The main (A) theme of the piece, in E dorian, is introduced in 1 to 29. Note that the violas and cellos take the melody in 23, and should be brought to the foreground until the tutti decrescendo into the second theme.

The second (B) theme, which is lighter in nature, begins at 29 and is in G major. The second violins and violas add interesting passing tones and harmony starting at 37.

The main (A) theme returns at 47, but this time the second violins take the melody at 55, which is imitated by the violas and cellos (59) and then the basses (61), who are responsible for the transition into the third theme.

The third (C) theme begins at 68, is in B dorian, and is more expressive and connected in nature. The climax of this section occurs at 82, with a cascade of eighth notes passed from the upper strings downward, meant to depict falling leaves. The vertical harmony from 82 to 84 contains 6ths, 7ths, and 9ths, so it may be a good idea to isolate each of these six chords for balance and intonation.

Following the da capo, the coda (89) features layered fragments of the main (A) theme in the upper strings, presented over top of a brief reprise of the third (C) theme in the lower strings at 93. The closing material in E major (101) brings the piece to a triumphant close.

I hope you, your performers, and your audience enjoy this piece! - Jeff
