Arranger's Notes

This piece is taken from Franz Liszt's Christmas Tree Suite, a composition originally written for piano (or harmonium) and based on traditional Christmas carols. Here, the mysterious march based on Adeste Fideles is arranged for modern concert band. Keeping as many of the original articulations and expressive moments as possible will teach your musicians the valuable performance skills of listening and balance, while also introducing music from an important composer.

About the Arranger

Marsha Chusmir Shapiro earned bachelors and masters degrees in music education from the Florida State University where she studied composition and arranging with Charles Carter, and was music copyist for the FSU Marching Chiefs. She taught in public and private schools in Florida for forty years. Over this period of time Mrs. Shapiro worked with students in kindergarten through twelfth grade in band, orchestra, chorus, elementary music and musical theater. She also served as a mentor teacher for first year educators.

Mrs. Shapiro was the winner of the 1985 National School Orchestra Association Composition Competition, and the 2017 South Carolina Music Educators Association Grade 1 Sight Reading String Orchestra Composition Project. Shapiro is the author of numerous published orchestra, band, and elementary school musical compositions.

Mrs. Shapiro plays the French horn in the Daytona State College Symphonic Band and the Double bass in the Daytona Civic Orchestra.
